Resignations mark CIA house-cleaning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three more top officials in the CIA's counterintelligence division are stepping down in the midst of a reported policy dispute and allegations that the agency was involved in domestic spying.

Along with the resignation of counterintelligence chief James J. Angleton, the three departures leave vacant the top command of the division, which is known to have disagreed sharply with CIA Director William E. Colby over detente with the Soviet Union and Colby's public discussions of agency activities.

"Colby is using this to clean house," a well-informed source said of the departures.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Angleton, named in published reports as the overseer of the alleged domestic spy operation, once served on an interagency panel that reported directly to the White House on the threat of domestic demonstrations and disturbances.

The so-called Intelligence Evaluation Committee was headed by Robert C. Mardian, former assistant attorney general and now a defendant in the Watergate cover-up trial. The sources said the committee was assisted by a staff which included Richard Ober, who has been named as the man who ran the CIA's alleged domestic surveillance activities on a day-to-day basis.

Angleton has denied any involvement in illegal domestic spying. Ober, once an aide to Angleton and now on the National Security Council staff, has declined to comment.

In addition to Angleton, 57, whose resignation was requested by Colby 10 days ago, Raymond Rocca, 57, No. 2 man in the counterintelligence division, Newton S. Miler, 48, chief of operations, and William J. Hood, 54, executive officer, are also leaving the agency at the end of this month. Rocca, Miler and Hood confirmed Sunday they were stepping down, but declined to discuss their reasons.

The CIA's mandatory retirement age is 65 for most of its employes, but the agency requires those who have served overseas to retire at age 60 and urges others to do so as well.

One source said Miler had been Angleton's choice to ultimately succeed him as counterintelligence chief.

A source who worked with all four officials said their decisions were influenced in part by added benefits available to government employes who retire before the end of the year. However, the source said allegations of domestic surveillance and a long standing policy dispute with Colby were the major factors in the retirements of Rocca and Miler.

It was learned that Angleton's name was mentioned in one draft of the 50-page report on the alleged domestic spying that Colby has forwarded to President Ford. Details of the reference to Angleton could not be determined.

A well-informed source said the counterintelligence staff disagreed "totally" with Colby over interpretation of events in the Soviet bloc and was more suspicious than higher policymakers about the Soviet Union's expressed desire for detente.

Angleton and his staff were said by this source to believe that the agency was being destroyed by Colby's disclosures of agency activities, including CIA involvement in Chile and agency contacts with U.S. journalists abroad.

The source added that the counterintelligence staff objected in general to Colby's policy of increased public appearances, particularly his debate earlier this year with Daniel Ellsberg at a panel sponsored by a research group critical of the CIA.

Hood was identified by several sources as head of the agency's operations in New York City during the early 1970's. The New York Times reported in its Sunday edition that as many as 25 CIA agents spied on antiwar activists and other militants in New York during the late 1960's and early 1970's. Hood called the report "absolute nonsense."

On Sunday, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said on ABC News' "Issues and Answers" that he had learned from what he called very reliable sources of his own that the CIA did conduct surveillance, break-ins and wiretaps while spying on American citizens in this country.

Proxmire called for establishment of "an independent special prosecutor with subpoena powers who will prosecute every illegal action by CIA agents, past or present." He also said Congress should amend the act creating the CIA to clear up any ambiguity over the prohibition against domestic operations by the agency.

Time magazine reported this week that Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and three congressmen were targets of CIA surveillance during the 1960's.

A well-informed source told The Associated press he had searched CIA files in 1970 in response to a request from a special House subcommittee investigating possible impeachment proceedings against Douglas. But the source said he found only a newspaper clipping mentioning Douglas as a director of a foundation which had connections with the CIA in the Dominican Republic and a prospectus from the foundation in which Douglas was again identified as a director.

As for the late Sen. Edward Long of Missouri, Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., and former Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher of New Jersey, also named by Time as targets of CIA spying, the source said, "We wouldn't have the slightest interest." Pepper said that Colby had called him Sunday to assure him that the CIA was not keeping a file on him.

Tax cut proposal pondered by Ford

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford has been urged by some of his economic advisers to push for a tax cut to bolster the faltering economy.

Ford also was reported ready to abandon his proposed income tax surcharge, a measure he urged earlier this year when he declared inflation to be public enemy No. 1.

However, the deepening recession reportedly has led some White House economic advisers to push for a tax cut. That advice was said to have been given to Ford over the weekend when he met with his economic advisers.

There was no indication whether Ford will propose a tax cut. Ford has sworn his advisers to secrecy, and press Secretary Ron Nessen has said that Ford will not announce any new programs until his State of the Union address sometime after the new Congress convenes on Jan. 14. But Nessen said Ford plans "fundamental changes" in the management of the nation's economy.

The President's reappraisal of the income tax surcharge was widely predicted when it became clear that the surcharge had very little support in Congress, even among lawmakers from Ford's own party.

As Ford continues his working vacation here, he is facing decisions on 122 bills passed by Congress. He must act by midnight tonight on a controversial measure to control strip mining.

Ford has promised to veto the bill on the grounds that it would discourage coal production and add to inflationary pressures.

Nessen has said Ford has but two options on strip mining: to sign a formal veto message or simply let the legislation die without his signature. In recent days, however, some businessmen who presumably would be adversely affected by the bill have urged Ford to change his mind and sign it lest the new Congress vote a tougher measure.

Now in the homeward-bound stretch of his work-and-ski vacation that began Dec. 22, Ford sandwiched about two hours of skiing between work sessions at his snow-covered ski chalet Sunday.

He has been on the slopes each day here except Friday when he held a day-long conference with energy policy advisers.

Two defendants deny guilt at arraignment

Two defendants indicted by the final session of the 1974 Fayette County grand jury appeared before Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman Monday and entered pleas of not guilty to charges.

Phillip K. Moore, 323 N. Hinde St., who was represented by Robert Simpson, entered the innocent plea to a charge of malicious vandalism in connection with the destruction of property at Miami Trace High School following the Miami Trace-Washington C.H. football game in November. Moore was placed on his own recognizance by Judge Coffman Monday.

Pleading not guilty to three counts of possessing stolen property was Charles R. McLean, 20, Meneca, Pa., who was arrested by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies Nov. 16.

McLean was charged with having in his possession a stolen automobile and two stolen credit cards. He wss represented by Robert Simpson. A request to reduce a $5,000 bond on McLean was denied by Judge coffman.

Arraignment for Harold E. Smith, 21, of 111 Water St., was continued one week in order to obtain court appointed counsel. Smith was indicted on counts of grand theft and robbery and Judge Coffman continued bond at $10,000.

He was extradited from Clarksville, Tenn., Dec. 6 by Washington C.H. police officers and charged in connection with the mugging of a Washington C.H. man last May. The man was allegedly lured by a woman to the vicinity of Washington Junior High School where she, Smith and two other men beat and robbed him. The other three persons pleaded guilty to the charges earlier this year.

James H. Burba Jr., 40, Hillsboro, was placed on two years probation Dec. 24, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a bogus check in the amount of $580, cashed at the Washington C.H. Wrecking Co.

One other indictment concerned the forgery of a $98 check but the person has yet to be arrested by local officials in connection with the charge.

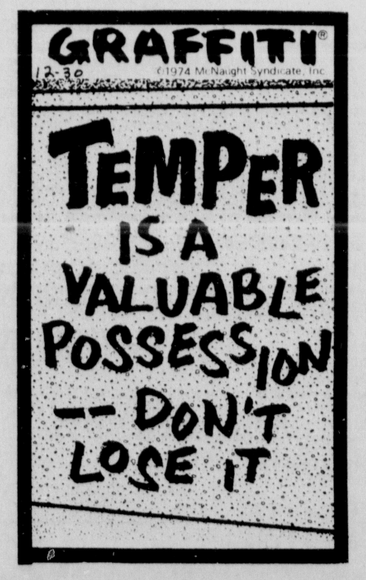
Judge Coffman sentenced a Washington C.H. man to the Ohio State Reformatory in Mansfield Monday to serve the remainder of a one to 20 year sentence on charges of shooting with intent to kill and auto larceny in November, 1972.

Ronald F. Frazier, who had been returned from the Lima State Hospital following observation and evaluation since March, 1973, was represented by Walter Seifried.

Kissinger most admired

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger heads the Gallup Poll's list of men most admired by Americans for the second straight year.

Second in the poll this year was the Rev. Billy Graham, followed by President Ford. It was the fifth consecutive year that the Rev. Mr. Graham was runnerup, and Ford took the post held last year by his predecessor, former President Richard M. Nixon. It was the fifth time in the poll's 28-year history that an incumbent president failed to place first.



Variety of gifts awaiting first 1975 baby, parents

A bundle of gifts rivaling the assortment in Santa's pack awaits the first baby born to Fayette County parents in 1975.

Twelve merchants will greet the arrival of the new Fayette County citizen with practical tokens of welcome.

Some are for the baby to enjoy upon arrival at his new home; others will be more especially designed for the parents and all will be useful.

All babies born to Fayette County residents after the clock strikes midnight Tuesday, regardless of where they come into the world, are eligible.

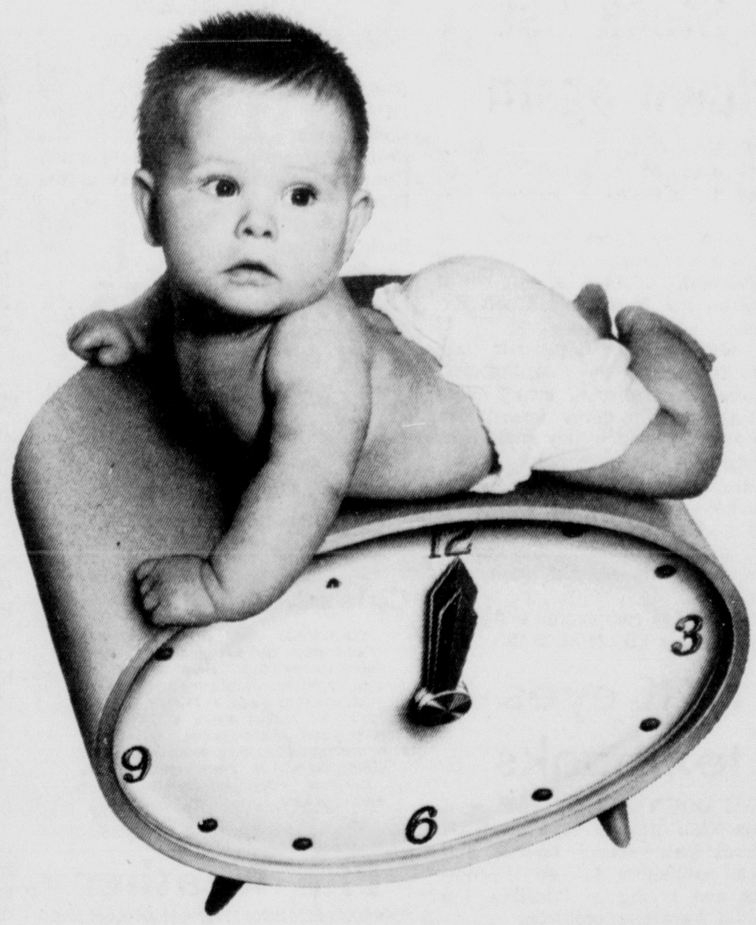
THE BIRTH must be recorded within 10 days at the Fayette County Health Department and a copy of the birth certificate must be made available to The Record-Herald.

It is important that the exact time of birth be noted, for just one minute could make the difference in awarding the gifts and honors.

The deadline for reporting the birth is midnight Friday, Jan. 10.

The merchants and gifts they have awaiting the first baby are:

A floral arrangement from Mari Lee Flowers; a baby blanket from Craig's Department Store; baby food from Hidy's Foods; a fork and spoon set from Boylan Jewelers; a blanket and bonnet from Risch's Drug Store; a free checking account for one year from the First National Bank in Washington C.H.; a baby walker from Buckeye Mart; a pair of shoes from Kaufman's Bargain Store; a six-piece step-up set of silver flatware from the C.A. Gossard Co.; a savings account and a $10 deposit from the Fayette County Bank; an 8x10 black and white portrait from Jennings Photography, and a six-month gift subscription from The Record-Herald.



Sirica charges coverup jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica is going to tell jurors in the Watergate cover-up trial that the pardon granted Richard M. Nixon should not be factor in their deliberations.

"Neither the pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon nor any other case or extraneous matters should have any effect on your deliberations or your verdict," Sirica said in the instructions he planned to read to the jury today.

After hearing the judge's instructions on the legal issues in the case, the nine women and three men who have listened to 11 weeks of arguments and testimony will begin the task of deciding the guilt or innocence of the five defendants.

The long trial was the climax of the scandal that forced Nixon to resign the presidency less than two years after he was reelected by one of the largest margins ever.

The grand jury that returned the cover-up indictment last March 1, also named Nixon, then still president, an unindicted co-conspirator.

The five defendants are former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, ex-White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee.

All were charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate breakin. All but Mardian were charged with obstruction of justice and Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman also were charged with lying to the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee.

In addition to telling the jurors not to be influenced by the Nixon pardon, Sirica said they should "not draw any inference against any party because a particular prospective witness may not have appeared."

Sirica urged the jurors to decide the case "solely on the evidence presented here in court."

The jury has heard testimony from more than 80 witnesses, about 30 of whom were called by the prosecutors. All five defendants testified.

But some of the most dramatic and damning words the jurors heard were from the White House tapes.

The jury listened to 31 tapes, most of which covered conversations involving Nixon and his top aides.

During their deliberations the jurors will be able to listen again to any of the tapes they already have heard.

The final week of the trial, interrupted by a two-day Christmas recess, was taken up by final arguments from prosecution and defense lawyers.

The prosecution summation took about six hours. The five defense lawyers spent a total of more than 14 hours.

Earthquake toll 4,700 in Pakistan

PATTAN, Pakistan (AP) — The earthquake that hit northern Pakistan during the weekend killed an estimated 4,700 persons and injured about 15,000 in nine villages, rescue officials said today. They said the final casualty toll could be even higher when reports arrive from isolated regions north of Pattan.

The villages were clustered about Pattan, nestled among the snow-capped Karakoram Mountains about 200 miles north of the Pakistani capital of Islamabad. The quake struck Saturday evening and tremors followed intermittently for the next 24 hours. First word of the disaster was brought out by runners.

The quake almost destroyed this village of 10,000, leaving hardly one house intact. Senior army officers taking part in rescue operations estimated 500 inhabitants of Pattan were dead and 2,000 injured.

Army rescue teams have been working around the clock since shortly after the quake struck, treating the injured, pulling bodies from the wreckage and mounting a helicopterborne mercy airlift.

Because of the widespread damage to houses many people have been sleeping in the open in temperatures that drop to near freezing at night Nearly every family has reported losing one or more relatives in the disaster.

Efforts to bring in more blankets and tents have been hampered because the Karakoram Highway, the country's main one which runs through the disaster-struck region, has been either severed or demolished along a 70-mile stretch.

Some of the seriously injured were flown to hospitals in Rawalpindi.

Quakes occurred Sunday northwest of Anchorage, Alaska; at Richmond, Calif., in the San Francisco Bay area, and in central Chile. There were no reports of casualties or serious damage.

Officials described the noontime Chilean earthquake as "very long and intense."

Two moderate earthquakes hit near Anchorage, Alaska — the first about the same time as the Chilian tremor and the second about five hours later. Both registered 4.8 on the Richter scale.

A quake struck the Richmond, Calif. area about 7½ hours earlier than the Chilean tremor, registering 3.5 on the Richter scale.

Richter scale measurements of the Chilean and Pakistani earthquakes were not available.

The Richter scale is a means of measuring a quake in which every number on the scale means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a magnitude of 7.5 is 10 times greater than one of 6.5.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906 registered 8.25.

U. N. chief fears war in spring

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says the chances of a new Middle East war will be "very real" unless there is a breakthrough toward an Arab-Israeli political settlement by spring.

By that time, he explained in a year-end interview, the mandates of the peacekeeping forces run out and their renewal will require the consent of Israel, Egypt and Syria.

"I think the decision of the parties concerned would then depend on the kind of progress which has been made between now and that time," Waldheim said.

The mandate for the U.N. Emergency Force separating Egyptian and Israeli troops in the Sinai ends on April 24. That of the U.N. Disengagement Observer Force between Syrian and Israeli troops is up on May 31.

On other subjects, Waldheim said he:

—Disagrees with the contention of the United States that the Asian, African and Communist members of the U.N. General Assembly exercised a "tyranny of the majority" in the session that has just ended.

—Does not expect a cutback in voluntary U.S. contributions to the world organization despite adverse congressional reaction to various Assembly votes.

—Believes the oil-price confrontation which has developed during the past year proves that cooperation is necessary between the producers of raw materials and the industrialized world.

Waldheim said on the basis of his recent visits to Syria, Israel and Egypt, he believes that all three countries want to negotiate a settlement. But they all emphasized that if a settlement is not reached soon, they are ready for war, he said.

The former Austrian foreign minister said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger "and other governments" are continuing a step-by-step policy, seeking a peace settlement.

He said resumption of the Geneva peace talks — which the Soviet government is urging — depends on how the step-bystep negotiations go along. A key issue in the Geneva talks will be whether to let the Palestine Liberation Organization participate, Waldheim said. Israel strongly opposes PLO participation.

Discussing the oil situation, Waldheim said the developing countries have shown they will no longer accept an "obsolete" economic order in which "onethird of humanity has everything and the other two-thirds are living in misery."

They must be given "reasonable prices for their raw materials," he went on, but "this should be done not through a confrontation but through a reasonable cooperation, taking into account also the justified interests of the industrialized world."

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined moderately today, fighting the pressure of yearend tax-selling.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.90 at 599.26, and losers virtually doubled the number of gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The NYSE ticker tape ran late repeatedly through the morning, and an extensive number of issues were traded as investors came down to the last two days in which they could take losses for 1974 tax purposes.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index fell .58 to 58.77.

Gold stocks were generally weak on the eve of the removal of the ban on private ownership of gold bullion by U.S. citizens.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index was off .24 at 35.12.

KKK eyes textbooks

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan officials says the KKK will investigate school boards and textbook publishers to see if communists are trying to "destroy the brains" of American children.

Attorney James R. Venable, imperial wizard of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said Sunday that a KKK delegation will go to Charleston, West Va., to begin its inquiry.

He said the Klan will hire attorneys to look into the corporate structure of textbook companies supplying the books which have provoked protests by many parents in West Virginia.

"In my opinion, it's communists and socialists who are trying to destroy the brains of our children," Venable said. "I've never seen such filth in high school textbooks."

Venable said klan representatives from Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Texas and Oklahoma voted unanimously Sunday to initiate the investigation. He said a KKK rally had been scheduled for Jan. 18 to protest the controversial books.

Sis won't yield farm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sister of actor Marlon Brando says she will not give up the Illinois farm land owned jointly with her brother despite his announcement that he will donate all of his United States land holdings to the American Indians.

Brando said last week that he would give up the farm, about 40 acres near Calabasas, Calif., a home in Los Angeles and an apartment complex in nearby Anaheim. His sister, Mrs. Richard Loving, said Sunday that she would not relinquish her part of the 40-acre farm in Mindelein, Ill., which she refers to as "the family homestead."

"We are not giving this land away. There is no question about it," Mrs. Loving said.

Brando has been active for several years in Indian causes and refused the Academy Award in 1972 to protest the portrayal of Indians in films.

Cooler air moved into Ohio today as northwest winds flowed over the state.

Temperatures this afternoon were forecast in the upper 30s and the 40s, compared with readings from 34 at Youngstown to 55 in the southeastern corner of the state Sunday.

Lows tonight will range from the 20s to low 30s.

Some breaks in the cloudy skies were expected over southern and western Ohio today, but cloudy skies and a chance of rain will return to southern counties by Tuesday afternoon as a low moves northward from the Gulf of Mexico.

Readings shortly before dawn today were mild under cloudy skies, ranging from the mid 30s northwest to near 50 in the southeast.

A chance of showers Wednesday, fair Thursday and Friday. Highs Wednesday in the 40s and lows in the 30s. Highs Thursday and Friday in the 30s and lows in the 20s.

King Faisal man of year

NEW YORK (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for 1974.

The magazine, which has been citing a Man of the Year annually since Charles Lindbergh was first so designated in 1927, said King Faisal "now holds more power than any other leader" to control the price of oil throughout the world.

"Both in his own right and as a symbol of the other newly powerful potentates of oil, Saudi Arabia's King Faisal is the Man of the Year," said Time's cover story for the Jan. 6 issue.

Water office firings eyed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor's office was expected to release findings today from an investigation which could result in the firing of six or seven employes of the Warren County Water Department, county prosecutor Morris Turkelson said.

Turkelson said department offices were closed Friday and the 17-member staff told not to report for work. Turkelson said the department's administrative offices would remain closed today.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Lela C. Thomas

SPRINGFIELD — Services for Mrs. Lela C. Thomas, 52, of Springfield, who died at 7:20 p.m. Friday in Mercy Medical Center, Springfield, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Richards Funeral Home, Springfield.

Born in Fayette County, Mrs. Thomas was a graduate of Washington High School and a retired employe of the Universal Cement Co., Fairborn. She had resided in Springfield for the past 23 years and was a member of the Central Methodist Church. Her husband, William, died in 1958.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Irene Giebelhaus, 828 Yeoman St., Washington C.H.; a sister, Mrs. Donnie Benson, of Xenia, and a step-sister, Mrs. Joan Lloyd, Fairborn.

The Rev. Herbert Massey will officiate at the services and burial will be in Ferncliff Cemetery, Springfield.

Contributions may be made to the cancer society.

MRS. ETHEL TOLBERT — Services for Mrs. Ethel Tolbert, 90, of Atlanta, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Richard McDowell officiating. Mrs. Tolbert, who had spent her entire life in the Atlanta community, died Thursday.

Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Roger Fox, Byron Stieff, Harold Waibel, Robert Steiff Jr., Steve Merritt and Frank Carter.

MRS. MILDRED O'BRIEN — Services for Mrs. Mildred O'Brien, 77, Reynoldsburg, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Ken Pickerill officiating. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was organist.

Mrs. O'Brien, former resident of Sabina, died Christmas day in Riverside Hospital, Columbus. Pallbearers for the burial in Sabina Cemetery were Homer Fannon, Donald Gray, Robert Wilson, John Young, Richard Neff and Jim Chance.

Gold prices top $200

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold rose to new records in Europe today and exceeded $200 an ounce in Paris on the eve of the expected American gold rush.

The opening price was $198 an ounce in London and Zurich, up $2.50 and $4.50 from the closing prices Friday.

In Paris, where the price is normally higher because of French exchange control regulations, the morning fixing price was $201.40. The previous record was $197.66 quoted on Dec.24, and Friday's closing price in the French capital was $197.61.

The increases reflected the belief of dealers that the price will soar past $200 on the London and Zurich exchanges also on Tuesday, when the U.S. goverment's ban on the purchase of gold by Americans will be lifted after 41 years.

Meanwhile, the dollar opened in Zurich at 2.53 Swiss francs, equaling the low set on Dec. 17; fell to 2.505 within 30 minutes and rallied slightly to 2.5125 an hour later. The volume of trading was reported below average.

Probe deaths at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton police said today they are holding a suspect in connection with the stabbing death of two women and the attempted drowning of one of the victim's children.

The women, Odessa Goodman, 22, and Jacqueline Otey, 27, both of Dayton, were found stabbed Sunday night, police said.

Authorities said the two boys, aged 7 and 4, apparently then were thrown in a concrete-lined culvert that runs into the Great Miami River.

Police said the older boy waded out of the two-foot deep water and summoned help. The younger child was found "huddled and crying" several feet downstream.

The children were treated for exposure and were being held in protective custody, police said.

Brezhnev cancels trip to Mideast

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass announced today that Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev's visit to Egypt, Syria and Iraq in January has been indefinitely postponed.

The announcement by the Soviet news agency gave no explanation. But informed Egyptian sources in Cairo said the postponement was due to continuing differences between the Soviet and Egyptian leaders over political and military questions.

"The new date of the visit, reciprocally acceptable to all parties, will be agreed upon later," Tass said.

The postponement was agreed on after Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders met for 35 minutes Sunday afternoon with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy and War Minister Abdel Ghany Gamasy, who made a hurried trip to Mosco Saturday.

Fahmy met today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko while Gamasy met with the Soviet defense minister, Marshal Andrei Grechko.

The sources in Cairo said that the Soviet and Egyptian governments were unable to agree on the best approach toward an Arab-Israeli settlement and on Egypt's military needs.

The postponement apparently signified a major setback to the Soviet government's campaign to regain its former influence on Egyptian policy and at the same time undercut the close, cooperative relationship that has developed between President Anwar Sadat and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Fahmy and Gamasy went to Moscow in response to an urgent invitation from Brezhnev delivered on Thursday.

The Russians were reported to have offered Egypt the latest model MIG jets, SAM antiaircraft missiles and other advanced military equipment if Sadat would welcome back the thousands of Soviet military advisers he expelled from Egypt in July 1972.

THE DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF OHIO FOR AN INCREASE IN ELECTRIC RATES

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 4909.19 of the Revised Code of Ohio, The Dayton Power and Light Company hereby gives notice that on May 9, 1974, it filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an Application for authority to modify and increase its rates and charges for electric service except as to consumers subject to Ordinance Rates in the process of elimination in the City of Troy, to make a revision to its rules and regulations for electric service and to withdraw certain rate schedules.

The substance of the Application is as follows:

FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

Present Fuel Adjustment Clause (as of May 9, 1974)

When the weighted average cost per one million BTU of fuel, consumed in the Company's electric generating facilities, during the calendar month immediately preceding the start of the billing month covered by the service bill decreases below or increases above 49.40¢ per one million BTU, there shall be a decrease or increase in the energy charges of .0103¢ per kilowatt-hour for each change in the cost of 1¢ per one million BTU, and proportionately for each fraction thereof.

The weighted average cost of fuel, as used above, shall be defined as the cost, including freight, of fuel on hand at the first of each month, plus the cost of fuel received during the month, divided by the total amount of fuel on hand and received.

Proposed Fuel Adjustment Clause

When the weighted average cost per one million Btu. of fuel, consumed in the Company's electric generating facilities during the calendar month immediately preceding the end of the billing month covered by the service bill decreases below or increases above 93.14¢ per one million Btu., there shall be a decrease or increase in the net energy charges of 0.010948¢ or a decrease or increase in the gross energy charges of 0.011495¢ per kilowatt-hour for each one cent (1¢) change in the cost per one million Btu., and proportionately for each fraction thereof.

The weighted average cost of fuel, as used above, shall be defined as the cost, including freight, of fuel on hand at the first of each month, plus the cost of fuel received during the month, divided by the total amount of fuel on hand and received.

The amount of the decrease or increase determined above shall be adjusted by the amount of any excise taxes saved or payable by the Company with respect to the amount of the decrease or increase so determined.

The consumer will be entitled to a prompt payment discount by payment of the net amount on or before 15 calendar days after rendition (mailing date) of the bill which reflects the application of this fuel adjustment clause, after which the gross amount shall be due and payable.

RESIDENCE RATES

It is proposed to eliminate the rate differential between consumers residing within and consumers residing outside of communities and to withdraw the Residence Rates now in the process of elimination which contain a separate Water Heating Service Rate with the result that all residential consumers would be served under a single rate.

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $2.10 net and $2.21 gross in the community rate and $2.50 net and $2.63 gross in the all other service area rate to $3.00 net and $3.15 gross for all residential consumers. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

RESIDENCE RATES IN PROCESS OF ELIMINATION

The following Residence Rates now in the process of elimination would be withdrawn:
Original Sheet No. 40
Original Sheet No. 41

These Rates provide for a separate Water Heating Service Rate which is applicable only to consumers who received service thereunder prior to October 26, 1973. Water heating consumers would be billed under the proposed Residence Rate applicable to all consumers.

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $2.50 net and $2.625 gross to $3.00 net and $3.15 gross for single phase service and from $5.00 net and $5.25 gross to $6.00 net and $6.30 gross for three phase service. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

The terms of Primary Voltage Service under the General Service Rate would be revised as follows in order to transfer Large Power Rate consumers with demands of less than 1,000 kva to the General Service Rate.

Present Provision

PRIMARY VOLTAGE SERVICE:

The above rates are based upon secondary voltage service (480 volts or less). When service is supplied to the Consumer and metered at a primary voltage (more than 480 volts), a discount of 2% of the total bill including fuel adjustment shall be allowed.

Proposed Provision

PRIMARY VOLTAGE SERVICE:

The above rates are based upon secondary voltage (480 volts or less) service and metering. When the service voltage and/or metering voltage is other than secondary (more than 480 volts), the following discounts will be applied to the total bill including fuel adjustment:

Service Voltage	Metering Voltage	Discount
Secondary	Primary	2%
Primary	Secondary	4%
Primary	Primary	6%

Service voltage is defined as the voltage existing at the point where the Company's ownership facilities ends and the Consumer's ownership of facilities begins. If more than one service voltage exists for a Consumer, the lowest such service voltage will be used in determining the above discounts.

It is further proposed to permit the fixing of the Billing Demand under the General Service Rate at 5 kw when the consumer's consumption does not exceed 1,500 kwh per month for three consecutive summer months.

LARGE POWER RATE

The present Rate is available to consumers having a monthly maximum demand of at least 500 kva, whereas the proposed rate would be available to consumers whose monthly maximum demand has exceeded 1,000 kva in each of the previous twelve (12) months. Those consumers with less than 1,000 kva who qualify for the present Rate would be transferred to the General Service Rate.

Present Rate

DEMAND CHARGE
First 500 kva or less of Billing Demand, $600.00
All over 500 kva of Billing Demand, $1.20 per kva per month

ENERGY CHARGE
First 125,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0128 per kwh
Next 375,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0127 per kwh
Next 1,000,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0126 per kwh
Next 2,000,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0123 per kwh
All over 3,500,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0108 per kwh

ENERGY CHARGE-LOAD FACTOR PROVISION
All energy in excess of 300 times the kva of Billing Demand, $0.0100 per kwh

SECONDARY VOLTAGE SERVICE:

When service is supplied and metered at secondary voltage (480 volts or less), the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be increased by six percent (6%).

When Consumer is metered at primary voltage (more than 480 volts but less than 69,000 volts), but Company furnishes and maintains equipment necessary for the Consumer to receive and utilize the energy at secondary voltage (480 volts or less), the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be increased by four percent (4%).

When Consumer furnishes and maintains equipment necessary to receive and utilize the energy at primary voltage (more than 480 volts but less than 69,000 volts) but such energy is metered on the secondary side (480 volts or less) of the Consumer's equipment, the total bill, including fuel adjustment will be increased by two percent (2%)

TRANSMISSION VOLTAGE SERVICE:

When service is supplied and metered at transmission voltage (69,000 volts or higher), the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be discounted by six percent (6%).

When service is supplied at transmission voltage (69,000 volts or higher) but such energy is metered on the low side (more than 480 volts but less than 69,000 volts) of the Consumer's equipment, the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be discounted by four percent (4%).

Proposed Rate

	DEMAND CHARGE	Net	Gross
First	1,000 kva or less of Billing Demand	$1,300.00	$1,365.00
All over	1,000 kva of Billing Demand, per kva per month	1.30	1.365
	ENERGY CHARGE
First	125,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	$0.02148	$0.0225540
Next	1,375,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	0.01974	0.0207270
Next	2,000,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	0.01885	0.0197925
All over	3,500,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	0.01880	0.0197400
	ENERGY CHARGE-LOAD FACTOR PROVISION
All energy in excess of 300 times the kva Billing Demand, per kwh		$0.01590	$0.0166950

PROMPT PAYMENT DISCOUNT

The Consumer will be entitled to a prompt payment discount by payment of the net amount on or before 15 calendar days after rendition (mailing date) of bill, after which the gross amount shall be due and payable.

SECONDARY OR TRANSMISSION VOLTAGE SERVICE:

The above rates are based upon primary voltage (more than 480 volts, but less than 69,000 volts) service and metering. When the service voltage and/or metering voltage is at secondary voltage (480 volts or less) or at transmission voltage (69,000 volts or more), the following adjustments will be applied to the total bill including fuel adjusment:

Service Voltage	Metering Voltage	Adjustment
Secondary	Secondary	+6%
Secondary	Primary	+4%
Primary	Secondary	+2%
Transmission	Primary	−4%
Transmission	Transmission	−6%

Service voltage is defined as the voltage existing at the point where the Company's ownership of facilities ends and the Consumer's ownership of facilities begins. If more than one service voltage exists for a Consumer, the lowest such service voltage will be used in determining the above discounts.

The minimum monthly charge would be increased from $600.00 to $1,300.00 net and $1,365.00 gross to correspond to the Demand Charge for the first 1,000 kva of Billing Demand and would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

ELECTRIC MELTING FURNACE RATE

It is proposed that this rate be withdrawn and that the consumers previously served thereunder be transferred to the General Service Rate.

STREET RAILWAY RATE

Present Rate

All kilowatt-hours per month; $0.021 net per kwh.

Proposed Rate		Net	Gross
All kilowatt-hours per month, kwh		$0.030	$0.0315

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $1,200.00 to $1,800.00 net and $1,890.00 gross. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

It is proposed to add the Prompt Payment Discount provision to this Rate and to provide for metering on an alternating current basis rather than a direct current basis.

MUNICIPAL, EDUCATIONAL AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS RATE

Present Rate

$0.04 per kilowatt-hour per month.

Proposed Rate		Net	Gross
All kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh		$0.055	$0.05775

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $2.10 to $5.50 net and $5.78 gross. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause

It is proposed to add the Prompt Payment Discount provision to this Rate.

SCHOOL RATE

It is proposed that this Rate be limited to consumers being served thereunder at the time of the Order of the Commission in this matter and that service for new consumers be rendered under the General Service Rate. In addition it is proposed to increase the rate levels and add the Prompt Payment Discount provision.

Present Rate

PRIVATE OUTDOOR LIGHTING SERVICE RATE

Present Rate

For each lamp with luminaire, controlled automatically, and where needed an upsweep arm not over six (6) feet in length, where service is supplied from existing facilities of the Company:

2,500 Lumen (Nominal) Incandescent	$3.35 per month
7,000 Lumen (Nominal) Fluorescent	$4.00 per month
7,000 Lumen (Nominal) Mercury	$3.50 per month
21,000 Lumen (Nominal) Mercury	$7.00 per month
4,000 Lumen (Nominal) Post Top Mercury including post for twelve (12) foot mounting height (Underground Only)	$4.25 per month

Additional poles shall be supplied for an additional charge of 75¢ per month for each standard wood pole or $2.00 per month for each ornamental pole. These poles shall be installed only on private property.

AERIAL SERVICE:

Secondary aerial spans shall be supplied, where necessary, for an additional charge of 25¢ per month per span.

UNDERGROUND SERVICE:

Underground service will be provided, where requested, for an additional charge of 25¢ per month per 100 trench feet or fraction thereof. The consumer shall provide all trenching and backfilling to accommodate the Company's underground conductors according to Company specifications.

PAYMENT:

Bills for such service shall be due and payable within 15 calendar days after rendition (mailing date) of bill. Billing for such service is to be made a part of bill for other electric service.

Proposed Rate

For each lamp with luminaire, controlled automatically, and where needed an upsweep arm not over six (6) feet in length, where service is supplied from existing facilities of the Company:

	Net	Gross
2,500 Lumen (Nominal) Incandescent, per month	$3.70	$3.8850

Additional poles shall be supplied for an additional charge of 75¢ net or 78.75¢ gross per month for each standard wood pole or $2.00 net or $2.10 gross per month for each ornamental pole. These poles shall be installed only on private property.

AERIAL SERVICE:

Secondary aerial spans shall be supplied, where necessary, for an additional charge of 25¢ net or 26.25¢ gross per month per span.

UNDERGROUND SERVICE:

Underground service will be provided, where requested, for an additional charge of 25¢ net or 26.25¢ gross per month per 100 trench feet or fraction thereof. The Consumer shall provide all trenching and backfilling to accommodate the Company's underground conductors according to Company specifications.

PROMPT PAYMENT DISCOUNT:

The Consumer will be entitled to a prompt payment discount by payment of the net amount on or before 15 calendar days after rendition (mailing date) of bill, after which the gross amount shall be due and payable.

DIRECT CURRENT RATE

Direct current service is now supplied to certain consumers in limited portions of the City of Dayton and the City of Piqua. The service has not been available to new consumers for many years. The service is now rendered under various rate schedules. It is proposed to establish a separate rate in the process of elimination for direct current service.

Proposed Rate

THIS RATE IS IN PROCESS OF ELIMINATION AND IS WITHDRAWN EXCEPT FOR THE PRESENT INSTALLATIONS OF CONSUMERS WHO RECEIVED SERVICE HEREUNDER PRIOR TO MAY 29, 1946 AND WILL NOT BE APPLICABLE TO ADDITIONAL CONSUMERS.

APPLICABLE:

This rate is available for direct current usages within limited portions of the City of Dayton and the City of Piqua, only.

Knowles inquest hit by attorney

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A coroner's inquest into the death of accused mass slayer Paul John Knowles begins today despite a planned boycott by his former defense attorneys.

"It is a foregone conclusion as to what the verdict will be," said Ellis Rubin of Miami in announcing he and Sheldon Yavitz, also of Miami, would skip the inquest. He said they had been refused the right to participate in the proceedings.

Knowles was shot to death by Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent Ron Angel in Douglas County Sheriff Earl Lee's car Dec. 18 when Knowles broke free from one of his handcuffs and reached for Lee's gun, the GBI has said.

"On the day of the shooting," Rubin said, "the crime lab chemist who performed the autopsy pronounced a verdict of justifiable homicide even though he had no authority to do so. Then, this week the Georgia Bureau of Investigation publicly cleared its agent of any wrongdoing.

Rubin said this "prior pressure" on Douglas County Coroner Paul Cochran of Douglasville "will weigh heavily in the findings."

"This will not be a hearing to ascertain the facts. It will be a hearing to clear Sheriff Lee and Agent Angel," Rubin said in a telephone interview from Miami.

Cochran declined to comment on Rubin's claim of "prior pressure."

Rubin said he may ask the Justice Department to probe Knowles's death for possible civil rights violations. "There's a lot of legal areas that we are looking into," he said.

Rubin now represents Knowles's estate, while Yavitz is executor of the ex-convict's will and counsel for his family.

At the time of his death, Knowles had been charged with seven slayings and was wanted for questioning in numerous others. He boasted of killing 35 persons and allegedly narrated 16 slayings on tape recordings he left with Yavitz.

Paul Dixon rites slated for Tuesday

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Paul Dixon, whose daytime audience participation show tickled the funnybone of Midwest housewives for nearly two decades, will be buried Tuesday. He died Saturday at age 56.

Dixon, who said his show was geared toward making a heroine of housewife, was hospitalized after his Dec. 18 show. He underwent surgery later that night for a ruptured artery in his heart.

He appeared to be recovering when the repaired artery burst Saturday, hours after he was transferred to another hospital.

Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at St. Peter in Chains Cathedral.

Known as "Paul Baby" and "The Mayor of Kneesville," Dixon delighted his audiences with devilish stunts. He featured a garter-fitting ceremony—and openly scanned the legs in his audience with binoculars for the best candidate.

Dixon rose from a teen-aged disc jockey in Des Moines, Iowa to host of a popular Midwest program which was recently nationally syndicated.

"The Paul Dixon Show" would have marked its 20th anniversary in March. He has been with WLW television in Cincinnati for the past 10 years. The 90-minute show was also carried live in Columbus, Indianapolis and Dayton.

Avco Broadcasting Co. said a tribute would be shown during today's time slot.

Avco officials said they would decide today whether the show would continue with a new host.

Dixon came to Cincinnati in the mid-40s from Chicago. He built a reputation as a newsman and later became a disc jockey. One national magazine listed him among the nation's top 10 disc jockeys in 1951.

The man who hired him, Mort Watters of WCPO radio, praised him as "one of the greatest ad lib entertainers of all time."

He grew up in Albia, Iowa, and attended Drake University.

He is survived by his wife Marge and a daughter, Pam. His son, Greg, was killed in a 1970 traffic accident.

Boys charged in car theft

Two Washington C.H. youths, ages 16 and 17, were arrested by Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and Sgt. John Emrick following an investigation of a stolen motor vehicle.

The auto, stolen from Dale K. Phillips at 3 a.m. Sunday, while it was parked in front of his Hillsboro residence, was recovered by Sgt. Emrick at 4:05 p.m. Sunday, in front of Anders Greenhouse, CCC Highway-E, apparently out of gas.

Sheriff Thompson reported the youths admitted to breaking and entering Washington Elementary School in Hillsboro that same night and stealing a small amount of change. The boys have been charged with auto theft and breaking and entering and are presently in custody at the Fayette County juvenile detention center.

It was also reported that one of the juveniles had been recently released from the Ohio Youth Commission.

Proposed contract rejected by locals

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A proposec contract with Thrif-T-Marts was rejected 130 to 80 Sunday by four locals of the Retail Clerks Union.

The locals represent employes of markets in Norwalk, Mount Vernon, Ashland, Galion, Crestline and Bucyrus.

The proposed two-year agreement called for a 10-cents an hour raise to a maximum of 35 cents an hour, a wage reopener clause for the second year and increases in health benefits, said Local 31 President James Barney.

Opinion And Comment

Onslaught on paperwork

The hearts of all who must wrestle with government forms will leap up at word that 26 senators seek a cut in federal paperwork. Without wishing to chill their rejoicing, we feel obliged to counsel patience. Attempts to combat the paperwork monster have been made before without notable success.

Still, it is heartening that a new onslaught is being undertaken by a bipartisan group in the Senate. The costs of getting a bewildering profusion of things down in black and white dwarf the mileage figures of Pioneer Saturn's voyage to Jupiter and points beyond. The General Accounting Office figures the government shells out 15 billion dollars annually, and business another 20 to 25 billion, for this purpose.

Much of this outlay is inescapable, but the senators are on the right track in asking the President to direct agencies to cut out needless paperwork. That would save a lot of tax dollars and ease a lot of irritation.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Ford and the recession

NEW YORK — A large be-minked lady in the crowded toy shop was buying six dolls. They talk, they walk, they wet, all battery propelled. The price, $60, plus tax. One for each of my six granddaughters, she tells the clerk.

The story is the same in the luxury stores in the glittering heart of Manhattan. In Cartier's and Tiffany's, the diamond necklaces and the emerald bracelets are going fast. The chic fur stores are finding it difficult to keep stocked with sables, a full-length cost at $25,000 and up.

In the streets, the big, black gas guzzlers help to jam the traffic that creeps along the main arteries. With chauffeurs at the wheel, limousines are parked double, the motor idling to keep the interior warm.

Whatever the indicators may say about unemployment, recession and inflation this, on the surface, is boomtown, U.S.A. The big spenders are still spending. They will help to raise the level of the Christmas trade and overcome the pinch said to be felt by lower-priced stores.

Here is the paradox of a bankrupt city and a nation with the highest rate of unemployment in 13 years. Mayor Abraham Beame is struggling desperately to cut the budget gap by firing or forcing the early retirement of up to 8,000 city employes and this has meant a confrontation with the unions representing these workers.

President Gerald Ford was here last week to talk with the members of Nelson Rockefeller's Commission on Critical Choices for Americans. He stayed over to go to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame awards dinner.

Whatever the advice that may have been giving him at the Commission, he returned to make a radio talk to the nation ruling out any major moves to counter the recession. He was addressing the business council which includes the top executives of the largest corporations.

The President referred with something like scorn to "quick fixes" which he would have none of. Declaring against a gas tax, he advised his associates to stop talking about such a tax.

Taking a gamble with few parallels in recent history, Ford is betting that inflation will cool and drop in coming months from the double-digit level. The problem of unemployment - not crisis as he insisted in his speech - will yield to the comparatively modest measures he intends to send to Congress in the new year.

He may be right. Rejecting "quick fixes" to spur the sluggish economy, he may win his gamble as America's powerful productive machine moves into high gear again in mid-1975.

Hardly surprising was the response of the Democratic majorities in Congress. They are coming up with proposals for extended unemployment compensation and massive public-service jobs requiring expenditures of billions of dollars. These measures seem certain to reach the President's desk presumably for his veto.

What should surprise and perhaps dismay Ford is the response of the Republicans. Forty-two GOP Senators are calling for an attack on the economic problem, resembling in kind if not in quite the same degree what the Democrats put forward. Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., promptly put in a resolution for a 20-cent gasoline tax and a tax on horse power that would curb the guzzlers.

January and the new Congress will tell the tale. The indicators may by that time encourage the President in his firm stand against what he believes would be precipitous action. But the new Congress will be even more liberal-left and determined to get speedy action. This will mean a contest between executive and legislative that can hardly benefit the economy.

Ford in his first 100 days has been compared with Harry Truman who inherited the office in a time of grave uncertainty. But increasingly Ford is beginning to sound like another President who fell heir to the office by the accident of death. That was Calvin Coolidge.

Coolidge's problem was of quite another order than that of Ford. As the bull market boom roared on through the 20s, he spurned the measures that might have curbed that great gamble which ended with the crash of 1929.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 31

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Routine matters favored more than the unusual. New developments in the making: study people, trends. What you uncover will prove valuable in the future.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

If not overanxious, you can make extraordinary gains now. Careful thought and consideration of past procedures will give you direction.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Strongly benefic Mercury influences should help you put over worthwhile plans now. Some changes may have to be made, but they will prove beneficial in the long run.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Stress quality rather than quantity in your efforts. Get TODAY'S matters tended before seeking further. You are adept at squeezing out the best in a project — important now.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

If you take minor annoyances in stride, as Leoites usually do, you should enjoy your day. Chosen goals are nearer. Increased favors indicated.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

What you did yesterday or last week may have to be redone in part, but do not look upon this day as problematical or you will not see its many virtues.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Better than usual advantages, but more than usual effort asked, too. Some past investment of money or time begins to pay; invest more for the future.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may think you have something under control, rolling briskly: Better take another look for hidden flaws, anything that could mean time, energy lost.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

An original twist or a new method could brighten routine, but don't go to extremes and attempt the bizarre.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

You may possibly have to set aside certain personal desires in order to show your abilities in the best light. The effort you make in this regard will pay off, however.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Present everything in your thorough, affable manner; thus you will win points and outwit the competition. Do your best but don't undertake the unreasonable.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Both regular work and new ventures favored. Returns from past efforts indicated very soon. Whatever you do well will have long-range value.

YOU BORN TODAY are amiable, industrious and so practical and methodical that you can often get ahead where the road seems completely blocked, and others would turn back. You have a fine mind and seek out companionship which is intellectually stimulating; may take up a unique hobby which eventually proves remunerative. Don't anticipate trouble or negate your efforts through pessimism. Fields in which you could be especially successful: science, writing, diplomacy, statesmanship, instructor in literature or languages.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS,
FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO

Dearl Alexander, Plaintiff, vs. Ida Inskeep, et al., Defendants.

NO. Ci-74-269
LEGAL NOTICE

TO: Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, the unknown heirs of George and Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Origin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, all of whose addresses are unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained.

You will take notice that Dearl Alexander commenced his civil action in the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, Ohio, in the above styled case to quiet title to the following described tract of real estate.

Situate in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio. Beginning at an iron pin in the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street (66 feet wide) at the most easterly corner of the tract of land conveyed to Henry Brownell, Jr. (Deed Book 92, Page 464), said point bears N. 47 deg. 38' E. as measured along the line of Rawlings Street a distance of 496.72 feet from the northeasterly line of Delaware Street (50 feet wide); thence N. 42 deg. 22' W. along the northeasterly line of said Brownell's tract a distance of 165.00 feet to an iron pin in the southeasterly line of a proposed 16.5 foot wide alley; thence N. 47 deg. 38' E. along the line of said alley a distance of 81.68 feet to an iron pin at the most westerly corner of the tract of land conveyed to E. & H. Simerl (Deed Book 92, Page 390); thence S. 42 deg. 39' W. along the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street a distance of 82.50 feet to the place of beginning, containing 0.311 acre.

The sum and substance of his complaint is that Dearl Alexander is seized in fee simple absolute title of the above described premises and that he claims such title by adverse possession, as he has openly and notoriously claimed title to said real estate by adverse possession for a period of more than twenty-one years.

The plaintiff, Dearl Alexander, further has alleged in his complaint that you, as defendants, have some claim or interest in the aforesaid real estate. You are hereby required to answer said complaint and set up your claim or forever be barred to what interest you may have in said real estate, on or before the 15th day of February, 1975.

Ohio Perspective

State ahead on metrication

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is a meter or two ahead of the rest of the states.

Not only have Ohio drivers begun seeing road signs marked in kilometers, but state highway engineers have begun building Ohio roads using meters instead of yards, kilometers instead of miles, centimeters instead of feet and inches.

"No one is as far advanced in the use of the metric system as we are," said Ginny McDaniels, who is in charge of the metric information program for the state Department of Transportation.

Ground breaking for Ohio's first road construction project using the metric system came in October. Since then state engineers and the contractor, Eagle Construction Co. of McArthur, have measured and built in meters and kilometers instead of yards and miles, Miss McDaniels said.

Engineers prepared specifications for the 1.7 kilometer or 1.1 mile project in meters with regular measurements in parentheses.

The project is part of a program to find out the difficulties of metrication, changing to the metric system.

The $686,000 construction project is on Ohio 93 just north of the Hocking-Vinton County line. It includes replacement of a bridge and reduction of a sharp curve.

The first project in the state's metric study program was a maintenance project in Licking County on Ohio 161 east of New Albany. Miss McDaniels called the earlier project, which was completed last summer, a success.

A second construction project in Perry County outside Thornville on Ohio 188 has not yet begun.

Miss McDaniels said the metrication study also included setting up distance signs in kilometers, distribution of information to the general public and gathering public reaction to the use of the metric system.

To convert miles into kilometers multiply them by 1.6.

To convert inches into centimeters multiply them by 6.5.

To convert ounces into grams multiply them by 28.

To convert a teaspoon into milliliters multiply them by 5, a tablespoon by 15, an ounce by 30, a quart to a liter multiply by .95.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: A MEDICINE IS TO BE JUDGED BY THOSE WHO TAKE IT, NOT BY THOSE WHO THROW IT DOWN THE SINK. — FRANK JOSEPH SHEED

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Please don't iron the sackcloth

DEAR ABBY: I used to be one of your most devoted fans, but not anymore. How dare you say that people who don't iron their bedsheets, pillowcases and towels are just plain lazy!

Abby, haven't you ever heard of permanent press fabrics? When they came in, ironing bedsheets and pillowcases went out at my house. And nobody irons towels anymore. They just fold them.

A young relative put me on to the greatest time and money-saver yet: Have one set of quick-dry bedsheets and pillowcases for each bed. They can be laundered and put back on the beds in a few hours. The set I am using on my king-sized bed in its ninth year and it's still good as new. (No cracks, please.)

EX-ABBY FAN

DEAR EX: You (and a lot of other people) have confused me with my twin sister-Ann Landers. You read that in HER column-not mine. I spoke with her a few minutes ago and she's reconsidered; she's now doing penance-complete with sackcloth (UNIRONED) and ashes.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm still a child, but I like the element of surprise on Christmas morning.

My husband insists on knowing what I want. He says he would rather get me something I want than spend money on something I don't want.

I keep telling him to "surprise" me, but he nags at me until I finally tell him. Then he orders it right in front of me. (This is a Christmas present?)

His mother is the same way. She asks me what I want for Christmas, too. It takes all the fun out of it for me.

I never ask anybody what they want. I use my imagination and enjoy shopping around to find things.

If I'm wrong, I'll take my lumps. If I'm right, I'll tape your answer on my husband's nose next year. Thanks.

JENNIE

DEAR JENNIE: Not everybody likes "surprises," but if you do, then your husband should surprise you. But don't grumble if he surprises you with a little nothing for which he spent too much.

DEAR ABBY: I need your help. I am 19, and I've been seeing this guy who is 30. I know he is too old for me. But that's not all. He's married and has two kids. How I got involved with him I'll never know.

This has got to end because there is no future in it for me. I have tried so hard to tell him, but he keeps calling me and calling me and he won't take no for an answer. I never should have started up with this guy, but he is a real fast talker.

I am not much of a talker, so I would like to write him a letter. That's where you come in, Abby. Will you help me write it? I want to get across to him that I don't want to continue our love affair and to please leave me alone. Thank you.

WANTS OUT

DEAR WANTS: Don't put anything incriminating in writing! (You never can tell where a letter will wind up!) TELL HIM in plain English that you've seen him for the last time, and don't stick around for a debate. (P.S. If he calls you again, hang up on him.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO BEAUTY" IN BEVERLY HILLS: I don't know who said it, but wise was he who quipped: "Beauty is a gift. Charm must be cultivated. A beautiful woman is one I notice. A charming woman is one who notices ME."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, December 30, the 364th day of 1974. There is one day left in the year.

Today's high light in history:

On this date in 1911, Sun Yatsen was elected first provisional president of the Republic of China.

On this date—

In 1775, an American force was defeated at Quebec.

In 1853, the Gadsden purchase was made by treaty with Mexico for territory which now is the southern portion of Arizona and New Mexico.

In 1865, the English author, Rudyard Kipling, was born.

In 1873, Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 Democratic candidate for president, was born.

In 1944, King George of Greece proclaimed a regency to rule his native land and virtually renounced the throne.

In 1945, military authorities in Berlin made public copies of Hitler's last will and his marriage contract with Eva Braun.

Ten years ago: The United Nations Security Council resolved to call for an end to all foreign intervention in the Congo, a cease-fire there and a withdrawal of mercenaries.

Five years ago: The United States gave the Communist Vietnamese at peace talks in Paris a list of 1,406 missing American personnel, but the other side berated the move.

One year ago: Britain went into a three-day work week in a fuel-saving action that spread bitterness and confusion.

Today's birthdays: Motion picture director Carol Reed is 68. Actor Bert Parks is 60.

Thought for today: The best way to cheer yourself up is to try to cheer somebody else up — Mark Twain, American author, 1835-1910.

Lift your winter meals with vegetables

Certain fresh vegetables go just right with certain seasons. Root vegetables — carrots, turnips, potatoes, parsnips — have just the right nip and snap to go with winter. Tomatoes and celery are also in good supply at your market, and crinkly cabbage is a very good buy.

It isn't just appetite-appeal that these vegetables are treasured for. Nutritionists commend them to us for their vitamins and minerals and the indispensable bulk that they add to the diet.

Weave these fine fresh vegetables into menus now. Have you ever served cabbage, pre-cooked, and baked in a cheese sauce with crispy buttered crumbs on top? An excellent, hearty winter dish. Sliced, cooked carrots in orange sauce are a delight. Or serve the cabbage and carrot shredded in a colorful slaw, a winter salad that is readily available now.

Onions are timely. They are unparalleled for savory seasoning in so many dishes. Try them, too, boiled whole and served in a delicate cream sauce. The fresh flavors of these vegetables are so welcome at this time of year. Be sure to include them in your menus for the best eating enjoyment. The taste of fresh just seems to wake up appetites and keep them interested.

RUSSIAN CABBAGE SOUP

3 cups chicken broth
3 cups water
½ cup shredded pared carrots
½ cup shredded celery
1 potato, pared and diced
½ cup chopped fresh onion
2 cups chopped peeled fresh tomatoes
2½ teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf
4 peppercorns
3 cups shredded cabbage
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine chicken broth, water, carrots, celery, potato, onion, tomatoes, salt, bay leaf and peppercorns in a large kettle. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add cabbage and simmer 10 minutes longer. Stir in lemon juice and sugar; heat.

YIELD: 2 quarts; 6 to 8 servings.

Notice

The D of A has cancelled the meeting which was originally planned for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

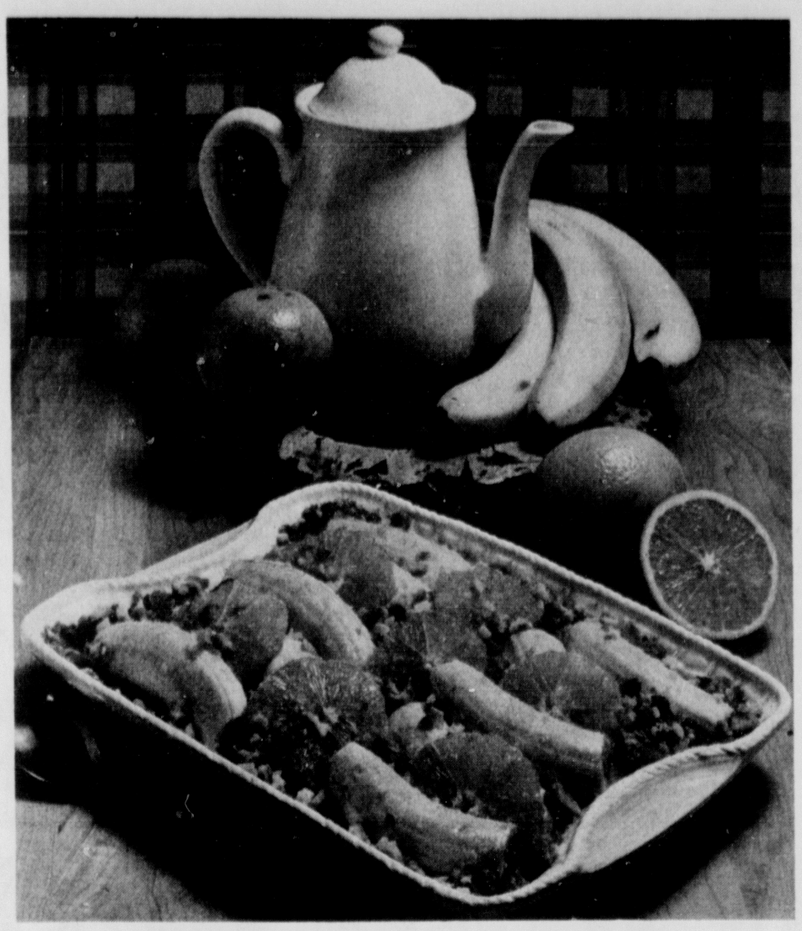
The annual New Year's Day dinner planned Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Edith Scott, 617 Oak Circle, has been cancelled, due to illness.

Class plans get-together

Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ will hold their first meeting of the New Year, in fellowship Hall, Saturday evening. A covered dish supper will be served preceding the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Hostesses will be the class officers: Mrs. Howard Brooks, Mrs. Frank Coulter, Mrs. Florence Schiller and Mrs. J.G. Jordan.

Howard Brooks will bring devotions, using the theme: "A New Year is Born", and Mrs. Thomas Willis will provide entertainment.



QUICK DESSERT — Baked Oranges and Bananas is a quick and easy dessert that combines fresh fruit with a crumbled macaroon mixture.

Easy to make-fun to eat: baked bananas and oranges

Consumers are more nutrition conscious now than they ever were. Nutrition labeling on most food products has made it easier to keep track of nutrients consumed at each meal, and the high cost of food, too, has forced consumers to look for the best nutrition values for their dollars.

Fresh fruits, such as bananas and Florida oranges, offer excellent value, both nutritionally and economically. And both can be combined to create delicious desserts, snacks or main dishes.

Baked Bananas and Oranges is a quick, delicious dessert which uses fresh fruit and a crumbled macaroon mixture. You'll want to serve it often, especially if you have growing youngsters, since it is so rich in essential nutrients.

Both Florida oranges and bananas are excellent sources of potassium. Oranges are rich in vitamin C and supply other necessary vitamins and minerals. Bananas, too, are one of your most nutritious foods and contain vitamin C, vitamin A, B vitamins, and other essential minerals and nutrients.

It's not hard to see why a dish like Baked Bananas and Oranges is one of your better snack or dessert choices.

Main dishes, too, can be all the better made with mellow bananas and juicy oranges. Orange Barbecued Chicken with Bananas is a delicious example of how a simple chicken dish can come alive with the special flavors and textures of fruit.

The chicken is baked with chunks of bananas and an orange-tomato barbecue sauce. The recipe is so easy and foolproof, you can even try it for your very first dinner party.

BAKED BANANAS AND ORANGES

1½ cups crumbled coconut macaroons
One-third cup packed light brown sugar
One-third cup chopped almonds
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
6 bananas
2 Florida oranges, peeled and sliced
1 cup Florida orange juice

In a medium bowl mix crumbled macaroons, sugar, almonds, orange rind, nutmeg, and melted butter. Cut bananas in half both lengthwise and crosswise. Arrange a layer of bananas and orange slices on the bottom of a 10x6x1¾-inch baking dish. Cover with a layer of the macaroon mixture. Continue alternating layers of fruit and crumbs, reserving one third cup crumb mixture. Pour orange juice over fruit. Sprinkle with remaining one-third cup crumb mixture. Bake uncovered in a 350 degree F. oven for 20 minutes. Serve immediately.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

To peel Florida oranges, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane, then cut slice from bottom. Or cut off peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut orange into crosswise slices.

ORANGE BARBECUED CHICKEN WITH BANANAS

2 whole broiler-fryer chickens, cut into serving pieces
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
One-third cup Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
¾ cup water
½ cup finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
6 bananas
1 Florida orange, thinly sliced

Arrange chicken pieces in a large shallow baking dish. In a medium bowl mix tomato sauce, undiluted concentrated orange juice, water, onion, Worcestershire sauce, sugar, mustard, salad oil, salt and pepper. Brush chicken pieces with barbecue sauce. Bake in 375 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes, brushing with barbecue sauce every 10 minutes. Peel bananas and cut into 2-inch diagonal chunks. Add to baking dish and brush with barbecue sauce. Top chicken pieces with orange slices. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer. Makes eight servings.

See housing industry upswing

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The outlook for many segments of the 1975 economy is, as the hedging economist is inclined to say, "somewhat cloudy," but that description hardly fits housing.

One of the clear and bright prospects in that generally cloudy outlook, housing is expected to recover from its latest bout with recession as the year wears on, maybe even becoming vigorous by fall.

Home-seekers may find lenders solicitous rather than officious. The likelihood of 20 to 25 per cent down payments by midyear is strong, even if interest rates might remain around 9 per cent or more.

The explanation reveals itself automatically when you look at the recent experience of savings and loans and savings banks, which provide most individual home mortgages.

In a three-month period this year the savings and loans alone saw $2.87 billion of savings disappear from their books, withdrawn by owners who sought higher returns in government and corporate securities.

When this sort of thing — disintermediation — happens, both the thrifts and the housing industry become anemic, the life blood flowing from their veins. But now the transfusion has begun.

With record-high interest rates now falling in other money markets, funds are again flowing into the thrifts. If it continues, they should be able to finance a lot more housing than they could in 1974.

These statistics will provide an idea of what high interest rates did to the thrifts and housing: In 1973, housing starts totaled 2.2 million; in 1974 the rate fell to one-half that total.

Opinions vary about whether or not the decline should be attributed to the lack of lendable funds, but few students of housing will argue that 75 per cent of it was. Credit is everything to a homebuyer.

Now, with credit becoming available, the need for housing also is rising. As population increases, and the number of new household formations also, the need for housing grows. It cannot be postponed indefinitely. Any slump is generally followed, if not by a boom, then by a lot of construction noise.

Only one passing cloud is being watched suspiciously, and that is the decline in spendable income. If incomes stagnate well into 1975, that cloud could spill some rain.

However, the prospect is strong that after-tax incomes will improve if the rate of inflation declines, and that the consumer's confidence, which evaporated with that decline, will return.

It's still not the best outlook, but it's a great improvement over 1974, when the cellar-holes of aborted houses provided a grim picture of the times. A new house is much prettier.

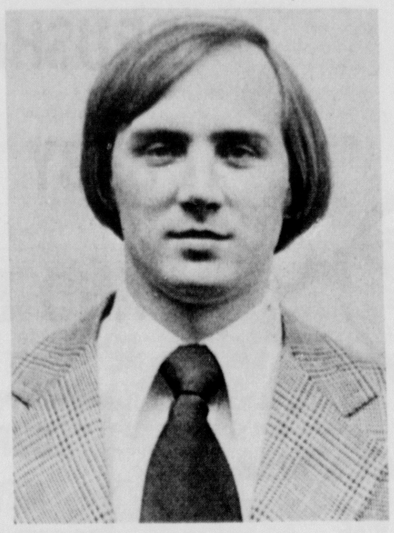
Agent completes training course

Former Record-Herald sports editor Dennis R. Stapleton has completed an intensive three-week training seminar for his new position as an insurance agent with the Travelers Insurance Co.

Having joined the Travelers firm in October, Stapleton will be serving both the Fayette County and Columbus areas. Working out of the Travelers Insurance office, 921 Chatham Lane, Columbus, he will be arranging office hours in the William Pool Insurance office, presently located at 330 E. Court Street. Pool Insurance will relocate in the Main Street Mall after its completion.

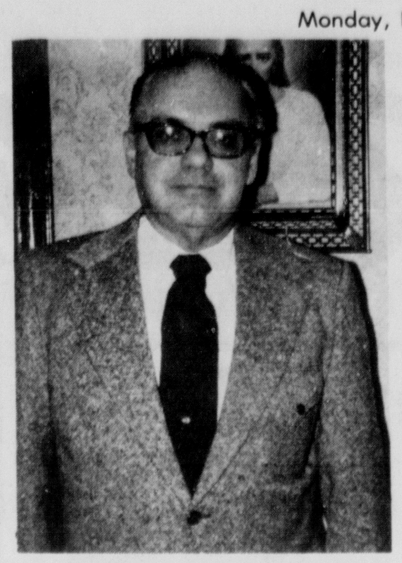
After one month acquainting himself with the firm and its personnel, Stapleton attended the three-week session in Los Angeles, Calif. The purpose of the training program was to familiarize young agents with specific information concerning the Travelers many types of insurance policies.



DENNIS STAPLETON

Included in the studies was a four-day session preparing the agents for the National Association of Security Dealers licensing test. A great deal of the three-week program was devoted to financial planning sessions which included information on annuities and insurance policies.

Stapleton, his wife Katie and their son, have moved from their Sabina residence to a home in Upper Arlington, Columbus.



REV. FIGHTMASTER

Speaker set for services

The Rev. William Fightmaster, of Hamilton, will be the guest speaker at the First Church of the Nazarene, Ohio 41-S, watch-nite service Dec. 31 from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Rev. Fightmaster has served in the Nazarene Church for 25 years and has held evangelistic meetings throughout Ohio and surrounding states.

He is well-known in the Washington C.H. area, having served as evangelist in several local churches and is renowned for his depth in Biblical preaching.

The Rev. Dale Orihood, pastor of the local church, invites the public to attend the service to start the new year. Special singing will be provided by members of the local congregation.

A cart for use between kitchen and dining room simplifies meal service. A slight edge on the top of the cart will prevent dishes and servers from falling off.

Jaw joints created

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— An operation to replace broken hip joints has been adapted by a Cleveland plastic surgeon to create new jaw joints for humans.

The jaw joint is "like a ball and socket, much like the hip but not so deep," said Dr. Clifford Kiehn, professor of plastic surgery at Case Western Reserve University.

Unlike many other joints, the jaw must be able to slide as well as open and close. Kiehn's device, developed from the hip operation pioneered in England, is cemented directly to bone and sometimes is used with bone grafts from the patient's hip.

"It will take time to evaluate the procedure," Dr. Kiehn said. "The results have been good. Of course, there aren't as many cases as there are with hips."

He said the technique has been used on seven patients.

Antibiotics are given to patients up to a week before surgery to prevent infection, the doctor said, adding that the rich blood supply in the head and neck provides some natural immunity.

College enrollment increase reported

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Female students and a surprising freshmen turnout were key factors in a 3.5 per cent increase in enrollment at the nation's four-year colleges and universities this fall, according to a survey by the University of Cincinnati.

The study of 1,456 institutions was released by Dr. Garland G. Parker, vice provost for admissions and records at the University.

With only one of the nation's 30 largest institutions—University of California—not reporting, total enrollment reached 6.6 million for fall quarter.

Nearly three million of the 6.6 million were women for a 6 per cent increase in that category, the study showed.

The next highest category was freshmen, with a 4.6 per cent increase, reversing a three-year trend.

Part of the increase in women students would be reflected in the freshman statistics, but Garland said the freshman turnabout surprised researchers because the size of the 1974 high school graduating class was not sufficient to account for the increase.

He said the U.S. Office of Education expects the peak year for high school graduates to be 1976-77. However, he predicted that enrollment during the 1980s "will likely decline in accelerating fashion."

The number of women had increased only 2 per cent annually in previous years. Men increased their numbers by only 1.6 per cent.

The increase in female students lifted their percentage to 44.8 of total enrollment, with 43.3 per cent as full-time enrollees and 48.4 enrolled on a part-time basis.

The State University of New York topped the nation in total students enrolled, 406,581, and most full-time students, 256,863.

The California State University and College System ranked second with 317,431 students enrolled and 179,390 full-time students.

City University of New York was third with 253,178 and 135,376.

About 70 per cent, or more than 4.7 million, were enrolled in a full-time capacity. It represented a 1.9 per cent increase over last year.

The nearly two million parttime students meant a 7.8 per cent increase.

Full-time women students rose 4.1 per cent to 0.3 per cent for men. The gain by women was heaviest in law, medicine and allied health, technological, business and theological schools.

NEW PROCESS — A Dayton Power and Light Co. employe shows small microfiche card which holds more than 200 pages of the computer books stacked behind it. A card inserted in viewer in background reflects one of the pages. The new process will enable DP&L to better serve customers who call in for information.

Business news

New retrieval system to be used by DP&L

The Dayton Power and Light Co. will soon introduce a microfiche retrieval system which will provide greater efficiency in securing account information for customers.

The new system, when completely installed, will reduce waiting time when customers call for bill information or other services which involve checking records.

The process will allow DP&L to transfer computer information on a tape directly to a microfiche card instead of computer paper. The card will then be inserted into a viewer which enlarges the printed material.

One mircofiche card measures only four by six inches, yet it can hold the same information that would require more than 200 sheets of 11 by 16 inch computer paper.

Instead of leafing through the large computer sheets to secure customer information, the operator simply places the microfiche in the viewer, finds the large number and the enlargement is projected upon the viewer screen.

Thirty-one viewers are now installed in the customer activities department. Later, other viewers will be installed in customer service and in all 14 district offices, eventually making a otal of 120.

Dropout claims U.S. schools mostly intellectual slums

BEREA, Ohio (AP) — American schools are intellectual slums, according to self-published author R. A. Landor, who dropped out of school 43 years ago.

"American children go to schools that are, for the most part, intellectual slums," Landor wrote in his book "The Education of Everychild."

Landor, a Berea resident, blames much of the problem on school administrators and what he calls their refusal to set goals.

"You could pump money into school from now till doomsday but unless its nature were radically changed, it would not yield anything that seriously resembles education," he said.

Landor wrote his book to support his claim that U.S. education almost automatically excludes many children whom teachers label too stupid to acquire liberal education.

After being turned down by major publishing firms, the 58-year-old author formed his own company.

The book was written while he worked for library systems in California, Minnesota and Cuyahoga County.

Landor dropped out of school at age 15. After military duty he received his bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkely in 1948. He then received a master's in political science and a master's in library science.

In his book, Landor concludes that "fewer professional chiefs and more amateur indians" are what is needed to correct the situation he believes exists in public schools.

Landor blames officials who say they can't teach reading because of unfavorable home environments and book selections.

"Children need a book done by a writer, not a committee. They need a book they will love to read, not a 'learning tool,'" he said.

Ohio couple among dead in Guatemala

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of a Columbus couple killed in a chartered plane crash in northern Guatemala this weekend will be returned to the United States Tuesday.

Mrs. Margaret Cardosi, the mother of Peggy Burget, 50, said the bodies of her daughter and her son-in-law, Gail, 51, would be flown to Texas Tuesday. She said they would then be shipped to Columbus by the family.

Burget, part owner of Rainbow Dry Cleaners, and his wife were among 21 American tourists killed Saturday when a chartered airplane crashed in flames near the Mayan ruins of Tikal.

Mrs. Cardosi said the couple was vacationing and had planned to return to Columbus in mid-January.

They had no children.

The twin-engine aircraft had just lifted off from Tikal airport to return to Guatemala City, when it crashed 100 yards from the unpaved runway and burst into flames.

1975 gold rush slated for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1975 gold rush begins Tuesday in Ohio as across the nation.

For the first time in more than 40 years, Ohioans will be able to legally buy that precious metal, gold.

But Ohio bankers, coin dealers and brokers refuse to predict the amount of sales or speculate on what will be the effect of the gold sales.

Only 16 per cent of 257 banks in the state surveyed by The Ohio Banker have plans to sell gold tomorrow. Most of the others are taking a wait-and-see attitude.

The City National Bank and Trust Co. in Columbus made a corporate decision not to sell gold, according to John A. Russell, vice president and director of marketing.

"As a banking institution, we do not want to be put into the position of sticking small people with shakey investments," he said.

Russell said the high cost of gold, fluctuations in price, significant service charges, storage cost and state sales tax made the commodity a bad risk for the average citizen and typical banking customer.

"We really don't have any idea of what to expect," said Howard Schwarz, account executive at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. in Columbus.

Schwarz said account executives at the brokerage house held a "broad spectrum of opinion" from extremely active gold sales the first day to no interest at all.

"My personal feeling is that the market will be a novelty type of market," Schwarz said.

Don Devore, owner of Devore's Buckeye Coin Shop, said he expects lines outside his shop on Tuesday. "We've already got orders," he said, explaining that customers had put in advance requests for hundreds of ounces.

Devore predicted a "lot of profit-taking" and secondguessing by sellers and buyers of gold. But, he said, "a lot of people are just waiting to see what will happen."

Devore said gold coins were a safer buy, as coins are more easily liquified, or turned back into cash.

"It's the same old story," he said, "you don't buy diamonds in the local bar." Devore said buyers and sellers alike would have to be careful that gold purchased was properly assayed and authenticated for purity, weight and worth.

Jack Benny funeral held in California

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Entertainment notables representing eras from vaudeville to television said farewell to Jack Benny, the humorist whom pal Bob Hope called "a national treasure."

Sunday's turnout was one of the largest and most emotional in recent years for a funeral of a show business personality. Hope's usual composure broke as he delivered a tribute, interspersed with references to old Benny punch lines.

Referring to Benny's standing joke about his alleged penny-pinching nature, Hope said "he was stingy to the end; he gave us only 80 years and that wasn't enough."

Good friend George Burns, 78, also selected to give a eulogy, told the 350 persons in Hillside Memorial Park Chapel in Culver City: "I don't know whether I'll be able to do this, but I told Mary I'd try."

Benny's widow, Mary Livingstone, attended the traditional Jewish funeral but remained in the family room at the side of the chapel. Benny's adopted daughter, Joan, and three granddaughters were with her.

The whole gang from Benny's old television and radio show was on hand: band leader Phil Harris, singer Dennis Day, announcer Don Wilson, violin teacher-train conductor Mel Blanc, valet Eddie "Rochester" Anderson.

Benny, who died of cancer of the pancreas late Thursday night, was compared by Hope to such performers as Al Jolson, Humphrey Bogart, Clark Gable, Will Rogers and Maurice Chevalier. "He had a rare magic, like Picasso and Gershwin."

STARRING BURT REYNOLDS IN "THE LONGEST YARD"

Ditch improvement contract awarded

A contract for the Grassy Branch ditch improvement project has been let and preparations are now being made for the annual appropriations budget, according to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday.

The joint boards of Greene and Fayette County Commissioners have awarded a contract to the William Stewart Construction Co., Spring Valley, for $69,972.55 in the project.

According to the agreement between the two boards one-third of the cost of the project will be provided by Fayette County funds with the remaining two-thirds being supplied by the Greene County officials.

The Fayette County commissioners have planned to provide their $25,000 of the expense by transferring the needed funds from the general revenue fund with the stipulation that the revenue fund will be reimbursed before the end of 1975. Chairman J. Herbert Perrill said the costs would be assessed to the land owners benefitting from the improvement project with the completion of the ditch.

The commissioners reported that work on the annual appropriations budget would begin January 2 and 3.

Also considered by the commissioners Monday were the current problem of stray dogs in the county and the increasing shortage of natural gas.

Perrill said dog tags are now on sale and may be purchased without additional cost until Jan. 20 at locations set aside by county auditor Mary Morris. Individual dog license fees are $4 and $20 for kennels.

Perrill stressed that all dogs in the county over three months of age are required to have a license by law. He added that no dog may be allowed to run loose (except those engaged in hunting and accompanying their owners), without being in violation of state laws.

Perrill said the county dog warden is responsible to uphold those laws and any stray dog will be liable for incarceration. He also added that owners of any loose dogs responsible for damages to animals or property would be liable for those damages.

Perrill also noted in Monday business, the county commissioners were aware of the present situation with the natural gas shortage and said the commissioners planned to study the possibility of obtaining a reserve supply of propane gas for usage.

Aston Martin Company goes into liquidation

LONDON (AP) — The Aston Martin company, manufacturers of prestige sports cars including one used in a James Bond movie, has become the latest victim of the hard times afflicting the world's automobile makers.

The company announced Sunday it is ceasing production today and going into voluntary liquidation because it couldn't raise enough cash to stay in business. Five hundred workers at the company's plant in Buckinghamshire will lose their jobs.

Chairman William Wilson told newsmen the company needed $2.3 million, had orders worth twice that but could only raise $920,000. He said the Labor government rejected a request at the beginning of the year for a loan of $1.6 million.

"It seems a tragedy that companies of this kind should be lost for the sake of a few hundred thousand pounds," said Wilson.

He said he is asking for a receiver to be appointed as soon as possible to wind up the company, founded more than 60 years ago.

Aston Martins cost from about $25,650 for a V-8 to about $32,000 for a Lagonda five-seater in the United States. Prince Charles, the heir to the British throne, is among the owners. But the cars have a high gasoline consumption, and in recent months orders have reportedly dropped off.

The company was started in 1913, named after its founder, Lionel Martin, and the Aston Clinton hill climb on which his cars scored major successes.

Auto companies throughout the world are suffering severe financial problems. In the United States, more than 200,000 auto workers have been lid off this month due to a prolonged sales slump.

The American industry reported sales for November were 35 per cent below those in November 1973. Analysts say the slump is the worst since the 1958 recession.

In France, the government is lending more than $200 million to the Citroen company so that it can pay its debts and merge with the Peugeot firm.

West Germany's Volkswagen reported its first loss since World War II in 1974.

Milk marketing opinions sought

CHICAGO (AP)—The U.S. Agriculture Department has extended until Jan. 2 the time for commenting on proposed amendments to the Ohio Valley federal milk marketing order, the department has announced.

Ford signs park bill

VAIL, Colo. (AP)—President Ford signed bills Saturday authorizing $2.9 billion for new military and defense construction and establishing the Cuyahoga Valley National Recreation Area in Ohio.

The military appropriation bill for fiscal 1975 includes a section authorizing the secretary of defense to aid communities located near the Trident support site in Bangor, Wash., for increased municipal services resulting from the impact of placing the Trident facilities in the area.

And, it designates the Observatory Hill home of the chief of naval operations in Washington as the temporary official residence of the vice president.

With some reservations, Ford signed the Cuyahoga Valley bill that paves the way for preservation of thousands of acres of unspoiled land.

Ford expressed misgivings about a provision for federal reimbursement to local agencies for police and fire services.

As we close the book on a good year, we look forward to one even better, shared with our friends.

Inflation hits Perk party

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Inflation is striking extra close to Mayor Ralph Perk this year.

The need to pay off $50,000 in U.S. Senate campaign debts has forced up the price of tickets to his 61st birthday party next month, a spokesman for the mayor said.

Perk lost to John Glenn in November.

Tickets this year are $75 for a cocktail party and dinner and $25 for dinner alone. Tickets cost $10 last year.

The party is scheduled to be held in a Cleveland hotel Jan. 17. The mayor's birthday actually is Jan. 19.

The affair is being sponsored by the People for Perk For Senate Campaign Committee, which chairman Nicholas Bucur said has a debt of more than $50,000.

A spokesman for the campaign committee said if all 250 tickets were sold at $75 each and all 500 at $25 each, the committee would earn about $18,000.

Petunia the albino skunk said 'a doll'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Imagine being a skunk and an albino to boot! Sounds fairly awful.

But, Petunia, who is both, can't say, but she obviously enjoys her favorite pet status at the shelter of the Hamilton County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA).

"She's a doll," said the SPCA's Dorothy Vail. "She's a pet."

Petunia recently joined the SPCA's traveling menagerie, a troupe of pets starred in a human education program. The program's aim is to further humane attitudes toward and treatment of pets among young school children.

The troupe has visited 5,719 pupils in 23 elementary and primary schools in Hamilton County since its founding in September.

The SPCA also holds programs at its shelter which include films, slides and a speaker.

Puppies and kittens make up most of the touring group, but Petunia has an important role to play. She illustrates several of the many reasons wild animals should not normally be kept from their natural environment.

Her former owners didn't set Petunia free for two reasons— she had been descented and with her white body had no defenses against other animals, including man.

"She likes to snuggle when you pick her up," said Mrs. Vail.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

. . . COURTESY OF HUNTINGTON BANK

Now – each depositor insured to $40,000

Pursuant to a recent Act of Congress which was signed by President Ford on October 28, 1974, the general limit on federal deposit insurance has been raised from $20,000 to $40,000 for each depositor in banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a U.S. Government agency.

Q. When is this increase effective?
A. It is effective Wednesday, November 27, 1974, at all FDIC-insured banks.

Q. How can I tell whether my deposit is insured by FDIC?
A. Each of the 14,500 FDIC-insured banks in the United States has an official sign at each teller's window using the FDIC logo that appears at the bottom of this ad.

Q. Can I get more than $40,000 insurance at the same bank?
A. Yes, if you hold accounts in different legal ownership capacities. For example, if you are married, you can have an account in your name insured up to $40,000; your spouse can have an account in his or her name insured up to $40,000; and you and your spouse can have a joint account insured up to $40,000. If you hold several accounts in the same ownership capacity, however, the maximum insurance to which you are entitled is $40,000—even if the total amount in all of the accounts is more. The new law has not changed the rules—only the dollar amount of insurance has been changed.

Q. How frequently do FDIC-insured banks fail?
A. In the past ten years, five or six FDIC-insured banks on the average have failed each year—about four-one hundredths of one percent of all insured banks in the country. The year 1974 will probably be no different in this respect than past years.

Q. What is the record of depositor protection for insured banks that have failed?
A. To date, in all failed banks insured by FDIC, over 99 percent of all deposits, insured and uninsured combined, have been paid or made available to their owners.

Q. If an FDIC-insured bank fails, when and how will I get my deposit back?
A. If an FDIC-insured bank is closed and liquidated, FDIC will start to pay insured depositors up to the statutory limit within ten days after the closing. As the bank's assets are liquidated, owners of claims in excess of the $40,000 insurance limit will share in the proceeds with other general creditors. In cases where the deposit liabilities of a failed bank are taken over by another sound bank with financial assistance from the FDIC, depositors have the use of all their funds to the same extent they had in the failed bank before it closed.

Q. How good is FDIC insurance?
A. Since its creation in 1933, the FDIC has never failed to honor its deposit insurance commitment.

The federal deposit insurance fund, which has been built up from insurance premiums paid by FDIC-insured banks and the investment income on such premiums, now stands at more than $6 billion, and is increasing each year by about $400 million. In addition, the FDIC, by law, can borrow from the United States Treasury an additional $3 billion if it finds this necessary for deposit insurance purposes. The FDIC has never found it necessary to borrow any money from the Treasury, however. In fact, although the deposit insurance fund has never been much larger than 1% of all insured deposits in the country, the FDIC has never had to use more than a small amount of the fund at any one time, even when very large banks have failed.

Q. How large have the insurance losses of FDIC been over the years?
A. Putting to one side for the moment the nation's two largest bank failures (United States National Bank, San Diego, in 1973 and Franklin National Bank, New York, last month) the FDIC's net loss in 506 bank failures since 1933 has been approximately $75 million.

Q. Most of those must have been very small banks. What about the $1 billion United States National Bank and the $3.6 billion Franklin National Bank?
A. The FDIC laid out about $370 million in connection with the failure of United States National Bank, but it expects to recover a substantial portion of this amount as the receivership of that bank progresses. In the case of Franklin National Bank, the FDIC's only outlay so far has been $100 million for a capital note of European-American Bank & Trust Company and a small amount for initial liquidation expenses (since repaid). Further outlays are possible, but the FDIC's net loss, if any, will probably be very small. No depositor, of course, lost a nickel in either failure.

Q. I thought the FDIC agreed to pay $1.7 billion to the Federal Reserve System to retire the liquidity loan Franklin needed before it closed.
A. It did, but it has the right to collect assets carried on Franklin's books at more than $2 billion in order to pay off this loan.

Q. How can I obtain additional information and facts about FDIC and federal deposit insurance?
A. Information may be obtained by writing to the Public Information Office, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D.C. 20429.

Falcons take 13 point win

Panthers bow in humdrum game

BY LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

COLUMBUS — Basketball appeared to have been set back a few years when Miami Trace visited Franklin Heights, Saturday evening. With the Golden Falcons' gymnasium approximately half-filled, those few people on hand yawned away as the Falcons handed the Panthers a 78-65 setback.

It was one of those games where one wishes that it was over just as soon as it began. However, it was not that easy as 46 fouls and 48 turnovers seemed to keep the game going on into eternity. A visit to the city morgue may have proved to be the only thing less exciting that evening.

The amount of fouls were evenly dispersed with each squad collecting 23. However, Miami Trace bumbled away 32 turnovers, while the host team lost the ball 16 times.

If anything, Franklin Heights kept itself from blowing the game wide open. Although the Falcons dropped in 32 of 61 shots from the floor for a 52 per cent accuracy, many of their 29 missed shots were from close range. The Falcons found huge gaps in the Panthers' defense many times, but they were only to find their shots rolling off the side of the rim.

"All this game boiled down to was whether or not we would be able to contain their top scorer - Larry Ferst," pointed out Panther coach Dale Creamer. "We did not contain him and he killed us by dropping in 25 points."

Ferst was a nuisance to the Panthers' throughout the night. Each time Miami Trace tried to make a run at the Falcons, Ferst was usually the one who came up with the big play. Several times, Ferst was in position for a key offensive rebound and turned a missed shot into a basket for Franklin Heights.

"As poorly as we played, we were never really out of the game," Creamer indicated. "However, we only had a couple of players who came to play basketball tonight."

After several minutes of scrappy play, the Falcons finally took a 14-11 lead in the first period. From that point on, Franklin Heights just cruised along, gradually adding to its cushion. The Falcons held a 10 points lead at halftime and stretched it to 15 points in the third period before the Panthers out-scored them 26-24 in the last stanza.

Only the play of centers John Schlichter and Randy Rhonemus kept the game from being a complete lackluster performance by the Panthers. It was mainly through their play that Miami Trace managed to can 24 of 58 attempts from the field for a mediocre 41 per cent.

Failing to receive enough offensive punch from Rhonemus in the past games, Schlichter received the starting nod at center for the first time this season. The 6-foot-3 junior may become a standard fixture in the Panthers' starting lineup as he responded with 18 points and 12 rebounds.

Schlichter's performance on offense was especially pleasing. Since forward Allan Conner has been sidelined with a sprained ankle, the Panthers have been lacking someone to lead the Panthers' offense and hit the offensive backboards. Schlichter's 18 point outburst is only surpassed by Conner's 22 point effort in the opening game of the season.

Held out of the starting lineup, Rhonemus seemed to be inspired by Schlichter's performance. Entering the game in the second period, Rhonemus turned in his best effort of his career. For the first time this season, he used his 6-foot-6 frame to his advantage as he tallied 14 points and picked off eight rebounds. Rhonemus was not afraid to shoot and he came up with six offensive rebounds, which nearly matches his total for the six previous games this season.

Sophomore Dan Gifford was the only other player to hit double figures for Miami Trace. Gifford scored 15 points and matched Rhonemus with eight rebounds. Of his 15 points, Gifford responded with nine points in the final four minutes of the last period.

Also hitting double figures for the Falcons were Ron Lathem and Cameron Harmon. Lathem produced 14 points and Harmon fired home 11 markers.

Miami Trace held a 40-33 rebounding edge in the game. Ferst was the top rebounder for both squads as he came up with 14 caroms.

There was a total of 52 free throws attempted in the contest. The Panthers sank 17 of 28, while the Falcons netted 14 of 24.

With the victory, Franklin Heights is now 5-3 for the season. Miami Trace's record falls to 3-4, the first time the Panthers have been below the .500 mark this year.

With the play of Schlichter and Rhonemus, coach Creamer will be giving a lot of consideration to starting both players in Friday night's contest at Washington Court House. Although the Panthers' attack was slowed down considerably with both players in the lineup at the same time, Miami Trace is in need of their offensive strength. The most points produced by any of the guards was four points Saturday evening.

"We are just going to prepare for these games as if Conner will not be ready," Creamer added as he looked ahead to Friday's game with the Lions and Saturday's contest against London. "All I know is that I am going to put five players, who show me they want to play, on the court next Friday.

MT reserves fail to hold 11 point lead

Taking a 15-4 lead in the first quarter, Miami Trace's reserve team appeared to be well on its way to its third consecutive victory, Saturday night. However, Franklin Heights rallied from its first stanza performance to record a 41-37 victory and burst the Panthers' bubble.

With Dave Huston dropping in 13 points and Mike Saxton coming up with 12, the Falcons were able to surpass the Panthers. The host team out-scored Miami Trace in each of the remaining periods to notch the victory.

Joe Black and Terry Rodgers each hit double figures for the Panthers. Black tossed in 13 points and Rodgers came through with 10.

With the loss, the Panthers are now 3-4 for the season. The 41 points yielded by the Panthers' defense was the fewest amount of points produced by the Falcons this season.

Pacific 8 teams growing strong

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Except for UCLA, the Pacific-8 has been known as the "Pacifist-8" for a long time in college basketball.

No more.

UCLA continues to bully teams as usual, but now Southern Cal and Oregon have emerged as fighters to challenge for supremacy in the Far West and perhaps the country.

All three undefeated Pac-8 powers demand attention while building their combined records to 23-0 against outside teams, including these successes Saturday night:

—UCLA, the country's No. 3 team, won the Maryland Invitational Tournament at College Park with an 81-75 triumph over Maryland's fifth-ranked Terrapins.

—Southern Cal, No. 6, bombed 20th-ranked Rutgers 81-66 to advance to Monday night's finals of the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York.

—Oregon, ranked No. 19, plowed toward the championship of the Far West Classic in Portland by trimming Arizona State 80-76.

The Bruins, getting most of the headlines through the past decade, could be getting some of the headaches this year from their powerful Pac-8 colleagues.

Even with UCLA's domination out West, the Trojans' basketball program has improved steadily under Southern Cal Coach Bob Boyd's guidance and this is probably his best team. Oregon, with the likes of Ron Lee, considered the best guard in the conference, gives the Pac-8 the most balance it's had since UCLA started winning national championships in the 1960s.

North Carolina State, the team that finally ended the Bruins' fabulous dynasty in last year's NCAA playoffs, continued to look as good as ever this year with an 86-70 triumph over Pitt.

Elsewhere, among the ranked teams, No. 2 Indiana whipped Ohio State 102-71 in the semifinals of the Rainbow Classic in Honolulu; No. 8 North Carolina edged Utah 94-91; No. 9 Penn beat Florida State 100-88 in a Rainbow Classic consolation game and 10th-ranked Arizona stopped Columbia 94-73 in the consolation game of the Old Dominion Classic in Norfolk, Va.

St. John's, N.Y., upset No. 11 South Carolina 78-77 in overtime in the semifinals of the Ocean State Tourney in Providence, R. I. Providence, No. 12, moved into the finals with an 83-73 victory over Drake. Notre Dame, No. 13, lost to No. 17 Kentucky 113-96; 14th-ranked Marquette won its seventh straight Milwaukee Classic with a 73-55 success over Virginia and No. 18 Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State in a Big Eight Tourney consolation game.

Southern Cal didn't look like the nation's sixth-ranked team until the second half Saturday night.

Losing by seven points at the half, they raced back behind Gus Williams and simply ran away from the worn-out Scarlet Knights. With Williams scoring 16 of his team-high 24 points, stealing and setting up a fistful of fast-break baskets, the Trojans made up the halftime deficit in short order and finally flashed in front for good, at 59-56, with less than eight minutes left.

Lee led Oregon with 23 points and made a game-saving play at the end to preserve the victory over Arizona State. The Ducks led 78-76 as one of their inbound passes headed out of bounds. But Lee leaped from 10 feet away, flew through the air with the greatest of ease and tipped the ball to teammate Bruce Coldren. Coldren was fouled and made two shots to lock up the game.

Marques Johnson scored seven of his 13 points in the final three minutes, rallying UCLA past Maryland. Dave Meyers murdered Maryland with 32 points.

David Thompson and Phil Spence each scored 20 points to lead North Carolina State over Pitt for the Wolfpack's eighth straight victory this year.

Indiana rolled to its 10th straight victory behind Scott May's 24 points and earned a berth in Monday night's Rainbow Classic finals with Hawaii, a 75-65 winner over Villanova.

Mitch Kupchak scored 30 points and picked up 11 rebounds as North Carolina beat Utah despite a monster, 44-point performance by Ticky Burden.

Ron Haigler's 33 points led Pennsylvania over Florida. Arizona, leading by only one point with seven minutes to play, shook loose from Columbia behind Al Fleming and Bob Elliott.

Mel Utley's 20 points led St. John's shocker of South Carolina.

Joe Hassett's 22 points led Providence past Drake. In achieving their seventh straight victory, the Friars raced to a 60 lead on Hassett's three long shots and held a comfortable 46-31 advantage at the half.

Kentucky beat Notre Dame behind Kevin Grevey's 28 points in a game that was tied inummerable times and featured plenty of rough board play.

With freshman Butch Lee scoring 17 points, Marquette pulled away in the second half to beat Virginia and win its Milwaukee Classic for the seventh straight year.

Alvan Adams scored 38 points to power Oklahoma past Oklahoma State.

Iowa State beat Kansas State 82-64 and Kansas nipped Nebraska 63-62 to gain tonight's finals of the Big Eight tourney.

In the finals of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City Sunday night, Centenary defeated Oklahoma City 91-80. Alabama, the nation's No. 7 team, defeated Houston 105-88 Sunday night in the first round of the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans. The Crimson Tide will play for the title tonight against LaSalle, a 69-64 winner over Furman. Virginia Commonwealth beat St. Peter's 86-68 and Texas A&M stopped Fairfield 62-57 to advance to the finals of the VCU Classic.

Cavaliers victors, but Austin Carr lost

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch is hoping the Cavaliers can adjust to the loss of their star shooter and playmaker Austin Carr.

The loss of their leading scorer, possibly for the rest of the season, was announced prior to the Cavaliers defeating the Atlanta Hawks 110-103 in a National Basketball Association game Sunday.

"It was a big victory for us," said Fitch, who said that Carr's injured knee was to be operated on this morning. "This could be a very long season if we don't adjust to playing without him."

Gator Bowl heads final college games

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Texas and Auburn, a couple of teams who disdain the forward pass in favor of basic, old-fashioned, grind-it-out ground games, kick off the final wave of college football bowl games tonight when they square off in the Gator Bowl.

The meeting between the sixth-ranked Auburn Tigers and the 11th-ranked Texas Longhorns will be nationally televised by ABC with game time at 9 p.m., EST. A crowd of about 62,000, somewhat short of the 70,000 capacity, is expected at Jacksonville, Fla.

On Tuesday night Nebraska and Florida will meet in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. Then, on New Year's Day, Penn State plays Baylor in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Southern California takes on Ohio State in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., with Notre Dame opposing Alabama in the Orange Bowl in Miami that night.

In Saturday's bowl action, Mississippi State nipped North Carolina 26-24 in the Sun Bowl, Vanderbilt and Texas Tech battled to a 6-6 tie in the Peach Bowl and Oklahoma State beat Brigham Young 16-6 in the Fiesta Bowl. In the Shrine All-Star Game, the East defeated the West 16-14.

Texas compiled an 8-3 record on an attack built around the running of freshman Earl Campbell, senior Roosevelt Leaks and Akins. Campbell paced the Longhorns with 928 yards rushing, a 5.7 average per carry.

Auburn fullback Secdrick McIntyre gained 863 yards on the ground, helping the Tigers to a 9-2 record. Rick Neel and Mitzi Jackson share the other backfield spot.

The Sugar Bowl matches Nebraska, 8-3, a team which depends on the passing of Dave Humm, against ground-oriented Florida, also 8-3.

Two of the premier runners in the country will be on display in the Rose Bowl, Southern Cal's Anthony Davis and Ohio State's Archie Griffin. Griffin won the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding player; Davis was the runnerup.

The Orange Bowl pits unbeaten Alabama, 11-0 and ranked No. 2, against Notre Dame, 9-2, which will be out to win its final game under outgoing Coach Ara Parseghian.

Alabama hopes that a big victory will give it the national crown.

"If we beat Notre Dame, I think we'll be No. 1 because there ain't gonna be nobody else 12-0," says Alabama Coach Bear Bryant.

Top-rated Oklahoma is 11-0 but won't have a chance to add to that because it is on National Collegiate Athletic Association probation and ineligible for bowl play.

The final Associated Press poll for the 1974 football season will be taken after the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Mississippi State rushed for 455 yards in the Sun Bowl, Walter Packer gaining 183 and Terry Vitrano 164, while North Carolina piled up 402 yards rushing in the losing effort.

After the Peach Bowl ended in a tie, Coaches Steve Sloan of Vanderbilt and Jim Carlen of Texas Tech called for an overtime period for bowl action. "It seems there should be a system to play off in bowl games," said Sloan. And Carlen added, "A tie bothers you."

Brigham Young failed to mount much of an offense after losing star quarterback Gary Sheide with a shoulder separation in the first quarter. Oklahoma State went ahead for good on a 12-yard run by Kenny Walker after an interception by Tony Buck of a pass by Sheide's backup man, Mark Giles.

A blocked punt and three interceptions against All-American quarterback Steve Bartkowski helped the East nip the West in the Shrine Game.

Layoff worries Hayes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Woody Hayes, a devotee of conservative, error-proof football, is a worried man on the eve of his Ohio State team's Rose Bowl encounter with Southern California.

"We've been off nearly five weeks. We could be mistake prone," Hayes told a horde of newsmen Sunday night at the team's hotel headquarters.

Even so, the Ohio State coach of 24 seasons will not abandon his close-to-the-vest style that has produced 202 career victories at Denison, Miami of Ohio and OSU.

"The fancy teams finish ninth and tenth in the conference," he asserted. "We'll let them do the bouncing around with the football. This isn't basketball, you know."

The Buckeyes committed only 14 major errors—10 lost fumbles and four interceptions—in whipping 10 of 11 regular season opponents to share the Big Ten crown with Michigan.

Southern California, the Pac-8 titleholder and 9-1-1 for all games, was guilty of nearly twice as many turnovers. The Trojans lost the ball 16 times on fumbles, 10 on interceptions.

Then does Hayes think turnovers will decide the New Year's Day duel before more than 100,000 in the Rose Bowl, and millions more watching on national television (NBC)?

"Mistakes can pretty well decide every game," he replied.

"Take that game today," Hayes continued, talking about Minnesota's 14-10 pro playoff victory over Los Angeles. "At first, no one wanted to accept the football."

Steelers seek first NFL title

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers are heading toward territory in which they've never trod before.

Oh, they've been in New Orleans before. In fact, they've won all three games they've played there. But never in their 42-year history have they played in a National Football League championship.

But on Jan. 12 in New Orleans, one of Art Rooney's dreams comes true. His Steelers will be playing for all the marbles.

The other dream. of course, is to win them. To do that, the Steelers will have to beat the Minnesota Vikings. But for now, beating Oakland is satisfaction enough for one of pro football's grand old men.

"I feel like a big shot," the subdued, twinkly-eyes 73-year-old president of the Steelers said as he puffed on a cigar, savoring both it and the 24-13 victory over the Raiders in Sunday's American Conference championship.

And how would it have felt to accompany his players on the plane back to Pittsburgh had they lost? "It would have been like taking the body of a loved one back home," he said.

But his loved ones—like a doting, patient parent, Rooney suffered through 39 years of failure with them before they ever played their first playoff game — are very much alive and kicking.

In fact, they kicked Oakland's rushing game in the teeth, kicked apart Ken Stabler's dreams of a second straight miracle comeback and kicked the Raiders out of the playoff game they were favored to win.

If there really is a mystical force called destiny, Rooney will get his championship in two weeks. His Steelers already believe in it.

"It was meant to be. We were meant to win this thing," quarterback Terry Bradshaw said after his cool, precise signal calling and passing carried Pittsburgh to the summit of Super Bowl IX. "We knew we were going to win this game ... we came here with the confidence to win."

Bradshaw threw the ball only 17 times — and he didn't even have to do that. Not with Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier behind him, waiting to take the ball and run it down the Raiders' throats.

Harris bulldozed his way through the astoundingly malleable Oakland line 29 times for 111 yards and two touchdowns. And when the Raiders managed to stop him — which was rare — Bleier was right there, adding 98 yards on 18 carries.

Even Bradshaw got into the ground game, rushing three times for 15 yards. And astonishingly, his total was more than half the total yardage gained by entire Oakland running corps.

Twenty-one times the Raiders punched into Pittsburgh's front line of defense. The result was a meager 29 yards, a new low for an AFC title game.

"They gave us nothing on the ground," Oakland Coach John Madden understated. "Our passing was sufficient but we just couldn't get the run going. I can't remember when our ground game was shut down that effectively ... to win, you've got to have a mixture on offense. We were able to call the mixture, but we couldn't make it go."

Minnesota trims Los Angeles, 14-10

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — In a strange, error-filled battle, the opportunistic Minnesota Vikings have rolled to their second straight National Football Conference championship and another Super Bowl appearance with a 14-10 victory over Los Angeles.

"We just made too many mistakes in opportune situations," said Rams' quarterback James Harris, who completed 13 of 23 pass attempts for 248 yards. "They played better than we did and beat us."

Minnesota, which has gained a reputation of turning opponent mistakes into championships, lost the ball four times Sunday on turnovers. However, the Rams were plagued by five turnovers and numerous tactical blunders — particularly seven penalties including an offside infraction which occurred at the Vikings' one.

Minnesota took a 7-0 lead in the second period when Jim Lash, a second-year wide receiver from Northwestern, hauled in a 29-yard scoring pass from Fran Tarkenton a step ahead of LA right cornerback Al Clark.

The Rams countered with David Ray's 27-yard field goal to cut the deficit to 7-3 by halftime.

Then, in the third quarter, a series of unlikely developments unfolded.

The Vikings' Mike Eischeid punted the ball out of bounds at the LA one. The Rams, sparked by a 73-yard pass play from Harris to wide receiver Harold Jackson on a broken play, moved to the Minnesota one.

Jackson had dashed 50 yards after taking a desperation pass from Harris near midfield, and was knocked out of bounds inside the two by Viking defensive back Jeff Wright.

After the five-yard penalty set LA back to the six, Harris scrambled for four yards, but on the next play he was intercepted by Wally Hilgenberg in the end zone. Harris' pass, intended for tight end Pat Curran, was deflected by Viking defensive back Jackie Wallace.

Minnesota quickly drove 80 yards with veteran running back Dave Osborn hurdling the final yard to push the Vikings into a 14-3 advantage early in the fourth quarter.

Harris got the Rams back into the game three minutes later when he combined with Jackson on a scoring pass covering 44 yards to chop the Minnesota lead to 14-10.

However, many of the players expected to be central figures in the outcome of NFC title match had trouble throughout the game played in bright sunshine and a 31 degree temperature.

The Rams' Lawrence McCutcheon was limited to 32 yards in a dozen carries. Minnesota's Chuck Foreman managed 80 yards in 22 carries, but fumbled four times. Tarkenton also was obviously not operating in top form, overthrowing his receivers several times and being intercepted on another poor throw.

"The Rams defense is the toughest I've ever played against," said Tarkenton. "They did a lot of things which took away a good part of our offense."

And the Rams did a lot of things to take away from their own offense.

"If you can't smile now you never will," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant.

Defense leads Bucks to 115-89 win

By ALEX SACHARE
ap sports Writer

When Larry Costello talks to his Milwaukee Bucks about defense, he gets instant results.

Milwaukee held a 63-59 halftime lead over the New York Knicks Sunday night, but Costello wasn't happy with his team's defensive play, and he told the Bucks so during the intermission.

They responded by limiting New York to just six points in the third period, the lowest scoring quarter by any team in the National Basketball Association this season. The Bucks outscored New York 19-6 in the quarter, opened an 82-65 lead and coasted to a 115-89 triumph.

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday night, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Atlanta Hawks 110-103, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings edged the Portland Trail Blazers 103-99 and the Boston Celtics whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 121-101.

In the American Basketball Association, the Kentucky Colonels topped the Momphis Sounds 125-114, the Denver Nuggets nipped the San Antonio Spurs 124-121 and the San Diego Conquistadors beat the Spirits of St. Louis 126-114.

One of the year's most significant events in photography took place with the opening of the International Center of Photography in New York in mid-November with three concurrent exhibitions.

About 1,500 well-wishers attended the ICP debut not only to see three major displays by outstanding photographers, but with a sense of the drama and significance at the birth of a photographic institution.

For the International Center of Photography, under director Cornell Capa, is more than a museum devoted only to photography. It has the spirit of a sanctuary or shrine dedicated to the preservation of meaningful photography of the past; it has the stature and ability to select and present notable achievements of today; and it has the soul and vitality to inform and inspire not only the public but photographers of the future.

One of the exhibitions reached into the past with "Classics of Documentary Photography" with about 100 prints representing work by Lewis W. Hine, Werner Bischof, Robert Capa, David Seymour — "Chim" —, Dan Weiner and Roman Vishniac.

It was Hine, about 60 years ago, who defined the role of a concerned photographer: "There were two things I wanted to do. I wanted to show the things that had to be corrected. And I wanted to show the things that had to be appreciated."

That credo is one of the cornerstones of ICP, ably carried out by these humanist photographers.

A second exhibition, "The Eye of the Beholder," is by 21 masters of color photography. A testament to human vision, the show's 57 large color prints were donated by the photographers to help the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. Among the contributors: David Douglas Duncan, Doug Faulkner, Ernst Haas, Jay Maisel, Takeyoshi Tanuma and Pete Turner.

And then there was Henry Cartier-Bresson, a star of first magnitude, who illuminated the debut with his exhibition, "Apropos U.S.S.R. (1954-1973)." He journeyed to New York to assist in setting up the display of approximately 60 prints selected from the two trips made to the Soviet Union almost two decades apart. They are superbly perceptive pictures of moments in the lives of people we know little about, precisely framed to include useful information about them.

Not many of the opening night guests saw the famous French artist because he didn't stay inside long enough to be recognized. Cartier-Bresson, notoriously shy about having his own picture taken, retreated to the street when he saw the large number of camera-toting photographers present inside.

I chatted with him outside and he recalled having worked with my younger brother, Max Desfor, on an exciting story in India in 1948, the cremation ceremony of Mahatma Gandhi. He told me Max was able to be helpful to him then and, 26 years later, he still remembered and was grateful.

The matter of his reluctance to be photographed arose and Cartier-Bresson explained that his success as a photographer depends on his remaining anonymous, free to move around and shoot inconspicuously. If people recognized him, he would lose the freedom he now enjoys.

A graphic demonstration of his philosophy was taking place at that moment inside the ICP building.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, former photographer herself, dropped by to see the exhibitions and wish Capa well on this great undertaking.

News that she was present sped through the crowds on two floors, the pitch of excitement noticeably rose, and a surge of people closed around her. She became the focal point for the camera-toters present — myself included — though she was difficult to isolate as a subject.

Jackie Onassis didn't avoid the cameras, nor did she consciously pose for them. She was smiling, charming and friendly, stopping to chat with people who introduced themselves. Her warmest greeting was for Cornell Capa as an old friend from White House days.

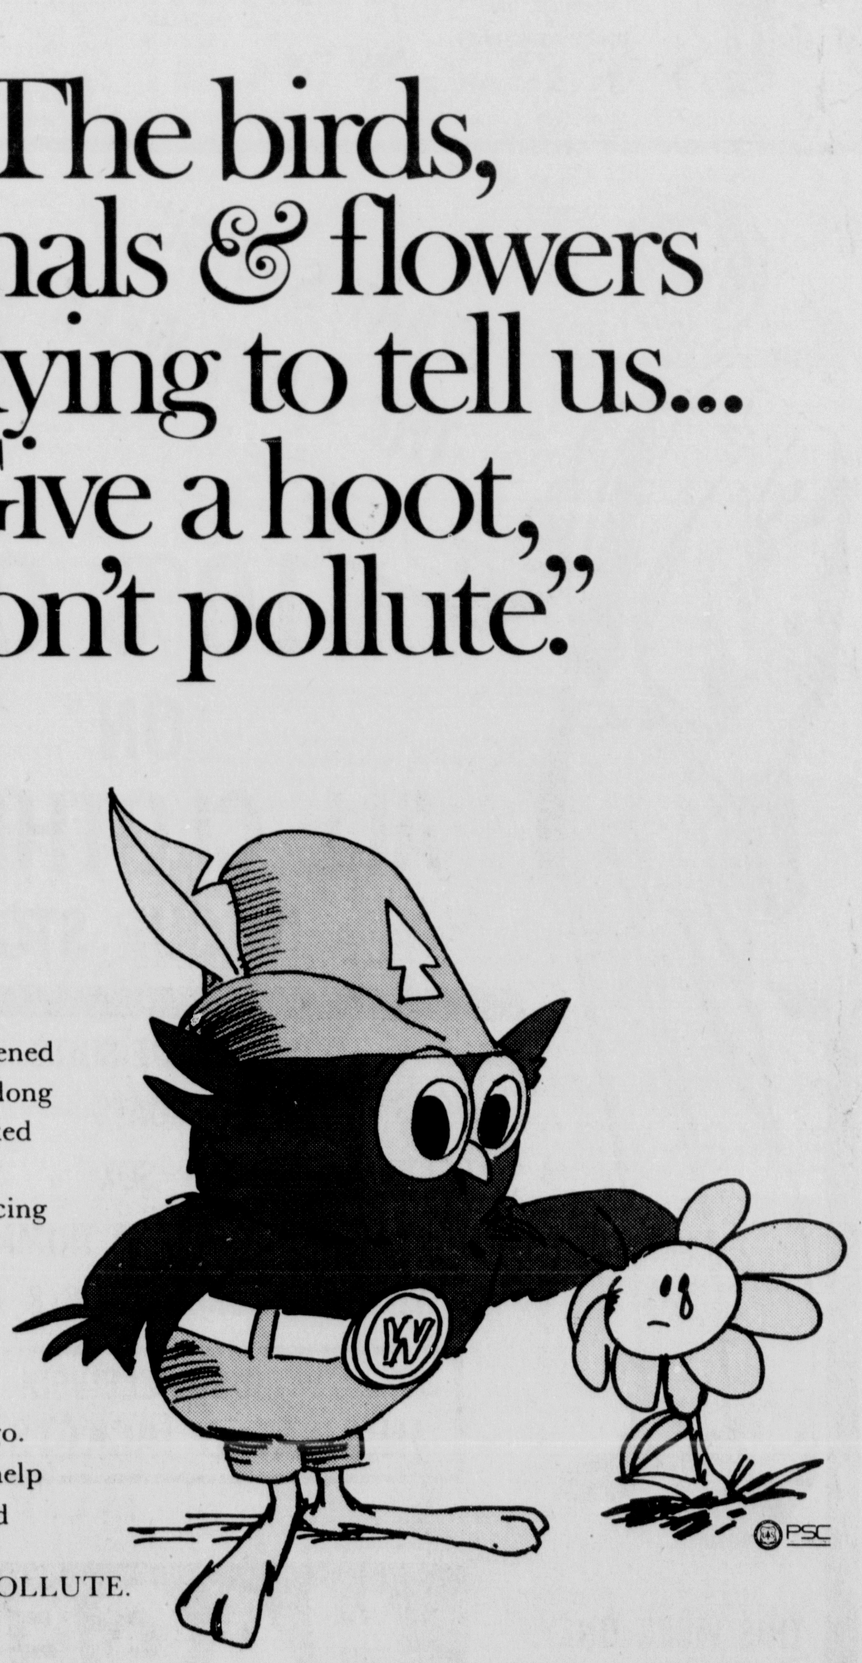
She expressed her feelings about the new International Center of Photography and the exhibition pictures, sentiments later verified on a TV interview.

"The ICP is something we should all be grateful for," she said. "Not only does it preserve a landmark — a gracious, old building — but it gives it new life and vitality. It brings us awareness of other people, other places, other cultures. It's opening something that all young — everyone, for that matter — can be interested in, something artistic and that can be an instrument of change.

"The pictures here have terribly moving moments in people's lives . . . the things that touch people most. Photographers can affect people . . . can make them care what they gave their lives for, like Robert Capa," she added. "Maybe people will see things differently now—you know, care."

It was an exciting, auspicious inauguration of a photographic institution that can become a vital force in the art of photography as a means of communication. In the two weeks following the opening.

The birds, animals & flowers are dying to tell us... "Give a hoot, don't pollute."



Everywhere you look, our environment is being threatened by pollution. Wild flowers along our roadsides are being picked rather than admired.
Smog is killing trees, it's forcing birds to find new homes.
Fish are running out of clean water. Just what's being done about it?
A lot. But we've got a lot more to do, a long way to go.
Let's all do our part. And help keep the birds, animals, and flowers alive.

Candidate for Pernicious Anemia?

Two members of my family have pernicious anemia. I constantly worry that I, too, will get it. Is it possible for me to be tested to see if I'm a candidate for this disease?

Mr. E. R. E., Iowa

Dear Mr. E.:

Even though there seems to be a family tendency to pernicious anemia this should not be a destructive force in your life. The chances are slight that you, too, will develop this blood disorder.

Pernicious anemia can be detected by the many excellent definitive tests of the blood. In the absence of positive evidence, there is no way to predict the disease.

The great strides made in the treatment of pernicious anemia with vitamin B-12 have made it possible for people with "P.A." to live normal, healthy lives.

Our youngest child is poorly coordinated. His health is excellent. We wonder how we should proceed with this problem.

Mrs. G. B., Fla.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Clumsiness and poor coordination, defects in reading and poor concentration may be caused by undetected and unrecognized eye problems.

Dyslexia, an all-inclusive term for many of these problems, can be ruled out with specialized instruments. A neurological examination and a complete physical workup must be done for the early detection of a possible disorder.

In the absence of any physical condition, tutoring can be helpful in sports and games. This must be done on an individual basis rather than in competition with other children.

In this way, embarrassment can be avoided. Children who are made conscious of their clumsiness have a tendency to avoid social contacts.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH...One of the greatest gifts that can be given to a young child is to avoid overindulgence. Their sense of security stems from the reasonable but firm limits that are established for them.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	6 ♥
6 NT !	Pass	7 ♣	Dble

Opening lead—nine of clubs.

This remarkable hand occurred in the 1964 Trials. At seven of the nine tables, East-West bid and made six hearts for 1,430 points. At the eighth table, East-West bid four hearts and made six for 680 points.

But at the ninth table, all hell broke loose and South got to seven clubs doubled, going down eleven—3,200 points!

Harkavy passed as dealer and Erdos opened four clubs, a conventional bid that announced a long heart suit in a relatively weak hand.

After Russell passed, Petterson responded four notrump, and upon learning that Erdos had no aces he jumped to six hearts.

Convinced that the slam would be made, and hoping to uncover a profitable sacrifice in the seven level, Harkavy came forth with six notrump. This highly unusual bid proclaimed length in diamonds and clubs, and asked South to respond in his better minor.

Russell obediently bid seven clubs, which West doubled.

Petterson made the excellent lead of a trump. Declarer finessed the queen, losing to the king, and won the jack of clubs return with the ace. He then led the spade ten which lost to the jack.

West returned the queen of hearts, and had East won it with the king and drawn trumps, the defense would have taken the rest of the tricks. But when East allowed the queen to win and West continued with the ace, declarer was able to ruff and in that way acquire a second trick.

Thanks to the slip in the defense, Russell went down "only" 3,200 points—an extraordinarily high price to pay for stopping a slam.

WAHANKA KA TA

The Wahanka Ka Ta Camp Fire group meeting took place at Wilson school, when Denise Tate brought the meeting to order. Kari Wolfe, vice president, led the Pledge of Allegiance and the group then made Christmas gifts of doorknob decorations. They were made of felt and glitter.

A Christmas party was also enjoyed and a gift exchange. Refreshments were served by Lee Ann Mattson. On Jan. 15, Jo Lynn Bobst will be in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Yarger was assisted by Mrs. Grant Baxter and Mrs. Harold Evans.

HAPPY BLUEBIRDS

All members of the Happy Bluebirds met at Belle-Aire School for a Christmas party and gift exchange. Debbie Forsha gave the roll call and Stephanie Hatmacher collected dues with each girl responding by naming one thing she wanted most for Christmas.

Refreshments of Christmas cookies and punch were served by Mrs. Boswell and Mrs. Wyatt. The girls then exchanged gifts among each other and were presented with gifts from Mrs. Boswell, her assistants and sponsor. Several girls presented the leaders with lovely gifts.

Christmas music was enjoyed by the group during the party and before leaving for home the girls joined in a friendship circle singing carols and wishing everyone a Merry Christmas.

The next meeting will be Jan. 6 with Loretta Self responsible for refreshments.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What do television series stars do during their between-season vacations? In the case of Michael Douglas, he's producing a $3-million movie.

The talented son of Kirk Douglas finished his third season of "The Streets of San Francisco" this month. In January he starts producing "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" starring Jack Nicholson and directed by Milos Forman. The film will be made almost entirely at the Oregon State Mental Hospital at Salem.

Young Douglas, 30, is an example of a modern maverick working inside the Establishment. It seemed inevitable that he would go into acting — his mother, Diana Dill, is an actress, and his father is one of the screen's most durable stars.

"One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" has a long history, dating back to 1963, when Kirk Douglas starred in the Broadway play. It had a one-month run, but was not a success.

"People came out of the play loving it," said Michael, "but they told their friends, 'It's okay — if you like laughing at crazy people.' Attitudes toward mental illness were different then."

Kirk Douglas bought the movie rights and twice neared production, but the deals fell through. Law suits over ownership of the property further stalled the film version, and Douglas decided three years ago to dispose of the play.

"Let me take it over," his son urged. "I can at least get back what you put into it."

Characteristically, Michael Douglas declined to take "Cuckoo's Nest" to major companies, seeking instead to make the film with complete independence. He finally found a backer: Sol Zaentz, operator of the Berkeley-based Fantasy Records, home of the Credence Clearwater Revival and other rock stars.

The movie, as well as other factors, appears to have interrupted plans for Douglas to marry actress Brenda Vaccaro, with whom he has lived for five years. "With all the work I've had preparing the picture, plus problems with the families, it got to be too much of a hassle," said Douglas.

Toronto and Montreal were the first cities in Canada to use horse-drawn cars for public transport.

Stolen truck demolished; driver, passengers hurt

A truck stolen from Robert E. Wolfe, 503 S. North St., was demolished in an accident which injured its driver and two passengers at 3 a.m. Sunday, Washington C. H. police reported.

The incident occurred after Wolfe left three of his friends at a downtown tavern at 2:20 a.m. Sunday, stating he would return shortly.

The three, Alan M. Jordan, 19, of 94 Jamison Road; Alan D. Knisley, 19, Norfolk, Va.; and Edward O. Brill, 19, of Jamison Road, allegedly drove the truck out into the county where Jordan, the driver, lost control and crashed into a fence owned by Karl E. Krieger, of near Jeffersonville, on Jeffersonville-West Lancaster Road. Jordan then drove away with his two passengers.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported the three men were treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital: Jordan for injury to his right shoulder; Knisley for pain to the lower back area and right knee and abrasions; and Brill for pain in the left arm and hand.

Sheriff's deputies charged Jordan with leaving the scene of an accident.

Two hit-skip mishaps probed

A hit-skip mishap and two minor traffic accidents were reported by Washington C.H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department also reported a hit-skip incident which they are presently investigating.

An auto belonging to Eugene Ladrach was struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked in front of his 619 Warren Ave. home, at 6:45 a.m. Sunday, Washington C.H. police reported. An investigation is in progress.

A car driven by Mabel F. Walker, 65, Circleville, struck the rear of a car driven by George W. Moon, 30, Greenfield, at 3:53 p.m. Saturday, when the Moon auto slowed at the intersection of E. Court and Fayette streets for a pedestrian.

Police reported slight damage and no injuries.

A car driven by Jack Milburn, 71, of 604 Belle-Aire Place, backed into a parked car belonging to Julia F. Moore, 726 N. Oak St., at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, while leaving a parking place on E. Court Street, near the N. North Street intersection.

Police estimated damage was minor.

An unidentified driver struck a car belonging to Phillip Grooms, of 2324 Snowhill Rd., sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Sunday, while the Grooms' auto was parked in a private lane off the intersection of Rowe-Ging and Snowhill roads.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the crash knocked the parked car 10 inches.

$8 million in statehouse renovation set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Eight million dollars will be spent in the next two years to make Ohio's Statehouse more historically authentic, while making the structure itself more modern and functional.

Those are the guidelines for the architectural firm which will handle the renovation project, according to Dellas H. Harder, member of the AHKKS Architects Planners, Inc.

The project should be completed by early 1977, some 139 years after Ohio selected the design for the Capitol.

"The Statehouse is probably the most historic building in the state," Harder said. "It is certainly one of the older ones . . . one of the most important and . . . one of the very fine examples of Greek Revival architecture."

When the project is completed the Statehouse should be more historically authentic than it's been for decades.

Harder said he anticipates no change in the building's exterior and little or none in the rotunda, hallways, the "very distinctive" legislative chambers and other "ceremonial spaces."

Our job is to extend its useful life while meeting the requirements for historic accuracy," he explained.

Harder, who will be in charge of the Statehouse project, handles much of the restoration work for the Ohio Historical Society.

Harder said detailed planning must wait until completion of a management study, due in March, but the architect said he sees no reason the present Statehouse interior can't be blended with contemporary practicality and some restoration of original detail.

Mills admits alcoholism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills said today he intends to remain in Congress despite an illness that he described as acute alcoholism.

"I know that I am a well man as long as I do not drink, and, by the grace of God and with competent medical advice and the support of friends, I will remain well," Mills said. He added:

"In light of the above, it is my intention to continue in the Congress of the United States. My years of experience have given me some ability to make a contribution toward the solution of the problems of the times in which we live," the Arkansas Democrat said.

Burglary tops offense reports

A burglary, an incident of property destruction and a larceny were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department today. Washington C.H. police investigated an incident of vandalism and a larceny.

The Hockman Grain Co., of Mount Sterling, was burglarized by thieves who pried the front door open sometime between 12 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday and rifled the candy vending machine for an undetermined amount of money.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

The rear windshield of an auto belonging to James Gooldin, of Columbus, was broken sometime between Dec. 20 and Sunday, while the vehicle was parked at the Walter Gooldin residence in Mount Sterling.

Sheriff's deputies estimated the damage at $125.

Thirteen traps belonging to Bob Hunter, 431 Walnut St., were taken from the small creek off Lewis Road sometime during last week, sheriff's deputies reported.

Hunter's name along with the name of Steve McMurray are on the traps.

A car belonging to William Newland, Greenfield, was vandalized sometime between 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday, while parked in the 200 block of N. Main Street.

Washington C.H. police reported the left front tire was deflated and the rotor taken out of the distributor.

Billfolds belonging to Nancy Glass, of Bloomingburg, and Mary Paradise, 4016 Palmer Rd., were stolen from the women's lockers in the ladies lounge at Kroger's, S. Main Street, sometime between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Washington police reported.

Ms. Glass lost $60 and Ms. Paradise lost $29 and a $100 check, along with credit cards and personal papers belonging to the women.

Police are investigating.

Split rail crash cause

THOMPSONTOWN, Pa (AP)— Penn Central officials say a split rail caused the derailment over the weekend of a 17-car Amtrak passenger liner, resulting in minor injuries to 56 persons.

The Broadway Limited, with 435 passengers on board, was en route from Chicago to New York when the mishap occurred Saturday morning about 40 miles northwest of Harrisburg.

A railroad spokesman said the top of part of the track was split vertically, causing 13 cars to slip off the rail as it was rounding a curve.

Resignations mark CIA house-cleaning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three more top officials in the CIA's counterintelligence division are stepping down in the midst of a reported policy dispute and allegations that the agency was involved in domestic spying.

Along with the resignation of counterintelligence chief James J. Angleton, the three departures leave vacant the top command of the division, which is known to have disagreed sharply with CIA Director William E. Colby over detente with the Soviet Union and Colby's public discussions of agency activities.

"Colby is using this to clean house," a well-informed source said of the departures.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Angleton, named in published reports as the overseer of the alleged domestic spy operation, once served on an interagency panel that reported directly to the White House on the threat of domestic demonstrations and disturbances.

The so-called Intelligence Evaluation Committee was headed by Robert C. Mardian, former assistant attorney general and now a defendant in the Watergate cover-up trial. The sources said the committee was assisted by a staff which included Richard Ober, who has been named as the man who ran the CIA's alleged domestic surveillance activities on a day-to-day basis.

Angleton has denied any involvement in illegal domestic spying. Ober, once an aide to Angleton and now on the National Security Council staff, has declined to comment.

In addition to Angleton, 57, whose resignation was requested by Colby 10 days ago, Raymond Rocca, 57, No. 2 man in the counterintelligence division, Newton S. Miler, 48, chief of operations, and William J. Hood, 54, executive officer, are also leaving the agency at the end of this month. Rocca, Miler and Hood confirmed Sunday they were stepping down, but declined to discuss their reasons.

The CIA's mandatory retirement age is 65 for most of its employes, but the agency requires those who have served overseas to retire at age 60 and urges others to do so as well.

One source said Miler had been Angleton's choice to ultimately succeed him as counterintelligence chief.

A source who worked with all four officials said their decisions were influenced in part by added benefits available to government employes who retire before the end of the year. However, the source said allegations of domestic surveillance and a long standing policy dispute with Colby were the major factors in the retirements of Rocca and Miler.

It was learned that Angleton's name was mentioned in one draft of the 50-page report on the alleged domestic spying that Colby has forwarded to President Ford. Details of the reference to Angleton could not be determined.

A well-informed source said the counterintelligence staff disagreed "totally" with Colby over interpretation of events in the Soviet bloc and was more suspicious than higher policymakers about the Soviet Union's expressed desire for detente.

Angleton and his staff were said by this source to believe that the agency was being destroyed by Colby's disclosures of agency activities, including CIA involvement in Chile and agency contacts with U.S. journalists abroad.

The source added that the counterintelligence staff objected in general to Colby's policy of increased public appearances, particularly his debate earlier this year with Daniel Ellsberg at a panel sponsored by a research group critical of the CIA.

Hood was identified by several sources as head of the agency's operations in New York City during the early 1970's. The New York Times reported in its Sunday edition that as many as 25 CIA agents spied on antiwar activists and other militants in New York during the late 1960's and early 1970's. Hood called the report "absolute nonsense."

On Sunday, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said on ABC News' "Issues and Answers" that he had learned from what he called very reliable sources of his own that the CIA did conduct surveillance, break-ins and wiretaps while spying on American citizens in this country.

Proxmire called for establishment of "an independent special prosecutor with subpoena powers who will prosecute every illegal action by CIA agents, past or present." He also said Congress should amend the act creating the CIA to clear up any ambiguity over the prohibition against domestic operations by the agency.

Time magazine reported this week that Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and three congressmen were targets of CIA surveillance during the 1960's.

A well-informed source told The Associated press he had searched CIA files in 1970 in response to a request from a special House subcommittee investigating possible impeachment proceedings against Douglas. But the source said he found only a newspaper clipping mentioning Douglas as a director of a foundation which had connections with the CIA in the Dominican Republic and a prospectus from the foundation in which Douglas was again identified as a director.

As for the late Sen. Edward Long of Missouri, Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., and former Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher of New Jersey, also named by Time as targets of CIA spying, the source said, "We wouldn't have the slightest interest." Pepper said that Colby had called him Sunday to assure him that the CIA was not keeping a file on him.

Tax cut proposal pondered by Ford

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford has been urged by some of his economic advisers to push for a tax cut to bolster the faltering economy.

Ford also was reported ready to abandon his proposed income tax surcharge, a measure he urged earlier this year when he declared inflation to be public enemy No. 1.

However, the deepening recession reportedly has led some White House economic advisers to push for a tax cut. That advice was said to have been given to Ford over the weekend when he met with his economic advisers.

There was no indication whether Ford will propose a tax cut. Ford has sworn his advisers to secrecy, and press Secretary Ron Nessen has said that Ford will not announce any new programs until his State of the Union address sometime after the new Congress convenes on Jan. 14. But Nessen said Ford plans "fundamental changes" in the management of the nation's economy.

The President's reappraisal of the income tax surcharge was widely predicted when it became clear that the surcharge had very little support in Congress, even among lawmakers from Ford's own party.

As Ford continues his working vacation here, he is facing decisions on 122 bills passed by Congress. He must act by midnight tonight on a controversial measure to control strip mining.

Ford has promised to veto the bill on the grounds that it would discourage coal production and add to inflationary pressures.

Nessen has said Ford has but two options on strip mining: to sign a formal veto message or simply let the legislation die without his signature. In recent days, however, some businessmen who presumably would be adversely affected by the bill have urged Ford to change his mind and sign it lest the new Congress vote a tougher measure.

Now in the homeward-bound stretch of his work-and-ski vacation that began Dec. 22, Ford sandwiched about two hours of skiing between work sessions at his snow-covered ski chalet Sunday.

He has been on the slopes each day here except Friday when he held a day-long conference with energy policy advisers.

Two defendants deny guilt at arraignment

Two defendants indicted by the final session of the 1974 Fayette County grand jury appeared before Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman Monday and entered pleas of not guilty to charges.

Phillip K. Moore, 323 N. Hinde St., who was represented by Robert Simpson, entered the innocent plea to a charge of malicious vandalism in connection with the destruction of property at Miami Trace High School following the Miami Trace-Washington C.H. football game in November. Moore was placed on his own recognizance by Judge Coffman Monday.

Pleading not guilty to three counts of possessing stolen property was Charles R. McLean, 20, Meneca, Pa., who was arrested by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies Nov. 16.

McLean was charged with having in his possession a stolen automobile and two stolen credit cards. He wss represented by Robert Simpson. A request to reduce a $5,000 bond on McLean was denied by Judge coffman.

Arraignment for Harold E. Smith, 21, of 111 Water St., was continued one week in order to obtain court appointed counsel. Smith was indicted on counts of grand theft and robbery and Judge Coffman continued bond at $10,000.

He was extradited from Clarksville, Tenn., Dec. 6 by Washington C.H. police officers and charged in connection with the mugging of a Washington C.H. man last May. The man was allegedly lured by a woman to the vicinity of Washington Junior High School where she, Smith and two other men beat and robbed him. The other three persons pleaded guilty to the charges earlier this year.

James H. Burba Jr., 40, Hillsboro, was placed on two years probation Dec. 24, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a bogus check in the amount of $580, cashed at the Washington C.H. Wrecking Co.

One other indictment concerned the forgery of a $98 check but the person has yet to be arrested by local officials in connection with the charge.

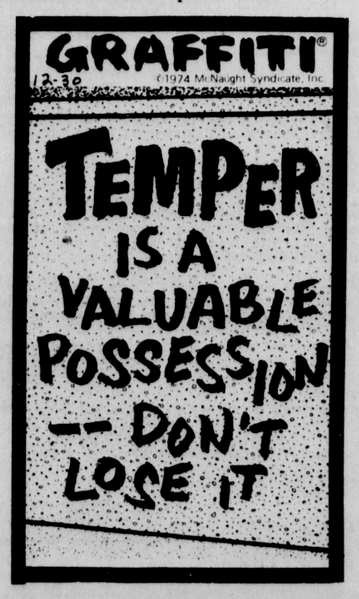
Judge Coffman sentenced a Washington C.H. man to the Ohio State Reformatory in Mansfield Monday to serve the remainder of a one to 20 year sentence on charges of shooting with intent to kill and auto larceny in November, 1972.

Ronald F. Frazier, who had been returned from the Lima State Hospital following observation and evaluation since March, 1973, was represented by Walter Seifried.

Kissinger most admired

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger heads the Gallup Poll's list of men most admired by Americans for the second straight year.

Second in the poll this year was the Rev. Billy Graham, followed by President Ford. It was the fifth consecutive year that the Rev. Mr. Graham was runnerup, and Ford took the post held last year by his predecessor, former President Richard M. Nixon. It was the fifth time in the poll's 28-year history that an incumbent president failed to place first.



Variety of gifts awaiting first 1975 baby, parents

A bundle of gifts rivaling the assortment in Santa's pack awaits the first baby born to Fayette County parents in 1975.

Twelve merchants will greet the arrival of the new Fayette County citizen with practical tokens of welcome.

Some are for the baby to enjoy upon arrival at his new home; others will be more especially designed for the parents and all will be useful.

All babies born to Fayette County residents after the clock strikes midnight Tuesday, regardless of where they come into the world, are eligible.

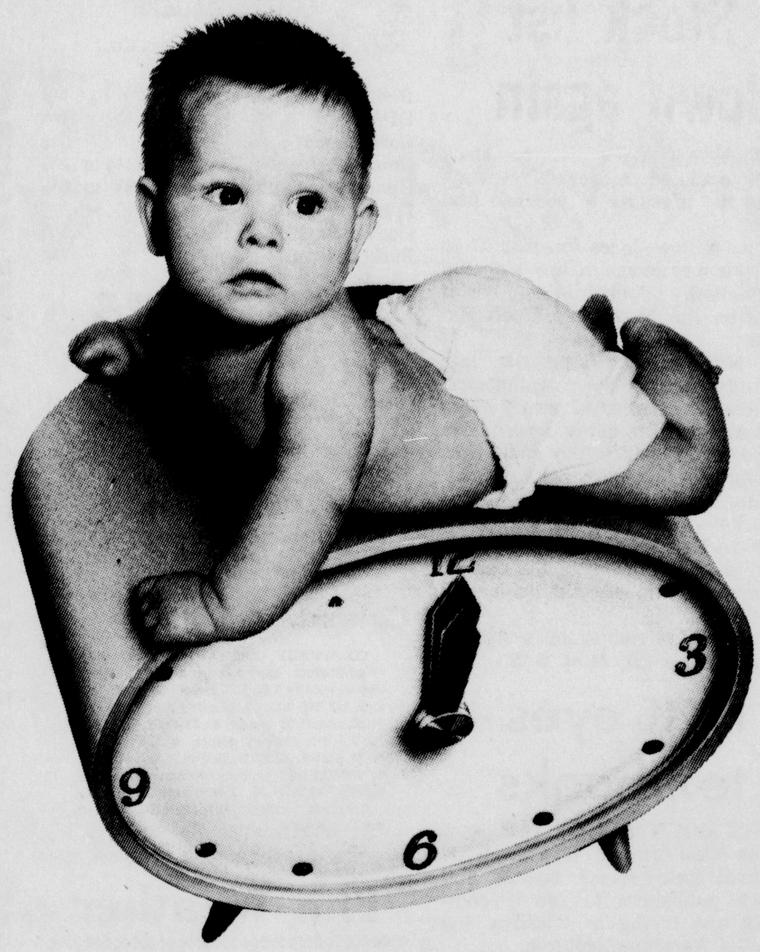
THE BIRTH must be recorded within 10 days at the Fayette County Health Department and a copy of the birth certificate must be made available to The Record-Herald.

It is important that the exact time of birth be noted, for just one minute could make the difference in awarding the gifts and honors.

The deadline for reporting the birth is midnight Friday, Jan. 10.

The merchants and gifts they have awaiting the first baby are:

A floral arrangement from Mari LeeFlowers;a baby blanket from Craig's Department Store; baby food from Hidy's Foods; a fork and spoon set from Boylan Jewelers; a blanket and bonnet from Risch's Drug Store; a free checking account for one year from the First National Bank in Washington C.H.; a baby walker from Buckeye Mart; a pair of shoes from Kaufman's Bargain Store; a six-piece step-up set of silver flatware from the C.A. Gossard Co.; a savings account and a $10 deposit from the Fayette County Bank; an 8x10 black and white portrait from Jennings Photography, and a six-month gift subscription from The Record-Herald.



Sirica charges coverup jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica is going to tell jurors in the Watergate cover-up trial that the pardon granted Richard M. Nixon should not be factor in their deliberations.

"Neither the pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon nor any other case or extraneous matters should have any effect on your deliberations or your verdict," Sirica said in the instructions he planned to read to the jury today.

After hearing the judge's instructions on the legal issues in the case, the nine women and three men who have listened to 11 weeks of arguments and testimony will begin the task of deciding the guilt or innocence of the five defendants.

The long trial was the climax of the scandal that forced Nixon to resign the presidency less than two years after he was reelected by one of the largest margins ever.

The grand jury that returned the cover-up indictment last March 1, also named Nixon, then still president, an unindicted co-conspirator.

The five defendants are former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, ex-White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee.

All were charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate breakin. All but Mardian were charged with obstruction of justice and Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman also were charged with lying to the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee.

In addition to telling the jurors not to be influenced by the Nixon pardon, Sirica said they should "not draw any inference against any party because a particular prospective witness may not have appeared."

Sirica urged the jurors to decide the case "solely on the evidence presented here in court."

The jury has heard testimony from more than 80 witnesses, about 30 of whom were called by the prosecutors. All five defendants testified.

But some of the most dramatic and damning words the jurors heard were from the White House tapes.

The jury listened to 31 tapes, most of which covered conversations involving Nixon and his top aides.

During their deliberations the jurors will be able to listen again to any of the tapes they already have heard.

The final week of the trial, interrupted by a two-day Christmas recess, was taken up by final arguments from prosecution and defense lawyers.

The prosecution summation took about six hours. The five defense lawyers spent a total of more than 14 hours.

Earthquake toll 4,700 in Pakistan

PATTAN, Pakistan (AP) — The earthquake that hit northern Pakistan during the weekend killed an estimated 4,700 persons and injured about 15,000 in nine villages, rescue officials said today. They said the final casualty toll could be even higher when reports arrive from isolated regions north of Pattan.

The villages were clustered about Pattan, nestled among the snow-capped Karakoram Mountains about 200 miles north of the Pakistani capital of Islamabad. The quake struck Saturday evening and tremors followed intermittently for the next 24 hours. First word of the disaster was brought out by runners.

The quake almost destroyed this village of 10,000, leaving hardly one house intact. Senior army officers taking part in rescue operations estimated 500 inhabitants of Pattan were dead and 2,000 injured.

Army rescue teams have been working around the clock since shortly after the quake struck, treating the injured, pulling bodies from the wreckage and mounting a helicopterborne mercy airlift.

Because of the widespread damage to houses many people have been sleeping in the open in temperatures that drop to near freezing at night Nearly every family has reported losing one or more relatives in the disaster.

Efforts to bring in more blankets and tents have been hampered because the Karakoram Highway, the country's main one which runs through the disaster-struck region, has been either severed or demolished along a 70-mile stretch.

Some of the seriously injured were flown to hospitals in Rawalpindi.

Quakes occurred Sunday northwest of Anchorage, Alaska; at Richmond, Calif., in the San Francisco Bay area, and in central Chile. There were no reports of casualties or serious damage.

Officials described the noontime Chilean earthquake as "very long and intense."

Two moderate earthquakes hit near Anchorage, Alaska — the first about the same time as the Chilian tremor and the second about five hours later. Both registered 4.8 on the Richter scale.

A quake struck the Richmond, Calif. area about 7½ hours earlier than the Chilean tremor, registering 3.5 on the Richter scale.

Richter scale measurements of the Chilean and Pakistani earthquakes were not available.

The Richter scale is a means of measuring a quake in which every number on the scale means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a magnitude of 7.5 is 10 times greater than one of 6.5.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906 registered 8.25.

U. N. chief fears war in spring

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says the chances of a new Middle East war will be "very real" unless there is a breakthrough toward an Arab-Israeli political settlement by spring.

By that time, he explained in a year-end interview, the mandates of the peacekeeping forces run out and their renewal will require the consent of Israel, Egypt and Syria.

"I think the decision of the parties concerned would then depend on the kind of progress which has been made between now and that time," Waldheim said.

The mandate for the U.N. Emergency Force separating Egyptian and Israeli troops in the Sinai ends on April 24. That of the U.N. Disengagement Observer Force between Syrian and Israeli troops is up on May 31.

On other subjects, Waldheim said he:

—Disagrees with the contention of the United States that the Asian, African and Communist members of the U.N. General Assembly exercised a "tyranny of the majority" in the session that has just ended.

—Does not expect a cutback in voluntary U.S. contributions to the world organization despite adverse congressional reaction to various Assembly votes.

—Believes the oil-price confrontation which has developed during the past year proves that cooperation is necessary between the producers of raw materials and the industrialized world.

Waldheim said on the basis of his recent visits to Syria, Israel and Egypt, he believes that all three countries want to negotiate a settlement. But they all emphasized that if a settlement is not reached soon, they are ready for war, he said.

The former Austrian foreign minister said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger "and other governments" are continuing a step-by-step policy, seeking a peace settlement.

He said resumption of the Geneva peace talks — which the Soviet government is urging — depends on how the step-bystep negotiations go along. A key issue in the Geneva talks will be whether to let the Palestine Liberation Organization participate, Waldheim said. Israel strongly opposes PLO participation.

Discussing the oil situation, Waldheim said the developing countries have shown they will no longer accept an "obsolete" economic order in which "onethird of humanity has everything and the other two-thirds are living in misery."

They must be given "reasonable prices for their raw materials," he went on, but "this should be done not through a confrontation but through a reasonable cooperation, taking into account also the justified interests of the industrialized world."

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined moderately today, fighting the pressure of yearend tax-selling.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.90 at 599.26, and losers virtually doubled the number of gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The NYSE ticker tape ran late repeatedly through the morning, and an extensive number of issues were traded as investors came down to the last two days in which they could take losses for 1974 tax purposes.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index fell .58 to 58.77.

Gold stocks were generally weak on the eve of the removal of the ban on private ownership of gold bullion by U.S. citizens.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index was off .24 at 35.12.

KKK eyes textbooks

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan officials says the KKK will investigate school boards and textbook publishers to see if communists are trying to "destroy the brains" of American children.

Attorney James R. Venable, imperial wizard of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said Sunday that a KKK delegation will go to Charleston, West Va., to begin its inquiry.

He said the Klan will hire attorneys to look into the corporate structure of textbook companies supplying the books which have provoked protests by many parents in West Virginia.

"In my opinion, it's communists and socialists who are trying to destroy the brains of our children," Venable said. "I've never seen such filth in high school textbooks."

Venable said klan representatives from Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Texas and Oklahoma voted unanimously Sunday to initiate the investigation. He said a KKK rally had been scheduled for Jan. 18 to protest the controversial books.

Sis won't yield farm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sister of actor Marlon Brando says she will not give up the Illinois farm land owned jointly with her brother despite his announcement that he will donate all of his United States land holdings to the American Indians.

Brando said last week that he would give up the farm, about 40 acres near Calabasas, Calif., a home in Los Angeles and an apartment complex in nearby Anaheim. His sister, Mrs. Richard Loving, said Sunday that she would not relinquish her part of the 40-acre farm in Mindelein, Ill., which she refers to as "the family homestead."

"We are not giving this land away. There is no question about it," Mrs. Loving said.

Brando has been active for several years in Indian causes and refused the Academy Award in 1972 to protest the portrayal of Indians in films.

Cooler air moved into Ohio today as northwest winds flowed over the state.

Temperatures this afternoon were forecast in the upper 30s and the 40s, compared with readings from 34 at Youngstown to 55 in the southeastern corner of the state Sunday.

Lows tonight will range from the 20s to low 30s.

Some breaks in the cloudy skies were expected over southern and western Ohio today, but cloudy skies and a chance of rain will return to southern counties by Tuesday afternoon as a low moves northward from the Gulf of Mexico.

Readings shortly before dawn today were mild under cloudy skies, ranging from the mid 30s northwest to near 50 in the southeast.

A chance of showers Wednesday, fair Thursday and Friday. Highs Wednesday in the 40s and lows in the 30s. Highs Thursday and Friday in the 30s and lows in the 20s.

King Faisal man of year

NEW YORK (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for 1974.

The magazine, which has been citing a Man of the Year annually since Charles Lindbergh was first so designated in 1927, said King Faisal "now holds more power than any other leader" to control the price of oil throughout the world.

"Both in his own right and as a symbol of the other newly powerful potentates of oil, Saudi Arabia's King Faisal is the Man of the Year," said Time's cover story for the Jan. 6 issue.

Water office firings eyed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor's office was expected to release findings today from an investigation which could result in the firing of six or seven employes of the Warren County Water Department, county prosecutor Morris Turkelson said.

Turkelson said department offices were closed Friday and the 17-member staff told not to report for work. Turkelson said the department's administrative offices would remain closed today.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Lela C. Thomas

SPRINGFIELD — Services for Mrs. Lela C. Thomas, 52, of Springfield, who died at 7:20 p.m. Friday in Mercy Medical Center, Springfield, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Richards Funeral Home, Springfield.

Born in Fayette County, Mrs. Thomas was a graduate of Washington High School and a retired employe of the Universal Cement Co., Fairborn. She had resided in Springfield for the past 23 years and was a member of the Central Methodist Church. Her husband, William, died in 1958.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Irene Giebelhaus, 828 Yeoman St., Washington C.H.; a sister, Mrs. Donnie Benson, of Xenia, and a step-sister, Mrs. Joan Lloyd, Fairborn.

The Rev. Herbert Massey will officiate at the services and burial will be in Ferncliff Cemetery, Springfield.

Contributions may be made to the cancer society.

MRS. ETHEL TOLBERT — Services for Mrs. Ethel Tolbert, 90, of Atlanta, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Richard McDowell officiating. Mrs. Tolbert, who had spent her entire life in the Atlanta community, died Thursday.

Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Roger Fox, Byron Stieff, Harold Waibel, Robert Steiff Jr., Steve Merritt and Frank Carter.

MRS. MILDRED O'BRIEN — Services for Mrs. Mildred O'Brien, 77, Reynoldsburg, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Ken Pickerill officiating. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was organist.

Mrs. O'Brien, former resident of Sabina, died Christmas day in Riverside Hospital, Columbus. Pallbearers for the burial in Sabina Cemetery were Homer Fannon, Donald Gray, Robert Wilson, John Young, Richard Neff and Jim Chance.

Gold prices top $200

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold rose to new records in Europe today and exceeded $200 an ounce in Paris on the eve of the expected American gold rush.

The opening price was $198 an ounce in London and Zurich, up $2.50 and $4.50 from the closing prices Friday.

In Paris, where the price is normally higher because of French exchange control regulations, the morning fixing price was $201.40. The previous record was $197.66 quoted on Dec.24, and Friday's closing price in the French capital was $197.61.

The increases reflected the belief of dealers that the price will soar past $200 on the London and Zurich exchanges also on Tuesday, when the U.S. goverment's ban on the purchase of gold by Americans will be lifted after 41 years.

Meanwhile, the dollar opened in Zurich at 2.53 Swiss francs, equaling the low set on Dec. 17; fell to 2.505 within 30 minutes and rallied slightly to 2.5125 an hour later. The volume of trading was reported below average.

Probe deaths at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton police said today they are holding a suspect in connection with the stabbing death of two women and the attempted drowning of one of the victim's children.

The women, Odessa Goodman, 22, and Jacqueline Otey, 27, both of Dayton, were found stabbed Sunday night, police said.

Authorities said the two boys, aged 7 and 4, apparently then were thrown in a concrete-lined culvert that runs into the Great Miami River.

Police said the older boy waded out of the two-foot deep water and summoned help. The younger child was found "huddled and crying" several feet downstream.

The children were treated for exposure and were being held in protective custody, police said.

Brezhnev cancels trip to Mideast

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass announced today that Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev's visit to Egypt, Syria and Iraq in January has been indefinitely postponed.

The announcement by the Soviet news agency gave no explanation. But informed Egyptian sources in Cairo said the postponement was due to continuing differences between the Soviet and Egyptian leaders over political and military questions.

"The new date of the visit, reciprocally acceptable to all parties, will be agreed upon later," Tass said.

The postponement was agreed on after Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders met for 35 minutes Sunday afternoon with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy and War Minister Abdel Ghany Gamasy, who made a hurried trip to Mosco Saturday.

Fahmy met today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko while Gamasy met with the Soviet defense minister, Marshal Andrei Grechko.

The sources in Cairo said that the Soviet and Egyptian governments were unable to agree on the best approach toward an Arab-Israeli settlement and on Egypt's military needs.

The postponement apparently signified a major setback to the Soviet government's campaign to regain its former influence on Egyptian policy and at the same time undercut the close, cooperative relationship that has developed between President Anwar Sadat and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Fahmy and Gamasy went to Moscow in response to an urgent invitation from Brezhnev delivered on Thursday.

The Russians were reported to have offered Egypt the latest model MIG jets, SAM antiaircraft missiles and other advanced military equipment if Sadat would welcome back the thousands of Soviet military advisers he expelled from Egypt in July 1972.

THE DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF OHIO FOR AN INCREASE IN ELECTRIC RATES

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 4909.19 of the Revised Code of Ohio, The Dayton Power and Light Company hereby gives notice that on May 9, 1974, it filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an Application for authority to modify and increase its rates and charges for electric service except as to consumers subject to Ordinance Rates in the process of elimination in the City of Troy, to make a revision to its rules and regulations for electric service and to withdraw certain rate schedules.

The substance of the Application is as follows:

FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

Present Fuel Adjustment Clause (as of May 9, 1974)

When the weighted average cost per one million BTU of fuel, consumed in the Company's electric generating facilities, during the calendar month immediately preceding the start of the billing month covered by the service bill decreases below or increases above 49.40¢ per one million BTU, there shall be a decrease or increase in the energy charges of .0103¢ per kilowatt-hour for each change in the cost of 1¢ per one million BTU, and proportionately for each fraction thereof.

The weighted average cost of fuel, as used above, shall be defined as the cost, including freight, of fuel on hand at the first of each month, plus the cost of fuel received during the month, divided by the total amount of fuel on hand and received.

Proposed Fuel Adjustment Clause

When the weighted average cost per one million Btu. of fuel, consumed in the Company's electric generating facilities during the calendar month immediately preceding the end of the billing month covered by the service bill decreases below or increases above 93.14¢ per one million Btu., there shall be a decrease or increase in the net energy charges of 0.010948¢ or a decrease or increase in the gross energy charges of 0.011495¢ per kilowatt-hour for each one cent (1¢) change in the cost per one million Btu., and proportionately for each fraction thereof.

The weighted average cost of fuel, as used above, shall be defined as the cost, including freight, of fuel on hand at the first of each month, plus the cost of fuel received during the month, divided by the total amount of fuel on hand and received.

The amount of the decrease or increase determined above shall be adjusted by the amount of any excise taxes saved or payable by the Company with respect to the amount of the decrease or increase so determined.

The consumer will be entitled to a prompt payment discount by payment of the net amount on or before 15 calendar days after rendition (mailing date) of the bill which reflects the application of this fuel adjustment clause, after which the gross amount shall be due and payable.

RESIDENCE RATES

It is proposed to eliminate the rate differential between consumers residing within and consumers residing outside of communities and to withdraw the Residence Rates now in the process of elimination which contain a separate Water Heating Service Rate with the result that all residential consumers would be served under a single rate.

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $2.10 net and $2.21 gross in the community rate and $2.50 net and $2.63 gross in the all other service area rate to $3.00 net and $3.15 gross for all residential consumers. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

RESIDENCE RATES IN PROCESS OF ELIMINATION

The following Residence Rates now in the process of elimination would be withdrawn:
Original Sheet No. 40
Original Sheet No. 41

These Rates provide for a separate Water Heating Service Rate which is applicable only to consumers who received service thereunder prior to October 26, 1973. Water heating consumers would be billed under the proposed Residence Rate applicable to all consumers.

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $2.50 net and $2.625 gross to $3.00 net and $3.15 gross for single phase service and from $5.00 net and $5.25 gross to $6.00 net and $6.30 gross for three phase service. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

The terms of Primary Voltage Service under the General Service Rate would be revised as follows in order to transfer Large Power Rate consumers with demands of less than 1,000 kva to the General Service Rate.

Present Provision

PRIMARY VOLTAGE SERVICE:

The above rates are based upon secondary voltage service (480 volts or less). When service is supplied to the Consumer and metered at a primary voltage (more than 480 volts), a discount of 2% of the total bill including fuel adjustment shall be allowed.

Proposed Provision

PRIMARY VOLTAGE SERVICE:

The above rates are based upon secondary voltage (480 volts or less) service and metering. When the service voltage and/or metering voltage is other than secondary (more than 480 volts), the following discounts will be applied to the total bill including fuel adjustment:

Service Voltage	Metering Voltage	Discount
Secondary	Primary	2%
Primary	Secondary	4%
Primary	Primary	6%

Service voltage is defined as the voltage existing at the point where the Company's ownership facilities ends and the Consumer's ownership of facilities begins. If more than one service voltage exists for a Consumer, the lowest such service voltage will be used in determining the above discounts.

It is further proposed to permit the fixing of the Billing Demand under the General Service Rate at 5 kw when the consumer's consumption does not exceed 1,500 kwh per month for three consecutive summer months.

LARGE POWER RATE

The present Rate is available to consumers having a monthly maximum demand of at least 500 kva, whereas the proposed rate would be available to consumers whose monthly maximum demand has exceeded 1,000 kva in each of the previous twelve (12) months. Those consumers with less than 1,000 kva who qualify for the present Rate would be transferred to the General Service Rate.

Present Rate

DEMAND CHARGE
First 500 kva or less of Billing Demand, $600.00
All over 500 kva of Billing Demand, $1.20 per kva per month

ENERGY CHARGE
First 125,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0128 per kwh
Next 375,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0127 per kwh
Next 1,000,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0126 per kwh
Next 2,000,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0123 per kwh
All over 3,500,000 kilowatt-hours per month, $0.0108 per kwh

ENERGY CHARGE-LOAD FACTOR PROVISION
All energy in excess of 300 times the kva of Billing Demand, $0.0100 per kwh

SECONDARY VOLTAGE SERVICE:

When service is supplied and metered at secondary voltage (480 volts or less), the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be increased by six percent (6%).

When Consumer is metered at primary voltage (more than 480 volts but less than 69,000 volts), but Company furnishes and maintains equipment necessary for the Consumer to receive and utilize the energy at secondary voltage (480 volts or less), the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be increased by four percent (4%).

When Consumer furnishes and maintains equipment necessary to receive and utilize the energy at primary voltage (more than 480 volts but less than 69,000 volts) but such energy is metered on the secondary side (480 volts or less) of the Consumer's equipment, the total bill, including fuel adjustment will be increased by two percent (2%)

TRANSMISSION VOLTAGE SERVICE:

When service is supplied and metered at transmission voltage (69,000 volts or higher), the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be discounted by six percent (6%).

When service is supplied at transmission voltage (69,000 volts or higher) but such energy is metered on the low side (more than 480 volts but less than 69,000 volts) of the Consumer's equipment, the total bill, including fuel adjustment, will be discounted by four percent (4%).

Proposed Rate

	DEMAND CHARGE	Net	Gross
First	1,000 kva or less of Billing Demand	$1,300.00	$1,365.00
All over	1,000 kva of Billing Demand, per kva per month	1.30	1.365
	ENERGY CHARGE
First	125,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	$0.02148	$0.0225540
Next	1,375,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	0.01974	0.0207270
Next	2,000,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	0.01885	0.0197925
All over	3,500,000 kilowatt-hours per month, per kwh	0.01880	0.0197400
	ENERGY CHARGE-LOAD FACTOR PROVISION
	All energy in excess of 300 times the kva Billing Demand, per kwh	$0.01590	$0.0166950

PROMPT PAYMENT DISCOUNT

The Consumer will be entitled to a prompt payment discount by payment of the net amount on or before 15 calendar days after rendition (mailing date) of bill, after which the gross amount shall be due and payable.

SECONDARY OR TRANSMISSION VOLTAGE SERVICE:

The above rates are based upon primary voltage (more than 480 volts, but less than 69,000 volts) service and metering. When the service voltage and/or metering voltage is at secondary voltage (480 volts or less) or at transmission voltage (69,000 volts or more), the following adjustments will be applied to the total bill including fuel adjustment:

Service Voltage	Metering Voltage	Adjustment
Secondary	Secondary	+6%
Secondary	Primary	+4%
Primary	Secondary	+2%
Transmission	Primary	−4%
Transmission	Transmission	−6%

Service voltage is defined as the voltage existing at the point where the Company's ownership of facilities ends and the Consumer's ownership of facilities begins. If more than one service voltage exists for a Consumer, the lowest such service voltage will be used in determining the above discounts.

The minimum monthly charge would be increased from $600.00 to $1,300.00 net and $1,365.00 gross to correspond to the Demand Charge for the first 1,000 kva of Billing Demand and would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

ELECTRIC MELTING FURNACE RATE

It is proposed that this rate be withdrawn and that the consumers previously served thereunder be transferred to the General Service Rate.

STREET RAILWAY RATE

Present Rate

All kilowatt-hours per month; $0.021 net per kwh.

Proposed Rate

	Net	Gross
All kilowatt-hours per month, kwh	$0.030	$0.0315

It is proposed to increase the minimum monthly charge from $1,200.00 to $1,800.00 net and $1,890.00 gross. The proposed minimum monthly charge would not be subject to the provisions of the Fuel Adjustment Clause.

It is proposed to add the Prompt Payment Discount provision to this Rate and to provide for metering on an alternating current basis rather than a direct current basis.

MUNICIPAL, EDUCATIONAL AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS RATE

Present Rate

$0.04 per kilowatt-hour per month.

Proposed Rate

	Net	Gross

Knowles inquest hit by attorney

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A coroner's inquest into the death of accused mass slayer Paul John Knowles begins today despite a planned boycott by his former defense attorneys.

"It is a foregone conclusion as to what the verdict will be," said Ellis Rubin of Miami in announcing he and Sheldon Yavitz, also of Miami, would skip the inquest. He said they had been refused the right to participate in the proceedings.

Knowles was shot to death by Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent Ron Angel in Douglas County Sheriff Earl Lee's car Dec. 18 when Knowles broke free from one of his handcuffs and reached for Lee's gun, the GBI has said.

"On the day of the shooting," Rubin said, "the crime lab chemist who performed the autopsy pronounced a verdict of justifiable homicide even though he had no authority to do so. Then, this week the Georgia Bureau of Investigation publicly cleared its agent of any wrongdoing.

Rubin said this "prior pressure" on Douglas County Coroner Paul Cochran of Douglasville "will weigh heavily in the findings."

"This will not be a hearing to ascertain the facts. It will be a hearing to clear Sheriff Lee and Agent Angel," Rubin said in a telephone interview from Miami.

Cochran declined to comment on Rubin's claim of "prior pressure."

Rubin said he may ask the Justice Department to probe Knowles's death for possible civil rights violations. "There's a lot of legal areas that we are looking into," he said.

Rubin now represents Knowles's estate, while Yavitz is executor of the ex-convict's will and counsel for his family.

At the time of his death, Knowles had been charged with seven slayings and was wanted for questioning in numerous others. He boasted of killing 35 persons and allegedly narrated 16 slayings on tape recordings he left with Yavitz.

Paul Dixon rites slated for Tuesday

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Paul Dixon, whose daytime audience participation show tickled the funnybone of Midwest housewives for nearly two decades, will be buried Tuesday. He died Saturday at age 56.

Dixon, who said his show was geared toward making a heroine of housewife, was hospitalized after his Dec. 18 show. He underwent surgery later that night for a ruptured artery in his heart.

He appeared to be recovering when the repaired artery burst Saturday, hours after he was transferred to another hospital.

Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at St. Peter in Chains Cathedral.

Known as "Paul Baby" and "The Mayor of Kneesville," Dixon delighted his audiences with devilish stunts. He featured a garter-fitting ceremony—and openly scanned the legs in his audience with binoculars for the best candidate.

Dixon rose from a teen-aged disc jockey in Des Moines, Iowa to host of a popular Midwest program which was recently nationally syndicated.

"The Paul Dixon Show" would have marked its 20th anniversary in March. He has been with WLW television in Cincinnati for the past 10 years. The 90-minute show was also carried live in Columbus, Indianapolis and Dayton.

Avco Broadcasting Co. said a tribute would be shown during today's time slot.

Avco officials said they would decide today whether the show would continue with a new host.

Dixon came to Cincinnati in the mid-40s from Chicago. He built a reputation as a newsman and later became a disc jockey. One national magazine listed him among the nation's top 10 disc jockeys in 1951.

The man who hired him, Mort Watters of WCPO radio, praised him as "one of the greatest ad lib entertainers of all time."

He grew up in Albia, Iowa, and attended Drake University.

He is survived by his wife Marge and a daughter, Pam. His son, Greg, was killed in a 1970 traffic accident.

Boys charged in car theft

Two Washington C.H. youths, ages 16 and 17, were arrested by Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and Sgt. John Emrick following an investigation of a stolen motor vehicle.

The auto, stolen from Dale K. Phillips at 3 a.m. Sunday, while it was parked in front of his Hillsboro residence, was recovered by Sgt. Emrick at 4:05 p.m. Sunday, in front of Anders Greenhouse, CCC Highway-E, apparently out of gas.

Sheriff Thompson reported the youths admitted to breaking and entering Washington Elementary School in Hillsboro that same night and stealing a small amount of change. The boys have been charged with auto theft and breaking and entering and are presently in custody at the Fayette County juvenile detention center.

It was also reported that one of the juveniles had been recently released from the Ohio Youth Commission.

Proposed contract rejected by locals

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A proposec contract with Thrif-T-Marts was rejected 130 to 80 Sunday by four locals of the Retail Clerks Union.

The locals represent employes of markets in Norwalk, Mount Vernon, Ashland, Galion, Crestline and Bucyrus.

The proposed two-year agreement called for a 10-cents an hour raise to a maximum of 35 cents an hour, a wage reopener clause for the second year and increases in health benefits, said Local 31 President James Barney.

Onslaught on paperwork

The hearts of all who must wrestle with government forms will leap up at word that 26 senators seek a cut in federal paperwork. Without wishing to chill their rejoicing, we feel obliged to counsel patience. Attempts to combat the paperwork monster have been made before without notable success.

Still, it is heartening that a new onslaught is being undertaken by a bipartisan group in the Senate. The costs of getting a bewildering profusion of things down in black and white dwarf the mileage figures of Pioneer Saturn's voyage to Jupiter and points beyond. The General Accounting Office figures the government shells out 15 billion dollars annually, and business another 20 to 25 billion, for this purpose.

Much of this outlay is inescapable, but the senators are on the right track in asking the President to direct agencies to cut out needless paperwork. That would save a lot of tax dollars and ease a lot of irritation.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Ford and the recession

NEW YORK — A large be-minked lady in the crowded toy shop was buying six dolls. They talk, they walk, they wet, all battery propelled. The price, $60, plus tax. One for each of my six granddaughters, she tells the clerk.

The story is the same in the luxury stores in the glittering heart of Manhattan. In Cartier's and Tiffany's, the diamond necklaces and the emerald bracelets are going fast. The chic fur stores are finding it difficult to keep stocked with sables, a full-length cost at $25,000 and up.

In the streets, the big, black gas guzzlers help to jam the traffic that creeps along the main arteries. With chauffeurs at the wheel, limousines are parked double, the motor idling to keep the interior warm.

Whatever the indicators may say about unemployment, recession and inflation this, on the surface, is boomtown, U.S.A. The big spenders are still spending. They will help to raise the level of the Christmas trade and overcome the pinch said to be felt by lower-priced stores.

Here is the paradox of a bankrupt city and a nation with the highest rate of unemployment in 13 years. Mayor Abraham Beame is struggling desperately to cut the budget gap by firing or forcing the early retirement of up to 8,000 city employes and this has meant a confrontation with the unions representing these workers.

President Gerald Ford was here last week to talk with the members of Nelson Rockefeller's Commission on Critical Choices for Americans. He stayed over to go to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame awards dinner.

Whatever the advice that may have been giving him at the Commission, he returned to make a radio talk to the nation ruling out any major moves to counter the recession. He was addressing the business council which includes the top executives of the largest corporations.

The President referred with something like scorn to "quick fixes" which he would have none of. Declaring against a gas tax, he advised his associates to stop talking about such a tax.

Taking a gamble with few parallels in recent history, Ford is betting that inflation will cool and drop in coming months from the double-digit level. The problem of unemployment - not crisis as he insisted in his speech - will yield to the comparatively modest measures he intends to send to Congress in the new year.

He may be right. Rejecting "quick fixes" to spur the sluggish economy, he may win his gamble as America's powerful productive machine moves into high gear again in mid-1975.

Hardly surprising was the response of the Democratic majorities in Congress. They are coming up with proposals for extended unemployment compensation and massive public-service jobs requiring expenditures of billions of dollars. These measures seem certain to reach the President's desk presumably for his veto.

What should surprise and perhaps dismay Ford is the response of the Republicans. Forty-two GOP Senators are calling for an attack on the economic problem, resembling in kind if not in quite the same degree what the Democrats put forward. Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., promptly put in a resolution for a 20-cent gasoline tax and a tax on horse power that would curb the guzzlers.

January and the new Congress will tell the tale. The indicators may by that time encourage the President in his firm stand against what he believes would be precipitous action. But the new Congress will be even more liberal-left and determined to get speedy action. This will mean a contest between executive and legislative that can hardly benefit the economy.

Ford in his first 100 days has been compared with Harry Truman who inherited the office in a time of grave uncertainty. But increasingly Ford is beginning to sound like another President who fell heir to the office by the accident of death. That was Calvin Coolidge.

Coolidge's problem was of quite another order than that of Ford. As the bull market boom roared on through the 20s, he spurned the measures that might have curbed that great gamble which ended with the crash of 1929.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 31

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Routine matters favored more than the unusual. New developments in the making: study people, trends. What you uncover will prove valuable in the future.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

If not overanxious, you can make extraordinary gains now. Careful thought and consideration of past procedures will give you direction.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Strongly benefic Mercury influences should help you put over worthwhile plans now. Some changes may have to be made, but they will prove beneficial in the long run.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Stress quality rather than quantity in your efforts. Get TODAY'S matters tended before seeking further. You are adept at squeezing out the best in a project — important now.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

If you take minor annoyances in stride, as Leoites usually do, you should enjoy your day. Chosen goals are nearer. Increased favors indicated.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

What you did yesterday or last week may have to be redone in part, but do not look upon this day as problematical or you will not see its many virtues.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Better than usual advantages, but more than usual effort asked, too. Some past investment of money or time begins to pay; invest more for the future.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may think you have something under control, rolling briskly: Better take another look for hidden flaws, anything that could mean time, energy lost.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

An original twist or a new method could brighten routine, but don't go to extremes and attempt the bizarre.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

You may possibly have to set aside certain personal desires in order to show your abilities in the best light. The effort you make in this regard will pay off, however.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Present everything in your thorough, affable manner; thus you will win points and outwit the competition. Do your best but don't undertake the unreasonable.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Both regular work and new ventures favored. Returns from past efforts indicated very soon. Whatever you do well will have long-range value.

YOU BORN TODAY are amiable, industrious and so practical and methodical that you can often get ahead where the road seems completely blocked, and others would turn back. You have a fine mind and seek out companionship which is intellectually stimulating; may take up a unique hobby which eventually proves remunerative. Don't anticipate trouble or negate your efforts through pessimism. Fields in which you could be especially successful: science, writing, diplomacy, statesmanship, instructor in literature or languages.

It was agreed in 1898 that to see the ice come and go on the Yukon River was the one test to be applied for the admission of a chee-chako (newcomer) into the ranks of the sourdoughs.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO

Dearl Alexander, Plaintiff, vs. Ida Inskeep, et al., Defendants.

NO. Ci-74-269

TO: Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, the unknown heirs of George and Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Origin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, all of whose addresses are unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained.

You will take notice that Dearl Alexander commenced his civil action in the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, Ohio, in the above styled case to quiet title to the following described tract of real estate.

Situate in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio. Beginning at an iron pin in the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street (66 feet wide) at the most easterly corner of the tract of land conveyed to Henry Brownell, Jr. (Deed Book 92, Page 464), said point bears N. 47 deg. 38' E. as measured along the line of Rawlings Street a distance of 496.72 feet from the northeasterly line of Delaware Street (50 feet wide); thence N. 42 deg. 22' W. along the northeasterly line of said Brownell's tract a distance of 165.00 feet to an iron pin in the southeasterly line of a proposed 16.5 foot wide alley; thence N. 47 deg. 38' E. along the line of said alley a distance of 81.68 feet to an iron pin at the most westerly corner of the tract of land conveyed to E. & H. Simerl (Deed Book 92, Page 390); thence S. 42 deg. 39' W. along the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street a distance of 82.50 feet to the place of beginning, containing 0.311 acre.

The sum and substance of his complaint is that Dearl Alexander is seized in fee simple absolute title of the above described premises and that he claims such title by adverse possession, as he has openly and notoriously claimed title to said real estate by adverse possession for a period of more than twenty-one years.

The plaintiff, Dearl Alexander, further has alleged in his complaint that you, as defendants, have some claim or interest in the aforesaid real estate. You are hereby required to answer said complaint and set up your claim or forever be barred to what interest you may have in said real estate, on or before the 15th day of February, 1975.

Ohio Perspective

State ahead on metrication

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is a meter or two ahead of the rest of the states.

Not only have Ohio drivers begun seeing road signs marked in kilometers, but state highway engineers have begun building Ohio roads using meters instead of yards, kilometers instead of miles, centimeters instead of feet and inches.

"No one is as far advanced in the use of the metric system as we are," said Ginny McDaniels, who is in charge of the metric information program for the state Department of Transportation.

Ground breaking for Ohio's first road construction project using the metric system came in October. Since then state engineers and the contractor, Eagle Construction Co. of McArthur, have measured and built in meters and kilometers instead of yards and miles, Miss McDaniels said.

Engineers prepared specifications for the 1.7 kilometer or 1.1 mile project in meters with regular measurements in parentheses.

The project is part of a program to find out the difficulties of metrication, changing to the metric system.

The $686,000 construction project is on Ohio 93 just north of the Hocking-Vinton County line. It includes replacement of a bridge and reduction of a sharp curve.

The first project in the state's metric study program was a maintenance project in Licking County on Ohio 161 east of New Albany. Miss McDaniels called the earlier project, which was completed last summer, a success.

A second construction project in Perry County outside Thornville on Ohio 188 has not yet begun.

Miss McDaniels said the metrication study also included setting up distance signs in kilometers, distribution of information to the general public and gathering public reaction to the use of the metric system.

To convert miles into kilometers multiply them by 1.6.

To convert inches into centimeters multiply them by 6.5.

To convert ounces into grams multiply them by 28.

To convert a teaspoon into milliliters multiply them by 5, a tablespoon by 15, an ounce by 30, a quart to a liter multiply by .95.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: A MEDICINE IS TO BE JUDGED BY THOSE WHO TAKE IT, NOT BY THOSE WHO THROW IT DOWN THE SINK. — FRANK JOSEPH SHEED

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Please don't iron the sackcloth

DEAR ABBY: I used to be one of your most devoted fans, but not anymore. How dare you say that people who don't iron their bedsheets, pillowcases and towels are just plain lazy!

Abby, haven't you ever heard of permanent press fabrics? When they came in, ironing bedsheets and pillowcases went out at my house. And nobody irons towels anymore. They just fold them.

A young relative put me on to the greatest time and money-saver yet: Have one set of quick-dry bedsheets and pillowcases for each bed. They can be laundered and put back on the beds in a few hours. The set I am using on my king-sized bed in its ninth year and it's still good as new. (No cracks, please.)

EX-ABBY FAN

DEAR EX: You (and a lot of other people) have confused me with my twin sister-Ann Landers. You read that in HER column-not mine. I spoke with her a few minutes ago and she's reconsidered; she's now doing penance-complete with sackcloth (UNIRONED) and ashes.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm still a child, but I like the element of surprise on Christmas morning.

My husband insists on knowing what I want. He says he would rather get me something I want than spend money on something I don't want.

I keep telling him to "surprise" me, but he nags at me until I finally tell him. Then he orders it right in front of me. (This is a Christmas present?)

His mother is the same way. She asks me what I want for Christmas, too. It takes all the fun out of it for me.

I never ask anybody what they want. I use my imagination and enjoy shopping around to find things.

If I'm wrong, I'll take my lumps. If I'm right, I'll tape your answer on my husband's nose next year. Thanks.

JENNIE

DEAR JENNIE: Not everybody likes "surprises," but if you do, then your husband should surprise you. But don't grumble if he surprises you with a little nothing for which he spent too much.

DEAR ABBY: I need your help. I am 19, and I've been seeing this guy who is 30. I know he is too old for me. But that's not all. He's married and has two kids. How I got involved with him I'll never know.

This has got to end because there is no future in it for me. I have tried so hard to tell him, but he keeps calling me and calling me and he won't take no for an answer. I never should have started up with this guy, but he is a real fast talker.

I am not much of a talker, so I would like to write him a letter. That's where you come in, Abby. Will you help me write it? I want to get across to him that I don't want to continue our love affair and to please leave me alone. Thank you.

WANTS OUT

DEAR WANTS: Don't put anything incriminating in writing! (You never can tell where a letter will wind up!) TELL HIM in plain English that you've seen him for the last time, and don't stick around for a debate. (P.S. If he calls you again, hang up on him.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO BEAUTY" IN BEVERLY HILLS: I don't know who said it, but wise was he who quipped: "Beauty is a gift. Charm must be cultivated. A beautiful woman is one I notice. A charming woman is one who notices ME."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, December 30, the 364th day of 1974. There is one day left in the year.

Today's high light in history:

On this date in 1911, Sun Yatsen was elected first provisional president of the Republic of China.

On this date—

In 1775, an American force was defeated at Quebec.

In 1853, the Gadsden purchase was made by treaty with Mexico for territory which now is the southern portion of Arizona and New Mexico.

In 1865, the English author, Rudyard Kipling, was born.

In 1873, Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 Democratic candidate for president, was born.

In 1944, King George of Greece proclaimed a regency to rule his native land and virtually renounced the throne.

In 1945, military authorities in Berlin made public copies of Hitler's last will and his marriage contract with Eva Braun.

Ten years ago: The United Nations Security Council resolved to call for an end to all foreign intervention in the Congo, a cease-fire there and a withdrawal of mercenaries.

Five years ago: The United States gave the Communist Vietnamese at peace talks in Paris a list of 1,406 missing American personnel, but the other side berated the move.

One year ago: Britain went into a three-day work week in a fuel-saving action that spread bitterness and confusion.

Today's birthdays: Motion picture director Carol Reed is 68. Actor Bert Parks is 60.

Thought for today: The best way to cheer yourself up is to try to cheer somebody else up — Mark Twain, American author, 1835-1910.

Lift your winter meals with vegetables

Certain fresh vegetables go just right with certain seasons. Root vegetables — carrots, turnips, potatoes, parsnips — have just the right nip and snap to go with winter. Tomatoes and celery are also in good supply at your market, and crinkly cabbage is a very good buy.

It isn't just appetite-appeal that these vegetables are treasured for. Nutritionists commend them to us for their vitamins and minerals and the indispensable bulk that they add to the diet.

Weave these fine fresh vegetables into menus now. Have you ever served cabbage, pre-cooked, and baked in a cheese sauce with crispy buttered crumbs on top? An excellent, hearty winter dish. Sliced, cooked carrots in orange sauce are a delight. Or serve the cabbage and carrot shredded in a colorful slaw, a winter salad that is readily available now.

Onions are timely. They are unparalleled for savory seasoning in so many dishes. Try them, too, boiled whole and served in a delicate cream sauce. The fresh flavors of these vegetables are so welcome at this time of year. Be sure to include them in your menus for the best eating enjoyment. The taste of fresh just seems to wake up appetites and keep them interested.

RUSSIAN CABBAGE SOUP

3 cups chicken broth
3 cups water
½ cup shredded pared carrots
½ cup shredded celery
1 potato, pared and diced
½ cup chopped fresh onion
2 cups chopped peeled fresh tomatoes
2½ teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf
4 peppercorns
3 cups shredded cabbage
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine chicken broth, water, carrots, celery, potato, onion, tomatoes, salt, bay leaf and peppercorns in a large kettle. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add cabbage and simmer 10 minutes longer. Stir in lemon juice and sugar; heat.

YIELD: 2 quarts; 6 to 8 servings.

Notice

The D of A has cancelled the meeting which was originally planned for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The annual New Year's Day dinner planned Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Edith Scott, 617 Oak Circle, has been cancelled, due to illness.

Class plans get-together

Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ will hold their first meeting of the New Year, in fellowship Hall, Saturday evening. A covered dish supper will be served preceding the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Hostesses will be the class officers: Mrs. Howard Brooks, Mrs. Frank Coulter, Mrs. Florence Schiller and Mrs. J.G. Jordan.

Howard Brooks will bring devotions, using the theme: "A New Year is Born", and Mrs. Thomas Willis will provide entertainment.

QUICK DESSERT — Baked Oranges and Bananas is a quick and easy dessert that combines fresh fruit with a crumbled macaroon mixture.

Easy to make-fun to eat: baked bananas and oranges

Consumers are more nutrition conscious now than they ever were. Nutrition labeling on most food products has made it easier to keep track of nutrients consumed at each meal, and the high cost of food, too, has forced consumers to look for the best nutrition values for their dollars.

Fresh fruits, such as bananas and Florida oranges, offer excellent value, both nutritionally and economically. And both can be combined to create delicious desserts, snacks or main dishes.

Baked Bananas and Oranges is a quick, delicious dessert which uses fresh fruit and a crumbled macaroon mixture. You'll want to serve it often, especially if you have growing youngsters, since it is so rich in essential nutrients.

Both Florida oranges and bananas are excellent sources of potassium. Oranges are rich in vitamin C and supply other necessary vitamins and minerals. Bananas, too, are one of your most nutritious foods and contain vitamin C, vitamin A, B vitamins, and other essential minerals and nutrients.

It's not hard to see why a dish like Baked Bananas and Oranges is one of your better snack or dessert choices.

Main dishes, too, can be all the better made with mellow bananas and juicy oranges. Orange Barbecued Chicken with Bananas is a delicious example of how a simple chicken dish can come alive with the special flavors and textures of fruit.

The chicken is baked with chunks of bananas and an orange-tomato barbecue sauce. The recipe is so easy and foolproof, you can even try it for your very first dinner party.

ORANGE BARBECUED CHICKEN WITH BANANAS

2 whole broiler-fryer chickens, cut into serving pieces
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
One-third cup Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
¾ cup water
½ cup finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
6 bananas
1 Florida orange, thinly sliced

Arrange chicken pieces in a large shallow baking dish. In a medium bowl mix tomato sauce, undiluted concentrated orange juice, water, onion, Worcestershire sauce, sugar, mustard, salad oil, salt and pepper. Brush chicken pieces with barbecue sauce. Bake in 375 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes, brushing with barbecue sauce every 10 minutes. Peel bananas and cut into 2-inch diagonal chunks. Add to baking dish and brush with barbecue sauce. Top chicken pieces with orange slices. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer. Makes eight servings.

BAKED BANANAS AND ORANGES

1½ cups crumbled coconut macaroons
One-third cup packed light brown sugar
One-third cup chopped almonds
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
6 bananas
2 Florida oranges, peeled and sliced
1 cup Florida orange juice

In a medium bowl mix crumbled macaroons, sugar, almonds, orange rind, nutmeg, and melted butter. Cut bananas in half both lengthwise and crosswise. Arrange a layer of bananas and orange slices on the bottom of a 10x6x1¾-inch baking dish. Cover with a layer of the macaroon mixture. Continue alternating layers of fruit and crumbs, reserving one third cup crumb mixture. Pour orange juice over fruit. Sprinkle with remaining one-third cup crumb mixture. Bake uncovered in a 350 degree F. oven for 20 minutes. Serve immediately.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

To peel Florida oranges, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane, then cut slice from bottom. Or cut off peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut orange into crosswise slices.

See housing industry upswing

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The outlook for many segments of the 1975 economy is, as the hedging economist is inclined to say, "somewhat cloudy," but that description hardly fits housing.

One of the clear and bright prospects in that generally cloudy outlook, housing is expected to recover from its latest bout with recession as the year wears on, maybe even becoming vigorous by fall.

Home-seekers may find lenders solicitous rather than officious. The likelihood of 20 to 25 per cent down payments by midyear is strong, even if interest rates might remain around 9 per cent or more.

The explanation reveals itself automatically when you look at the recent experience of savings and loans and savings banks, which provide most individual home mortgages.

In a three-month period this year the savings and loans alone saw $2.87 billion of savings disappear from their books, withdrawn by owners who sought higher returns in government and corporate securities.

When this sort of thing — disintermediation — happens, both the thrifts and the housing industry become anemic, the life blood flowing from their veins. But now the transfusion has begun.

With record-high interest rates now falling in other money markets, funds are again flowing into the thrifts. If it continues, they should be able to finance a lot more housing than they could in 1974.

These statistics will provide an idea of what high interest rates did to the thrifts and housing: In 1973, housing starts totaled 2.2 million; in 1974 the rate fell to one-half that total.

Opinions vary about whether or not the decline should be attributed to the lack of lendable funds, but few students of housing will argue that 75 per cent of it was. Credit is everything to a home-buyer.

Now, with credit becoming available, the need for housing also is rising. As population increases, and the number of new household formations also, the need for housing grows. It cannot be postponed indefinitely. Any slump is generally followed, if not by a boom, then by a lot of construction noise.

Only one passing cloud is being watched suspiciously, and that is the decline in spendable income. If incomes stagnate well into 1975, that cloud could spill some rain.

However, the prospect is strong that after-tax incomes will improve if the rate of inflation declines, and that the consumer's confidence, which evaporated with that decline, will return.

It's still not the best outlook, but it's a great improvement over 1974, when the cellar-holes of aborted houses provided a grim picture of the times. A new house is much prettier.

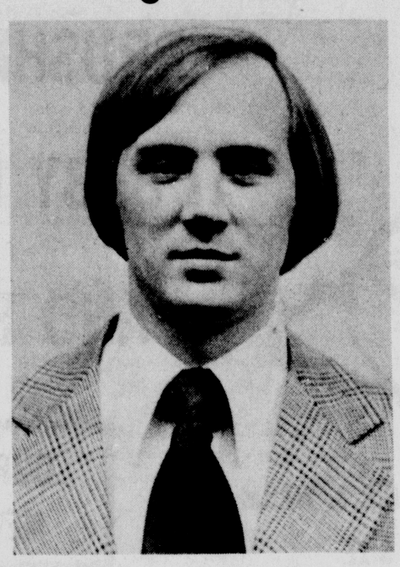
Agent completes training course

Former Record-Herald sports editor Dennis R. Stapleton has completed an intensive three-week training seminar for his new position as an insurance agent with the Travelers Insurance Co.

Having joined the Travelers firm in October, Stapleton will be serving both the Fayette County and Columbus areas. Working out of the Travelers Insurance office, 921 Chatham Lane, Columbus, he will be arranging office hours in the William Pool Insurance office, presently located at 330 E. Court Street. Pool Insurance will relocate in the Main Street Mall after its completion.

After one month acquainting himself with the firm and its personnel, Stapleton attended the three-week session in Los Angeles, Calif. The purpose of the training program was to familiarize young agents with specific information concerning the Travelers many types of insurance policies.

Included in the studies was a four-day session preparing the agents for the National Association of Security Dealers licensing test. A great deal of the three-week program was devoted to financial planning sessions which included information on annuities and insurance policies.



DENNIS STAPLETON

Stapleton, his wife Katie and their son, have moved from their Sabina residence to a home in Upper Arlington, Columbus.

College enrollment increase reported

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Female students and a surprising freshmen turnout were key factors in a 3.5 per cent increase in enrollment at the nation's four-year colleges and universities this fall, according to a survey by the University of Cincinnati.

The study of 1,456 institutions was released by Dr. Garland G. Parker, vice provost for admissions and records at the University.

With only one of the nation's 30 largest institutions—University of California—not reporting, total enrollment reached 6.6 million for fall quarter.

Nearly three million of the 6.6 million were women for a 6 per cent increase in that category, the study showed.

The next highest category was freshmen, with a 4.6 per cent increase, reversing a three-year trend.

Part of the increase in women students would be reflected in the freshman statistics, but Garland said the freshman turnabout surprised researchers because the size of the 1974 high school graduating class was not sufficient to account for the increase.

He said the U.S. Office of Education expects the peak year for high school graduates to be 1976-77. However, he predicted that enrollment during the 1980s "will likely decline in accelerating fashion."

The number of women had increased only 2 per cent annually in previous years. Men increased their numbers by only 1.6 per cent.

The increase in female students lifted their percentage to 44.8 of total enrollment, with 43.3 per cent as full-time enrollees and 48.4 enrolled on a part-time basis.

The State University of New York topped the nation in total students enrolled, 406,581, and most full-time students, 256,863.

The California State University and College System ranked second with 317,431 students enrolled and 179,390 full-time students.

City University of New York was third with 253,178 and 135,376.

About 70 per cent, or more than 4.7 million, were enrolled in a full-time capacity. It represented a 1.9 per cent increase over last year.

The nearly two million parttime students meant a 7.8 per cent increase.

Full-time women students rose 4.1 per cent to 0.3 per cent for men. The gain by women was heaviest in law, medicine and allied health, technological, business and theological schools.

REV. FIGHTMASTER

Speaker set for services

The Rev. William Fightmaster, of Hamilton, will be the guest speaker at the First Church of the Nazarene, Ohio 41-S, watch-nite service Dec. 31 from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Rev. Fightmaster has served in the Nazarene Church for 25 years and has held evangelistic meetings throughout Ohio and surrounding states.

He is well-known in the Washington C.H. area, having served as evangelist in several local churches and is renowned for his depth in Biblical preaching.

The Rev. Dale Orihood, pastor of the local church, invites the public to attend the service to start the new year. Special singing will be provided by members of the local congregation.

A cart for use between kitchen and dining room simplifies meal service. A slight edge on the top of the cart will prevent dishes and servers from falling off.

Jaw joints created

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— An operation to replace broken hip joints has been adapted by a Cleveland plastic surgeon to create new jaw joints for humans.

The jaw joint is "like a ball and socket, much like the hip but not so deep," said Dr. Clifford Kiehn, professor of plastic surgery at Case Western Reserve University.

Unlike many other joints, the jaw must be able to slide as well as open and close. Kiehn's device, developed from the hip operation pioneered in England, is cemented directly to bone and sometimes is used with bone grafts from the patient's hip.

"It will take time to evaluate the procedure," Dr. Kiehn said. "The results have been good. Of course, there aren't as many cases as there are with hips."

He said the technique has been used on seven patients.

Antibiotics are given to patients up to a week before surgery to prevent infection, the doctor said, adding that the rich blood supply in the head and neck provides some natural immunity.

NEW PROCESS — A Dayton Power and Light Co. employe shows small microfiche card which holds more than 200 pages of the computer books stacked behind it. A card inserted in viewer in background reflects one of the pages. The new process will enable DP&L to better serve customers who call in for information.

Business news

New retrieval system to be used by DP&L

The Dayton Power and Light Co. will soon introduce a microfiche retrieval system which will provide greater efficiency in securing account information for customers.

The new system, when completely installed, will reduce waiting time when customers call for bill information or other services which involve checking records.

The process will allow DP&L to transfer computer information on a tape directly to a microfiche card instead of computer paper. The card will then be inserted into a viewer which enlarges the printed material.

One mircofiche card measures only four by six inches, yet it can hold the same information that would require more than 200 sheets of 11 by 16 inch computer paper.

Instead of leafing through the large computer sheets to secure customer information, the operator simply places the microfiche in the viewer, finds the large number and the enlargement is projected upon the viewer screen.

Thirty-one viewers are now installed in the customer activities department. Later, other viewers will be installed in customer service and in all 14 district offices, eventually making a otal of 120.

Dropout claims U.S. schools mostly intellectual slums

BEREA, Ohio (AP) — American schools are intellectual slums, according to self-published author R. A. Landor, who dropped out of school 43 years ago.

"American children go to schools that are, for the most part, intellectual slums," Landor wrote in his book "The Education of Everychild."

Landor, a Berea resident, blames much of the problem on school administrators and what he calls their refusal to set goals.

"You could pump money into school from now till doomsday but unless its nature were radically changed, it would not yield anything that seriously resembles education," he said.

Landor wrote his book to support his claim that U.S. education almost automatically excludes many children whom teachers label too stupid to acquire liberal education.

After being turned down by major publishing firms, the 58-year-old author formed his own company.

The book was written while he worked for library systems in California, Minnesota and Cuyahoga County.

Landor dropped out of school at age 15. After military duty he received his bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkely in 1948. He then received a master's in political science and a master's in library science.

In his book, Landor concludes that "fewer professional chiefs and more amateur indians" are what is needed to correct the situation he believes exists in public schools.

Landor blames officials who say they can't teach reading because of unfavorable home environments and book selections.

"Children need a book done by a writer, not a committee. They need a book they will love to read, not a 'learning tool,'" he said.

Ohio couple among dead in Guatemala

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of a Columbus couple killed in a chartered plane crash in northern Guatemala this weekend will be returned to the United States Tuesday.

Mrs. Margaret Cardosi, the mother of Peggy Burget, 50, said the bodies of her daughter and her son-in-law, Gail, 51, would be flown to Texas Tuesday. She said they would then be shipped to Columbus by the family.

Burget, part owner of Rainbow Dry Cleaners, and his wife were among 21 American tourists killed Saturday when a chartered airplane crashed in flames near the Mayan ruins of Tikal.

Mrs. Cardosi said the couple was vacationing and had planned to return to Columbus in mid-January.

They had no children.

The twin-engine aircraft had just lifted off from Tikal airport to return to Guatemala City, when it crashed 100 yards from the unpaved runway and burst into flames.

1975 gold rush slated for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1975 gold rush begins Tuesday in Ohio as across the nation.

For the first time in more than 40 years, Ohioans will be able to legally buy that precious metal, gold.

But Ohio bankers, coin dealers and brokers refuse to predict the amount of sales or speculate on what will be the effect of the gold sales.

Only 16 per cent of 257 banks in the state surveyed by The Ohio Banker have plans to sell gold tomorrow. Most of the others are taking a wait-and-see attitude.

The City National Bank and Trust Co. in Columbus made a corporate decision not to sell gold, according to John A. Russell, vice president and director of marketing.

"As a banking institution, we do not want to be put into the position of sticking small people with shakey investments," he said.

Russell said the high cost of gold, fluctuations in price, significant service charges, storage cost and state sales tax made the commodity a bad risk for the average citizen and typical banking customer.

"We really don't have any idea of what to expect," said Howard Schwarz, account executive at Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. in Columbus.

Schwarz said account executives at the brokerage house held a "broad spectrum of opinion" from extremely active gold sales the first day to no interest at all.

"My personal feeling is that the market will be a novelty type of market," Schwarz said.

Don Devore, owner of Devore's Buckeye Coin Shop, said he expects lines outside his shop on Tuesday. "We've already got orders," he said, explaining that customers had put in advance requests for hundreds of ounces.

Devore predicted a "lot of profit-taking" and secondguessing by sellers and buyers of gold. But, he said, "a lot of people are just waiting to see what will happen."

Devore said gold coins were a safer buy, as coins are more easily liquified, or turned back into cash.

"It's the same old story," he said, "you don't buy diamonds in the local bar." Devore said buyers and sellers alike would have to be careful that gold purchased was properly assayed and authenticated for purity, weight and worth.

Jack Benny funeral held in California

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Entertainment notables representing eras from vaudeville to television said farewell to Jack Benny, the humorist whom pal Bob Hope called "a national treasure."

Sunday's turnout was one of the largest and most emotional in recent years for a funeral of a show business personality. Hope's usual composure broke as he delivered a tribute, interspersed with references to old Benny punch lines.

Referring to Benny's standing joke about his alleged penny-pinching nature, Hope said "he was stingy to the end; he gave us only 80 years and that wasn't enough."

Good friend George Burns, 78, also selected to give a eulogy, told the 350 persons in Hillside Memorial Park Chapel in Culver City: "I don't know whether I'll be able to do this, but I told Mary I'd try."

Benny's widow, Mary Livingstone, attended the traditional Jewish funeral but remained in the family room at the side of the chapel. Benny's adopted daughter, Joan, and three granddaughters were with her.

The whole gang from Benny's old television and radio show was on hand: band leader Phil Harris, singer Dennis Day, announcer Don Wilson, violin teacher-train conductor Mel Blanc, valet Eddie "Rochester" Anderson.

Benny, who died of cancer of the pancreas late Thursday night, was compared by Hope to such performers as Al Jolson, Humphrey Bogart, Clark Gable, Will Rogers and Maurice Chevalier. "He had a rare magic, like Picasso and Gershwin."

Ditch improvement contract awarded

A contract for the Grassy Branch ditch improvement project has been let and preparations are now being made for the annual appropriations budget, according to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday.

The joint boards of Greene and Fayette County Commissioners have awarded a contract to the William Stewart Construction Co., Spring Valley, for $69,972.55 in the project.

According to the agreement between the two boards one-third of the cost of the project will be provided by Fayette County funds with the remaining two-thirds being supplied by the Greene County officials.

The Fayette County commissioners have planned to provide their $25,000 of the expense by transferring the needed funds from the general revenue fund with the stipulation that the revenue fund will be reimbursed before the end of 1975. Chairman J. Herbert Perrill said the costs would be assessed to the land owners benefitting from the improvement project with the completion of the ditch.

The commissioners reported that work on the annual appropriations budget would begin January 2 and 3.

Also considered by the commissioners Monday were the current problem of stray dogs in the county and the increasing shortage of natural gas.

Perrill said dog tags are now on sale and may be purchased without additional cost until Jan. 20 at locations set aside by county auditor Mary Morris. Individual dog license fees are $4 and $20 for kennels.

Perrill stressed that all dogs in the county over three months of age are required to have a license by law. He added that no dog may be allowed to run loose (except those engaged in hunting and accompanying their owners), without being in violation of state laws.

Perrill said the county dog warden is responsible to uphold those laws and any stray dog will be liable for incarceration. He also added that owners of any loose dogs responsible for damages to animals or property would be liable for those damages.

Perrill also noted in Monday business, the county commissioners were aware of the present situation with the natural gas shortage and said the commissioners planned to study the possibility of obtaining a reserve supply of propane gas for usage.

Aston Martin Company goes into liquidation

LONDON (AP) — The Aston Martin company, manufacturers of prestige sports cars including one used in a James Bond movie, has become the latest victim of the hard times afflicting the world's automobile makers.

The company announced Sunday it is ceasing production today and going into voluntary liquidation because it couldn't raise enough cash to stay in business. Five hundred workers at the company's plant in Buckinghamshire will lose their jobs.

Chairman William Wilson told newsmen the company needed $2.3 million, had orders worth twice that but could only raise $920,000. He said the Labor government rejected a request at the beginning of the year for a loan of $1.6 million.

"It seems a tragedy that companies of this kind should be lost for the sake of a few hundred thousand pounds," said Wilson.

He said he is asking for a receiver to be appointed as soon as possible to wind up the company, founded more than 60 years ago.

Aston Martins cost from about $25,650 for a V-8 to about $32,000 for a Lagonda five-seater in the United States. Prince Charles, the heir to the British throne, is among the owners. But the cars have a high gasoline consumption, and in recent months orders have reportedly dropped off.

The company was started in 1913, named after its founder, Lionel Martin, and the Aston Clinton hill climb on which his cars scored major successes.

Auto companies throughout the world are suffering severe financial problems. In the United States, more than 200,000 auto workers have been lid off this month due to a prolonged sales slump.

The American industry reported sales for November were 35 per cent below those in November 1973. Analysts say the slump is the worst since the 1958 recession.

In France, the government is lending more than $200 million to the Citroen company so that it can pay its debts and merge with the Peugeot firm.

West Germany's Volkswagen reported its first loss since World War II in 1974.

Milk marketing opinions sought

CHICAGO (AP)—The U.S. Agriculture Department has extended until Jan. 2 the time for commenting on proposed amendments to the Ohio Valley federal milk marketing order, the department has announced.

Ford signs park bill

VAIL, Colo. (AP)—President Ford signed bills Saturday authorizing $2.9 billion for new military and defense construction and establishing the Cuyahoga Valley National Recreation Area in Ohio.

The military appropriation bill for fiscal 1975 includes a section authorizing the secretary of defense to aid communities located near the Trident support site in Bangor, Wash., for increased municipal services resulting from the impact of placing the Trident facilities in the area.

And, it designates the Observatory Hill home of the chief of naval operations in Washington as the temporary official residence of the vice president.

With some reservations, Ford signed the Cuyahoga Valley bill that paves the way for preservation of thousands of acres of unspoiled land.

Ford expressed misgivings about a provision for federal reimbursement to local agencies for police and fire services.

As we close the book on a good year, we look forward to one even better, shared with our friends.

Inflation hits Perk party

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Inflation is striking extra close to Mayor Ralph Perk this year.

The need to pay off $50,000 in U.S. Senate campaign debts has forced up the price of tickets to his 61st birthday party next month, a spokesman for the mayor said.

Perk lost to John Glenn in November.

Tickets this year are $75 for a cocktail party and dinner and $25 for dinner alone. Tickets cost $10 last year.

The party is scheduled to be held in a Cleveland hotel Jan. 17. The mayor's birthday actually is Jan. 19.

The affair is being sponsored by the People for Perk For Senate Campaign Committee, which chairman Nicholas Bucur said has a debt of more than $50,000.

A spokesman for the campaign committee said if all 250 tickets were sold at $75 each and all 500 at $25 each, the committee would earn about $18,000.

Petunia the albino skunk said 'a doll'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Imagine being a skunk and an albino to boot! Sounds fairly awful.

But, Pentunia, who is both, can't say, but she obviously enjoys her favorite pet status at the shelter of the Hamilton County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA).

"She's a doll," said the SPCA's Dorothy Vail. "She's a pet."

Petunia recently joined the SPCA's traveling menagerie, a troupe of pets starred in a human education program. The program's aim is to further humane attitudes toward and treatment of pets among young school children.

The troupe has visited 5,719 pupils in 23 elementary and primary schools in Hamilton County since its founding in September.

The SPCA also holds programs at its shelter which include films, slides and a speaker.

Puppies and kittens make up most of the touring group, but Petunia has an important role to play. She illustrates several of the many reasons wild animals should not normally be kept from their natural environment.

Her former owners didn't set Petunia free for two reasons— she had been descented and with her white body had no defenses against other animals, including man.

"She likes to snuggle when you pick her up," said Mrs. Vail.

. . . COURTESY OF HUNTINGTON BANK

Now – each depositor insured to $40,000

Pursuant to a recent Act of Congress which was signed by President Ford on October 28, 1974, the general limit on federal deposit insurance has been raised from $20,000 to $40,000 for each depositor in banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a U.S. Government agency.

Q. When is this increase effective?
A. It is effective Wednesday, November 27, 1974, at all FDIC-insured banks.

Q. How can I tell whether my deposit is insured by FDIC?
A. Each of the 14,500 FDIC-insured banks in the United States has an official sign at each teller's window using the FDIC logo that appears at the bottom of this ad.

Q. Can I get more than $40,000 insurance at the same bank?
A. Yes, if you hold accounts in different legal ownership capacities. For example, if you are married, you can have an account in your name insured up to $40,000; your spouse can have an account in his or her name insured up to $40,000; and you and your spouse can have a joint account insured up to $40,000. If you hold several accounts in the same ownership capacity, however, the maximum insurance to which you are entitled is $40,000—even if the total amount in all of the accounts is more. The new law has not changed the rules—only the dollar amount of insurance has been changed.

Q. How frequently do FDIC-insured banks fail?
A. In the past ten years, five or six FDIC-insured banks on the average have failed each year—about four-one hundredths of one percent of all insured banks in the country. The year 1974 will probably be no different in this respect than past years.

Q. What is the record of depositor protection for insured banks that have failed?
A. To date, in all failed banks insured by FDIC, over 99 percent of all deposits, insured and uninsured combined, have been paid or made available to their owners.

Q. If an FDIC-insured bank fails, when and how will I get my deposit back?
A. If an FDIC-insured bank is closed and liquidated, FDIC will start to pay insured depositors up to the statutory limit within ten days after the closing. As the bank's assets are liquidated, owners of claims in excess of the $40,000 insurance limit will share in the proceeds with other general creditors. In cases where the deposit liabilities of a failed bank are taken over by another sound bank with financial assistance from the FDIC, depositors have the use of all their funds to the same extent they had in the failed bank before it closed.

Q. How good is FDIC insurance?
A. Since its creation in 1933, the FDIC has never failed to honor its deposit insurance commitment.

The federal deposit insurance fund, which has been built up from insurance premiums paid by FDIC-insured banks and the investment income on such premiums, now stands at more than $6 billion, and is increasing each year by about $400 million. In addition, the FDIC, by law, can borrow from the United States Treasury an additional $3 billion if it finds this necessary for deposit insurance purposes. The FDIC has never found it necessary to borrow any money from the Treasury, however. In fact, although the deposit insurance fund has never been much larger than 1% of all insured deposits in the country, the FDIC has never had to use more than a small amount of the fund at any one time, even when very large banks have failed.

Q. How large have the insurance losses of FDIC been over the years?
A. Putting to one side for the moment the nation's two largest bank failures (United States National Bank, San Diego, in 1973 and Franklin National Bank, New York, last month) the FDIC's net loss in 506 bank failures since 1933 has been approximately $75 million.

Q. Most of those must have been very small banks. What about the $1 billion United States National Bank and the $3.6 billion Franklin National Bank?
A. The FDIC laid out about $370 million in connection with the failure of United States National Bank, but it expects to recover a substantial portion of this amount as the receivership of that bank progresses. In the case of Franklin National Bank, the FDIC's only outlay so far has been $100 million for a capital note of European-American Bank & Trust Company and a small amount for initial liquidation expenses (since repaid). Further outlays are possible, but the FDIC's net loss, if any, will probably be very small. No depositor, of course, lost a nickel in either failure.

Q. I thought the FDIC agreed to pay $1.7 billion to the Federal Reserve System to retire the liquidity loan Franklin needed before it closed.
A. It did, but it has the right to collect assets carried on Franklin's books at more than $2 billion in order to pay off this loan.

Q. How can I obtain additional information and facts about FDIC and federal deposit insurance?
A. Information may be obtained by writing to the Public Information Office, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D.C. 20429.

Falcons take 13 point win

Panthers bow in humdrum game

BY LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

COLUMBUS — Basketball appeared to have been set back a few years when Miami Trace visited Franklin Heights, Saturday evening. With the Golden Falcons' gymnasium approximately half-filled, those few people on hand yawned away as the Falcons handed the Panthers a 78-65 setback.

It was one of those games where one wishes that it was over just as soon as it began. However, it was not that easy as 46 fouls and 48 turnovers seemed to keep the game going on into eternity. A visit to the city morgue may have proved to be the only thing less exciting that evening.

The amount of fouls were evenly dispersed with each squad collecting 23. However, Miami Trace bumbled away 32 turnovers, while the host team lost the ball 16 times.

If anything, Franklin Heights kept itself from blowing the game wide open. Although the Falcons dropped in 32 of 61 shots from the floor for a 52 per cent accuracy, many of their 29 missed shots were from close range. The Falcons found huge gaps in the Panthers' defense many times, but they were only to find their shots rolling off the side of the rim.

"All this game boiled down to was whether or not we would be able to contain their top scorer - Larry Ferst," pointed out Panther coach Dale Creamer. "We did not contain him and he killed us by dropping in 25 points."

Ferst was a nuisance to the Panthers' throughout the night. Each time Miami Trace tried to make a run at the Falcons, Ferst was usually the one who came up with the big play. Several times, Ferst was in position for a key offensive rebound and turned a missed shot into a basket for Franklin Heights.

"As poorly as we played, we were never really out of the game," Creamer indicated. "However, we only had a couple of players who came to play basketball tonight."

After several minutes of scrappy play, the Falcons finally took a 14-11 lead in the first period. From that point on, Franklin Heights just cruised along, gradually adding to its cushion. The Falcons held a 10 points lead at halftime and stretched it to 15 points in the third period before the Panthers out-scored them 26-24 in the last stanza.

Only the play of centers John Schlichter and Randy Rhonemus kept the game from being a complete lackluster performance by the Panthers. It was mainly through their play that Miami Trace managed to can 24 of 58 attempts from the field for a mediocre 41 per cent.

Failing to receive enough offensive punch from Rhonemus in the past games, Schlichter received the starting nod at center for the first time this season. The 6-foot-3 junior may become a standard fixture in the Panthers' starting lineup as he responded with 18 points and 12 rebounds.

Schlichter's performance on offense was especially pleasing. Since forward Allan Conner has been sidelined with a sprained ankle, the Panthers have been lacking someone to lead the Panthers' offense and hit the offensive backboards. Schlichter's 18 point outburst is only surpassed by Conner's 22 point effort in the opening game of the season.

Held out of the starting lineup, Rhonemus seemed to be inspired by Schlichter's performance. Entering the game in the second period, Rhonemus turned in his best effort of his career. For the first time this season, he used his 6-foot-6 frame to his advantage as he tallied 14 points and picked off eight rebounds. Rhonemus was not afraid to shoot and he came up with six offensive rebounds, which nearly matches his total for the six previous games this season.

Sophomore Dan Gifford was the only other player to hit double figures for Miami Trace. Gifford scored 15 points and matched Rhonemus with eight rebounds. Of his 15 points, Gifford responded with nine points in the final four minutes of the last period.

Also hitting double figures for the Falcons were Ron Lathem and Cameron Harmon. Lathem produced 14 points and Harmon fired home 11 markers.

Miami Trace held a 40-33 rebounding edge in the game. Ferst was the top rebounder for both squads as he came up with 14 caroms.

There was a total of 52 free throws attempted in the contest. The Panthers sank 17 of 28, while the Falcons netted 14 of 24.

With the victory, Franklin Heights is now 5-3 for the season. Miami Trace's record falls to 3-4, the first time the Panthers have been below the .500 mark this year.

With the play of Schlichter and Rhonemus, coach Creamer will be giving a lot of consideration to starting both players in Friday night's contest at Washington Court House. Although the Panthers' attack was slowed down considerably with both players in the lineup at the same time, Miami Trace is in need of their offensive strength. The most points produced by any of the guards was four points Saturday evening.

"We are just going to prepare for these games as if Conner will not be ready," Creamer added as he looked ahead to Friday's game with the Lions and Saturday's contest against London. "All I know is that I am going to put five players, who show me they want to play, on the court next Friday.

MT reserves fail to hold 11 point lead

Taking a 15-4 lead in the first quarter, Miami Trace's reserve team appeared to be well on its way to its third consecutive victory, Saturday night. However, Franklin Heights rallied from its first stanza performance to record a 41-37 victory and burst the Panthers' bubble.

With Dave Huston dropping in 13 points and Mike Saxton coming up with 12, the Falcons were able to surpass the Panthers. The host team out-scored Miami Trace in each of the remaining periods to notch the victory.

Joe Black and Terry Rodgers each hit double figures for the Panthers. Black tossed in 13 points and Rodgers came through with 10.

With the loss, the Panthers are now 3-4 for the season. The 41 points yielded by the Panthers' defense was the fewest amount of points produced by the Falcons this season.

Pacific 8 teams growing strong

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Except for UCLA, the Pacific-8 has been known as the "Pacifist-8" for a long time in college basketball.

No more.

UCLA continues to bully teams as usual, but now Southern Cal and Oregon have emerged as fighters to challenge for supremacy in the Far West and perhaps the country.

All three undefeated Pac-8 powers demand attention while building their combined records to 23-0 against outside teams, including these successes Saturday night:

—UCLA, the country's No. 3 team, won the Maryland Invitational Tournament at College Park with an 81-75 triumph over Maryland's fifth-ranked Terrapins.

—Southern Cal, No. 6, bombed 20th-ranked Rutgers 81-66 to advance to Monday night's finals of the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York.

—Oregon, ranked No. 19, plowed toward the championship of the Far West Classic in Portland by trimming Arizona State 80-76.

The Bruins, getting most of the headlines through the past decade, could be getting some of the headaches this year from their powerful Pac-8 colleagues.

Even with UCLA's domination out West, the Trojans' basketball program has improved steadily under Southern Cal Coach Bob Boyd's guidance and this is probably his best team. Oregon, with the likes of Ron Lee, considered the best guard in the conference, gives the Pac-8 the most balance it's had since UCLA started winning national championships in the 1960s.

North Carolina State, the team that finally ended the Bruins' fabulous dynasty in last year's NCAA playoffs, continued to look as good as ever this year with an 86-70 triumph over Pitt.

Elsewhere, among the ranked teams, No. 2 Indiana whipped Ohio State 102-71 in the semifinals of the Rainbow Classic in Honolulu; No. 8 North Carolina edged Utah 94-91; No. 9 Penn beat Florida State 100-88 in a Rainbow Classic consolation game and 10th-ranked Arizona stopped Columbia 94-73 in the consolation game of the Old Dominion Classic in Norfolk, Va.

St. John's, N.Y., upset No. 11 South Carolina 78-77 in overtime in the semifinals of the Ocean State Tourney in Providence, R. I. Providence, No. 12, moved into the finals with an 83-73 victory over Drake. Notre Dame, No. 13, lost to No. 17 Kentucky 113-96; 14th-ranked Marquette won its seventh straight Milwaukee Classic with a 73-55 success over Virginia and No. 18 Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State in a Big Eight Tourney consolation game.

Southern Cal didn't look like the nation's sixth-ranked team until the second half Saturday night.

Losing by seven points at the half, they raced back behind Gus Williams and simply ran away from the worn-out Scarlet Knights. With Williams scoring 16 of his team-high 24 points, stealing and setting up a fistful of fast-break baskets, the Trojans made up the halftime deficit in short order and finally flashed in front for good, at 59-56, with less than eight minutes left.

Lee led Oregon with 23 points and made a game-saving play at the end to preserve the victory over Arizona State. The Ducks led 78-76 as one of their inbound passes headed out of bounds. But Lee leaped from 10 feet away, flew through the air with the greatest of ease and tipped the ball to teammate Bruce Coldren. Coldren was fouled and made two shots to lock up the game.

Marques Johnson scored seven of his 13 points in the final three minutes, rallying UCLA past Maryland. Dave Meyers murdered Maryland with 32 points.

David Thompson and Phil Spence each scored 20 points to lead North Carolina State over Pitt for the Wolfpack's eighth straight victory this year.

Indiana rolled to its 10th straight victory behind Scott May's 24 points and earned a berth in Monday night's Rainbow Classic finals with Hawaii, a 75-65 winner over Villanova.

Mitch Kupchak scored 30 points and picked up 11 rebounds as North Carolina beat Utah despite a monster, 44-point performance by Ticky Burden.

Ron Haigler's 33 points led Pennsylvania over Florida. Arizona, leading by only one point with seven minutes to play, shook loose from Columbia behind Al Fleming and Bob Elliott.

Mel Utley's 20 points led St. John's shocker of South Carolina.

Joe Hassett's 22 points led Providence past Drake. In achieving their seventh straight victory, the Friars raced to a 60 lead on Hassett's three long shots and held a comfortable 46-31 advantage at the half.

Kentucky beat Notre Dame behind Kevin Grevey's 28 points in a game that was tied inummerable times and featured plenty of rough board play.

With freshman Butch Lee scoring 17 points, Marquette pulled away in the second half to beat Virginia and win its Milwaukee Classic for the seventh straight year.

Alvan Adams scored 38 points to power Oklahoma past Oklahoma State.

Iowa State beat Kansas State 82-64 and Kansas nipped Nebraska 63-62 to gain tonight's finals of the Big Eight tourney.

In the finals of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City Sunday night, Centenary defeated Oklahoma City 91-80. Alabama, the nation's No. 7 team, defeated Houston 105-88 Sunday night in the first round of the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans. The Crimson Tide will play for the title tonight against LaSalle, a 69-64 winner over Furman. Virginia Commonwealth beat St. Peter's 86-68 and Texas A&M stopped Fairfield 62-57 to advance to the finals of the VCU Classic.

Cavaliers victors, but Austin Carr lost

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch is hoping the Cavaliers can adjust to the loss of their star shooter and playmaker Austin Carr.

The loss of their leading scorer, possibly for the rest of the season, was announced prior to the Cavaliers defeating the Atlanta Hawks 110-103 in a National Basketball Association game Sunday.

"It was a big victory for us," said Fitch, who said that Carr's injured knee was to be operated on this morning. "This could be a very long season if we don't adjust to playing without him."

Gator Bowl heads final college games

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Texas and Auburn, a couple of teams who disdain the forward pass in favor of basic, old-fashioned, grind-it-out ground games, kick off the final wave of college football bowl games tonight when they square off in the Gator Bowl.

The meeting between the sixth-ranked Auburn Tigers and the 11th-ranked Texas Longhorns will be nationally televised by ABC with game time at 9 p.m., EST. A crowd of about 62,000, somewhat short of the 70,000 capacity, is expected at Jacksonville, Fla.

On Tuesday night Nebraska and Florida will meet in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. Then, on New Year's Day, Penn State plays Baylor in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Southern California takes on Ohio State in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., with Notre Dame opposing Alabama in the Orange Bowl in Miami that night.

In Saturday's bowl action, Mississippi State nipped North Carolina 26-24 in the Sun Bowl, Vanderbilt and Texas Tech battled to a 6-6 tie in the Peach Bowl and Oklahoma State beat Brigham Young 16-6 in the Fiesta Bowl. In the Shrine All-Star Game, the East defeated the West 16-14.

Texas compiled an 8-3 record on an attack built around the running of freshman Earl Campbell, senior Roosevelt Leaks and Akins. Campbell paced the Longhorns with 928 yards rushing, a 5.7 average per carry.

Auburn fullback Secdrick McIntyre gained 863 yards on the ground, helping the Tigers to a 9-2 record. Rick Neel and Mitzi Jackson share the other backfield spot.

The Sugar Bowl matches Nebraska, 8-3, a team which depends on the passing of Dave Humm, against ground-oriented Florida, also 8-3.

Two of the premier runners in the country will be on display in the Rose Bowl, Southern Cal's Anthony Davis and Ohio State's Archie Griffin. Griffin won the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding player; Davis was the runnerup.

The Orange Bowl pits unbeaten Alabama, 11-0 and ranked No. 2, against Notre Dame, 9-2, which will be out to win its final game under outgoing Coach Ara Parseghian.

Alabama hopes that a big victory will give it the national crown.

"If we beat Notre Dame, I think we'll be No. 1 because there ain't gonna be nobody else 12-0," says Alabama Coach Bear Bryant.

Top-rated Oklahoma is 11-0 but won't have a chance to add to that because it is on National Collegiate Athletic Association probation and ineligible for bowl play.

The final Associated Press poll for the 1974 football season will be taken after the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Mississippi State rushed for 455 yards in the Sun Bowl, Walter Packer gaining 183 and Terry Vitrano 164, while North Carolina piled up 402 yards rushing in the losing effort.

After the Peach Bowl ended in a tie, Coaches Steve Sloan of Vanderbilt and Jim Carlen of Texas Tech called for an overtime period for bowl action. "It seems there should be a system to play off in bowl games," said Sloan. And Carlen added, "A tie bothers you."

Brigham Young failed to mount much of an offense after losing star quarterback Gary Sheide with a shoulder separation in the first quarter. Oklahoma State went ahead for good on a 12-yard run by Kenny Walker after an interception by Tony Buck of a pass by Sheide's backup man, Mark Giles.

A blocked punt and three interceptions against All-American quarterback Steve Bartkowski helped the East nip the West in the Shrine Game.

Layoff worries Hayes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Woody Hayes, a devotee of conservative, error-proof football, is a worried man on the eve of his Ohio State team's Rose Bowl encounter with Southern California.

"We've been off nearly five weeks. We could be mistake prone," Hayes told a horde of newsmen Sunday night at the team's hotel headquarters.

Even so, the Ohio State coach of 24 seasons will not abandon his close-to-the-vest style that has produced 202 career victories at Denison, Miami of Ohio and OSU.

"The fancy teams finish ninth and tenth in the conference," he asserted. "We'll let them do the bouncing around with the football. This isn't basketball, you know."

The Buckeyes committed only 14 major errors—10 lost fumbles and four interceptions—in whipping 10 of 11 regular season opponents to share the Big Ten crown with Michigan.

Southern California, the Pac-8 titleholder and 9-1-1 for all games, was guilty of nearly twice as many turnovers. The Trojans lost the ball 16 times on fumbles, 10 on interceptions.

Then does Hayes think turnovers will decide the New Year's Day duel before more than 100,000 in the Rose Bowl, and millions more watching on national television (NBC)?

"Mistakes can pretty well decide every game," he replied.

"Take that game today," Hayes continued, talking about Minnesota's 14-10 pro playoff victory over Los Angeles. "At first, no one wanted to accept the football."

Steelers seek first NFL title

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers are heading toward territory in which they've never trod before.

Oh, they've been in New Orleans before. In fact, they've won all three games they've played there. But never in their 42-year history have they played in a National Football League championship.

But on Jan. 12 in New Orleans, one of Art Rooney's dreams comes true. His Steelers will be playing for all the marbles.

The other dream. of course, is to win them. To do that, the Steelers will have to beat the Minnesota Vikings. But for now, beating Oakland is satisfaction enough for one of pro football's grand old men.

"I feel like a big shot," the subdued, twinkly-eyes 73-year-old president of the Steelers said as he puffed on a cigar, savoring both it and the 24-13 victory over the Raiders in Sunday's American Conference championship.

And how would it have felt to accompany his players on the plane back to Pittsburgh had they lost? "It would have been like taking the body of a loved one back home," he said.

But his loved ones—like a doting, patient parent, Rooney suffered through 39 years of failure with them before they ever played their first playoff game — are very much alive and kicking.

In fact, they kicked Oakland's rushing game in the teeth, kicked apart Ken Stabler's dreams of a second straight miracle comeback and kicked the Raiders out of the playoff game they were favored to win.

If there really is a mystical force called destiny, Rooney will get his championship in two weeks. His Steelers already believe in it.

"It was meant to be. We were meant to win this thing," quarterback Terry Bradshaw said after his cool, precise signal calling and passing carried Pittsburgh to the summit of Super Bowl IX. "We knew we were going to win this game ... we came here with the confidence to win."

Bradshaw threw the ball only 17 times — and he didn't even have to do that. Not with Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier behind him, waiting to take the ball and run it down the Raiders' throats.

Harris bulldozed his way through the astoundingly malleable Oakland line 29 times for 111 yards and two touchdowns. And when the Raiders managed to stop him — which was rare — Bleier was right there, adding 98 yards on 18 carries.

Even Bradshaw got into the ground game, rushing three times for 15 yards. And astonishingly, his total was more than half the total yardage gained by entire Oakland running corps.

Twenty-one times the Raiders punched into Pittsburgh's front line of defense. The result was a meager 29 yards, a new low for an AFC title game.

"They gave us nothing on the ground," Oakland Coach John Madden understated. "Our passing was sufficient but we just couldn't get the run going. I can't remember when our ground game was shut down that effectively ... to win, you've got to have a mixture on offense. We were able to call the mixture, but we couldn't make it go."

Minnesota trims Los Angeles, 14-10

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — In a strange, error-filled battle, the opportunistic Minnesota Vikings have rolled to their second straight National Football Conference championship and another Super Bowl appearance with a 14-10 victory over Los Angeles.

"We just made too many mistakes in opportune situations," said Rams' quarterback James Harris, who completed 13 of 23 pass attempts for 248 yards. "They played better than we did and beat us."

Minnesota, which has gained a reputation of turning opponent mistakes into championships, lost the ball four times Sunday on turnovers. However, the Rams were plagued by five turnovers and numerous tactical blunders — particularly seven penalties including an offside infraction which occurred at the Vikings' one.

Minnesota took a 7-0 lead in the second period when Jim Lash, a second-year wide receiver from Northwestern, hauled in a 29-yard scoring pass from Fran Tarkenton a step ahead of LA right cornerback Al Clark.

The Rams countered with David Ray's 27-yard field goal to cut the deficit to 7-3 by halftime.

Then, in the third quarter, a series of unlikely developments unfolded.

The Vikings' Mike Eischeid punted the ball out of bounds at the LA one. The Rams, sparked by a 73-yard pass play from Harris to wide receiver Harold Jackson on a broken play, moved to the Minnesota one.

Jackson had dashed 50 yards after taking a desperation pass from Harris near midfield, and was knocked out of bounds inside the two by Viking defensive back Jeff Wright.

After the five-yard penalty set LA back to the six, Harris scrambled for four yards, but on the next play he was intercepted by Wally Hilgenberg in the end zone. Harris' pass, intended for tight end Pat Curran, was deflected by Viking defensive back Jackie Wallace.

Minnesota quickly drove 80 yards with veteran running back Dave Osborn hurdling the final yard to push the Vikings into a 14-3 advantage early in the fourth quarter.

Harris got the Rams back into the game three minutes later when he combined with Jackson on a scoring pass covering 44 yards to chop the Minnesota lead to 14-10.

However, many of the players expected to be central figures in the outcome of NFC title match had trouble throughout the game played in bright sunshine and a 31 degree temperature.

The Rams' Lawrence McCutcheon was limited to 32 yards in a dozen carries. Minnesota's Chuck Foreman managed 80 yards in 22 carries, but fumbled four times. Tarkenton also was obviously not operating in top form, overthrowing his receivers several times and being intercepted on another poor throw.

"The Rams defense is the toughest I've ever played against," said Tarkenton. "They did a lot of things which took away a good part of our offense."

And the Rams did a lot of things to take away from their own offense.

"If you can't smile now you never will," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant.

Defense leads Bucks to 115-89 win

By ALEX SACHARE
ap sports Writer

When Larry Costello talks to his Milwaukee Bucks about defense, he gets instant results.

Milwaukee held a 63-59 halftime lead over the New York Knicks Sunday night, but Costello wasn't happy with his team's defensive play, and he told the Bucks so during the intermission.

They responded by limiting New York to just six points in the third period, the lowest scoring quarter by any team in the National Basketball Association this season. The Bucks outscored New York 19-6 in the quarter, opened an 82-65 lead and coasted to a 115-89 triumph.

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday night, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Atlanta Hawks 110-103, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings edged the Portland Trail Blazers 103-99 and the Boston Celtics whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 121-101.

In the American Basketball Association, the Kentucky Colonels topped the Momphis Sounds 125-114, the Denver Nuggets nipped the San Antonio Spurs 124-121 and the San Diego Conquistadors beat the Spirits of St. Louis 126-114.

One of the year's most significant events in photography took place with the opening of the International Center of Photography in New York in mid-November with three concurrent exhibitions.

About 1,500 well-wishers attended the ICP debut not only to see three major displays by outstanding photographers, but with a sense of the drama and significance at the birth of a photographic institution.

For the International Center of Photography, under director Cornell Capa, is more than a museum devoted only to photography. It has the spirit of a sanctuary or shrine dedicated to the preservation of meaningful photography of the past; it has the stature and ability to select and present notable achievements of today; and it has the soul and vitality to inform and inspire not only the public but photographers of the future.

One of the exhibitions reached into the past with "Classics of Documentary Photography" with about 100 prints representing work by Lewis W. Hine, Werner Bischof, Robert Capa, David Seymour — "Chim" —, Dan Weiner and Roman Vishniac.

It was Hine, about 60 years ago, who defined the role of a concerned photographer: "There were two things I wanted to do. I wanted to show the things that had to be corrected. And I wanted to show the things that had to be appreciated."

That credo is one of the cornerstones of ICP, ably carried out by these humanist photographers.

A second exhibition, "The Eye of the Beholder," is by 21 masters of color photography. A testament to human vision, the show's 57 large color prints were donated by the photographers to help the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. Among the contributors: David Douglas Duncan, Doug Faulkner, Ernst Haas, Jay Maisel, Takeyoshi Tanuma and Pete Turner.

And then there was Henry Cartier-Bresson, a star of first magnitude, who illuminated the debut with his exhibition, "Apropos U.S.S.R. (1954-1973)." He journeyed to New York to assist in setting up the display of approximately 60 prints selected from the two trips made to the Soviet Union almost two decades apart. They are superbly perceptive pictures of moments in the lives of people we know little about, precisely framed to include useful information about them.

Not many of the opening night guests saw the famous French artist because he didn't stay inside long enough to be recognized. Cartier-Bresson, notoriously shy about having his own picture taken, retreated to the street when he saw the large number of camera-toting photographers present inside.

I chatted with him outside and he recalled having worked with my younger brother, Max Desfor, on an exciting story in India in 1948, the cremation ceremony of Mahatma Gandhi. He told me Max was able to be helpful to him then and, 26 years later, he still remembered and was grateful.

The matter of his reluctance to be photographed arose and Cartier-Bresson explained that his success as a photographer depends on his remaining anonymous, free to move around and shoot inconspicuously. If people recognized him, he would lose the freedom he now enjoys.

A graphic demonstration of his philosophy was taking place at that moment inside the ICP building.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, former photographer herself, dropped by to see the exhibitions and wish Capa well on this great undertaking.

News that she was present sped through the crowds on two floors, the pitch of excitement noticeably rose, and a surge of people closed around her. She became the focal point for the camera-toters present — myself included — though she was difficult to isolate as a subject.

Jackie Onassis didn't avoid the cameras, nor did she consciously pose for them. She was smiling, charming and friendly, stopping to chat with people who introduced themselves. Her warmest greeting was for Cornell Capa as an old friend from White House days.

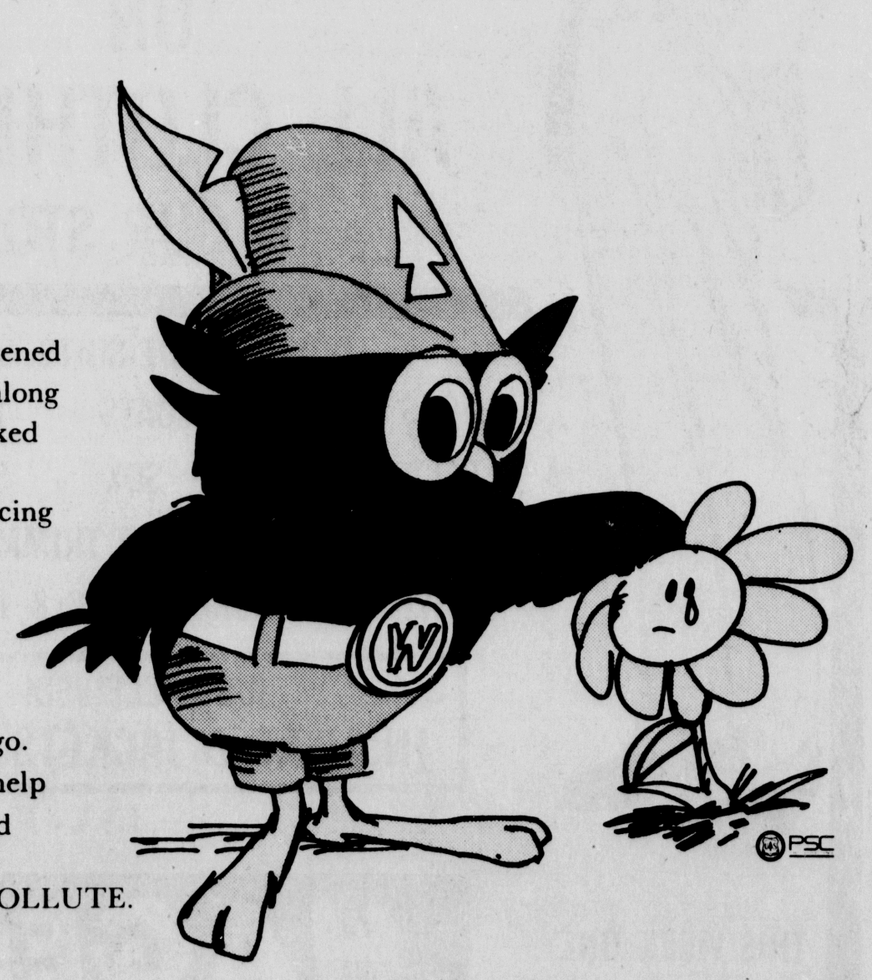
She expressed her feelings about the new International Center of Photography and the exhibition pictures, sentiments later verified on a TV interview.

"The ICP is something we should all be grateful for," she said. "Not only does it preserve a landmark — a gracious, old building — but it gives it new life and vitality. It brings us awareness of other people, other places, other cultures. It's opening something that all young — everyone, for that matter — can be interested in, something artistic and that can be an instrument of change.

"The pictures here have terribly moving moments in people's lives . . . the things that touch people most. Photographers can affect people . . . can make them care what they gave their lives for, like Robert Capa," she added. "Maybe people will see things differently now—you know, care."

It was an exciting, auspicious inauguration of a photographic institution that can become a vital force in the art of photography as a means of communication. In the two weeks following the opening.

The birds, animals & flowers are dying to tell us... "Give a hoot, don't pollute."



Everywhere you look, our environment is being threatened by pollution. Wild flowers along our roadsides are being picked rather than admired.
Smog is killing trees, it's forcing birds to find new homes.
Fish are running out of clean water. Just what's being done about it?
A lot. But we've got a lot more to do, a long way to go.
Let's all do our part. And help keep the birds, animals, and flowers alive.

Candidate for Pernicious Anemia?

Two members of my family have pernicious anemia. I constantly worry that I, too, will get it. Is it possible for me to be tested to see if I'm a candidate for this disease?

Mr. E. R. E., Iowa

Dear Mr. E.:

Even though there seems to be a family tendency to pernicious anemia this should not be a destructive force in your life. The chances are slight that you, too, will develop this blood disorder.

Pernicious anemia can be detected by the many excellent definitive tests of the blood. In the absence of positive evidence, there is no way to predict the disease.

The great strides made in the treatment of pernicious anemia with vitamin B-12 have made it possible for people with "P.A." to live normal, healthy lives.

Our youngest child is poorly coordinated. His health is excellent. We wonder how we should proceed with this problem.

Mrs. G. B., Fla.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Clumsiness and poor coordination, defects in reading and poor concentration may be caused by undetected and unrecognized eye problems.

Dyslexia, an all-inclusive term for many of these problems, can be ruled out with specialized instruments. A neurological examination and a complete physical workup must be done for the early detection of a possible disorder.

In the absence of any physical condition, tutoring can be helpful in sports and games. This must be done on an individual basis rather than in competition with other children.

In this way, embarrassment can be avoided. Children who are made conscious of their clumsiness have a tendency to avoid social contacts.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH...One of the greatest gifts that can be given to a young child is to avoid overindulgence. Their sense of security stems from the reasonable but firm limits that are established for them.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	4♣	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5♣	Pass	6♥
6 NT !	Pass	7♣	Dble

Opening lead—nine of clubs.

This remarkable hand occurred in the 1964 Trials. At seven of the nine tables, East-West bid and made six hearts for 1,430 points. At the eighth table, East-West bid four hearts and made six for 680 points.

But at the ninth table, all hell broke loose and South got to seven clubs doubled, going down eleven—3,200 points!

Harkavy passed as dealer and Erdos opened four clubs, a conventional bid that announced a long heart suit in a relatively weak hand.

After Russell passed, Petterson responded four notrump, and upon learning that Erdos had no aces he jumped to six hearts.

Convinced that the slam would be made, and hoping to uncover a profitable sacrifice in the seven level, Harkavy came forth with six notrump. This highly unusual bid proclaimed length in diamonds and clubs, and asked South to respond in his better minor.

Russell obediently bid seven clubs, which West doubled.

Petterson made the excellent lead of a trump. Declarer finessed the queen, losing to the king, and won the jack of clubs return with the ace. He then led the spade ten which lost to the jack.

West returned the queen of hearts, and had East won it with the king and drawn trumps, the defense would have taken the rest of the tricks. But when East allowed the queen to win and West continued with the ace, declarer was able to ruff and in that way acquire a second trick.

Thanks to the slip in the defense, Russell went down "only" 3,200 points—an extraordinarily high price to pay for stopping a slam.

WAHANKA KA TA

The Wahanka Ka Ta Camp Fire group meeting took place at Wilson school, when Denise Tate brought the meeting to order. Kari Wolfe, vice president, led the Pledge of Allegiance and the group then made Christmas gifts of doorknob decorations. They were made of felt and glitter.

A Christmas party was also enjoyed and a gift exchange. Refreshments were served by Lee Ann Mattson. On Jan. 15, Jo Lynn Bobst will be in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Yarger was assisted by Mrs. Grant Baxter and Mrs. Harold Evans.

HAPPY BLUEBIRDS

All members of the Happy Bluebirds met at Belle-Aire School for a Christmas party and gift exchange. Debbie Forsha gave the roll call and Stephanie Hatmacher collected dues with each girl responding by naming one thing she wanted most for Christmas.

Refreshments of Christmas cookies and punch were served by Mrs. Boswell and Mrs. Wyatt. The girls then exchanged gifts among each other and were presented with gifts from Mrs. Boswell, her assistants and sponsor. Several girls presented the leaders with lovely gifts.

Christmas music was enjoyed by the group during the party and before leaving for home the girls joined in a friendship circle singing carols and wishing everyone a Merry Christmas.

The next meeting will be Jan. 6 with Loretta Self responsible for refreshments.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What do television series stars do during their between-season vacations? In the case of Michael Douglas, he's producing a $3-million movie.

The talented son of Kirk Douglas finished his third season of "The Streets of San Francisco" this month. In January he starts producing "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" starring Jack Nicholson and directed by Milos Forman. The film will be made almost entirely at the Oregon State Mental Hospital at Salem.

Young Douglas, 30, is an example of a modern maverick working inside the Establishment. It seemed inevitable that he would go into acting — his mother, Diana Dill, is an actress, and his father is one of the screen's most durable stars.

"One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" has a long history, dating back to 1963, when Kirk Douglas starred in the Broadway play. It had a one-month run, but was not a success.

"People came out of the play loving it," said Michael, "but they told their friends, 'It's okay — if you like laughing at crazy people.' Attitudes toward mental illness were different then."

Kirk Douglas bought the movie rights and twice neared production, but the deals fell through. Law suits over ownership of the property further stalled the film version, and Douglas decided three years ago to dispose of the play.

"Let me take it over," his son urged. "I can at least get back what you put into it."

Characteristically, Michael Douglas declined to take "Cuckoo's Nest" to major companies, seeking instead to make the film with complete independence. He finally found a backer: Sol Zaentz, operator of the Berkeley-based Fantasy Records, home of the Credence Clearwater Revival and other rock stars.

The movie, as well as other factors, appears to have interrupted plans for Douglas to marry actress Brenda Vaccaro, with whom he has lived for five years. "With all the work I've had preparing the picture, plus problems with the families, it got to be too much of a hassle," said Douglas.

Toronto and Montreal were the first cities in Canada to use horse-drawn cars for public transport.

Stolen truck demolished; driver, passengers hurt

A truck stolen from Robert E. Wolfe, 503 S. North St., was demolished in an accident which injured its driver and two passengers at 3 a.m. Sunday, Washington C. H. police reported.

The incident occurred after Wolfe left three of his friends at a downtown tavern at 2:20 a.m. Sunday, stating he would return shortly.

The three, Alan M. Jordan, 19, of 94 Jamison Road; Alan D. Knisley, 19, Norfolk, Va.; and Edward O. Brill, 19, of Jamison Road, allegedly drove the truck out into the county where Jordan, the driver, lost control and crashed into a fence owned by Karl E. Krieger, of near Jeffersonville, on Jeffersonville-West Lancaster Road. Jordan then drove away with his two passengers.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported the three men were treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital: Jordan for injury to his right shoulder; Knisley for pain to the lower back area and right knee and abrasions; and Brill for pain in the left arm and hand.

Sheriff's deputies charged Jordan with leaving the scene of an accident.

Two hit-skip mishaps probed

A hit-skip mishap and two minor traffic accidents were reported by Washington C.H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department also reported a hit-skip incident which they are presently investigating.

An auto belonging to Eugene Ladrach was struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked in front of his 619 Warren Ave. home, at 6:45 a.m. Sunday, Washington C.H. police reported. An investigation is in progress.

A car driven by Mabel F. Walker, 65, Circleville, struck the rear of a car driven by George W. Moon, 30, Greenfield, at 3:53 p.m. Saturday, when the Moon auto slowed at the intersection of E. Court and Fayette streets for a pedestrian.

Police reported slight damage and no injuries.

A car driven by Jack Milburn, 71, of 604 Belle-Aire Place, backed into a parked car belonging to Julia F. Moore, 726 N. Oak St., at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, while leaving a parking place on E. Court Street, near the N. North Street intersection.

Police estimated damage was minor.

An unidentified driver struck a car belonging to Phillip Grooms, of 2324 Snowhill Rd., sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Sunday, while the Grooms' auto was parked in a private lane off the intersection of Rowe-Ging and Snowhill roads.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the crash knocked the parked car 10 inches.

$8 million in statehouse renovation set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Eight million dollars will be spent in the next two years to make Ohio's Statehouse more historically authentic, while making the structure itself more modern and functional.

Those are the guidelines for the architectural firm which will handle the renovation project, according to Dellas H. Harder, member of the AHKKS Architects Planners, Inc.

The project should be completed by early 1977, some 139 years after Ohio selected the design for the Capitol.

"The Statehouse is probably the most historic building in the state," Harder said. "It is certainly one of the older ones . . . one of the most important and . . . one of the very fine examples of Greek Revival architecture."

When the project is completed the Statehouse should be more historically authentic than it's been for decades.

Harder said he anticipates no change in the building's exterior and little or none in the rotunda, hallways, the "very distinctive" legislative chambers and other "ceremonial spaces."

Our job is to extend its useful life while meeting the requirements for historic accuracy," he explained.

Harder, who will be in charge of the Statehouse project, handles much of the restoration work for the Ohio Historical Society.

Harder said detailed planning must wait until completion of a management study, due in March, but the architect said he sees no reason the present Statehouse interior can't be blended with contemporary practicality and some restoration of original detail.

Mills admits alcoholism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills said today he intends to remain in Congress despite an illness that he described as acute alcoholism.

"I know that I am a well man as long as I do not drink, and, by the grace of God and with competent medical advice and the support of friends, I will remain well," Mills said. He added:

"In light of the above, it is my intention to continue in the Congress of the United States. My years of experience have given me some ability to make a contribution toward the solution of the problems of the times in which we live," the Arkansas Democrat said.

Burglary tops offense reports

A burglary, an incident of property destruction and a larceny were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department today. Washington C.H. police investigated an incident of vandalism and a larceny.

The Hockman Grain Co., of Mount Sterling, was burglarized by thieves who pried the front door open sometime between 12 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday and rifled the candy vending machine for an undetermined amount of money.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

The rear windshield of an auto belonging to James Gooldin, of Columbus, was broken sometime between Dec. 20 and Sunday, while the vehicle was parked at the Walter Gooldin residence in Mount Sterling.

Sheriff's deputies estimated the damage at $125.

Thirteen traps belonging to Bob Hunter, 431 Walnut St., were taken from the small creek off Lewis Road sometime during last week, sheriff's deputies reported.

Hunter's name along with the name of Steve McMurray are on the traps.

A car belonging to William Newland, Greenfield, was vandalized sometime between 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday, while parked in the 200 block of N. Main Street.

Washington C.H. police reported the left front tire was deflated and the rotor taken out of the distributor.

Billfolds belonging to Nancy Glass, of Bloomingburg, and Mary Paradise, 4016 Palmer Rd., were stolen from the women's lockers in the ladies lounge at Kroger's, S. Main Street, sometime between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Washington police reported.

Ms. Glass lost $60 and Ms. Paradise lost $29 and a $100 check, along with credit cards and personal papers belonging to the women.

Police are investigating.

Split rail crash cause

THOMPSONTOWN, Pa (AP)— Penn Central officials say a split rail caused the derailment over the weekend of a 17-car Amtrak passenger liner, resulting in minor injuries to 56 persons.

The Broadway Limited, with 435 passengers on board, was en route from Chicago to New York when the mishap occurred Saturday morning about 40 miles northwest of Harrisburg.

A railroad spokesman said the top of part of the track was split vertically, causing 13 cars to slip off the rail as it was rounding a curve.
